Cub Scout News

Cub Pack 4 Members of Pack 4 will enter the Pear Blossom Parade Saturday and all boys will be notified by their den mothers as to the time and place to assemble.

The uniform inspection was judged by Ralph Matlack, Morey Doty, assisted by Don Bryan, pack commissioner. About 25 boys were present.

The newly formed Webelos den won the awards flag, Akela doll for the parent attendance, and a special ribbon for the most serious.

William C. Rose, cubmaster, announced his resignation, effective the end of April.

The annual Pinewood derby race will be held in the school gymnasium April 25. Weighing of the cars will start at 7 p.m. All boys should have their cars finished this week, if possible, they were told.

The following awards were presented by Wes McKenzie: David Doty, bobcat; Clay Charley, lion badge; Wayne Deyche, lion badge; and Gary Peyton, wolf badge and gold and silver arrow.

Den 4 Den 4 held their meeting at Mrs. John Freeland's house recently. All the Cubs in the den were present. The den is going to start on a song next week, and work on wall plaques made from weeds.

One boy is to report on Cub Scouts each week. This week Kenneth Maurer was chosen. There are eight boys in the den. They are Jimmy Goode, Robert Freeland, Cliff Vincent, Jimmy Maurer, Doug Presley, Randy Ellis, Ray Ellis and Larry Bliss.

Most Try To Escape Rain, Insects Have Best Shelter. Even in the present dry lives of all us, instinct plays a pretty important role. Now that summer is just around the proverbial corner, many of us will visit a beach or a pool.

If you are there when it rains, watch the bathers. Even though they are wet from immersion, they will run pell-mell for shelter or their cars when the rain begins, not because they are afraid of water, but because instinct is still a powerful influence and we instinctively want to avoid being "rained on."

Happy Hopper's The Happy Hoppers 4-H club had a meeting recently at the Carlson home, with President Richard Weide presiding. Barbara Lopez led the flag salute and Darlene Ermoled the 4-H pledge.

We talked about and learned how to make feeders. Later we had a Easter egg hunt. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Carlson.

Rabbiteers The West Side Rabbiteers 4-H club held their regular meeting at the home of Phyllis Caldwell. It was called to order by Ron Smith and the minutes were read by Mary Williamson. Cathy Carlson gave the treasurer's report.

A cake sale will be held Saturday in Central point to raise money for the club. Reports were given by Gary Pinkham on disqualifications and eliminations. Cathy Garrett reported on the record books.

Members also had a judging lesson with Cathy Carlson and Don Pinkham doing the judging.

Grange News Greenhorn Grange Highlighting the meeting of the Greenhorn Grange in Yreka recently were talks by Mr. and Mrs. William Swigart and the showing of colored slides and a map concerning life on a lookout.

The Swigarts have spent two seasons at a lookout in the McCloud district. Mrs. Swigart traced on a large map the location of mountains and other lookout stations in their area in relation to the one in which they live.

Swigart showed slides of the countryside taken from the station, the wild flowers that grow there, deer, other stations and Mt. Shasta and Mt. Lassen. They told of their work and how they identify and report fires.

Grange Master Lou Coles conducted the regular meeting of the Grange at which time reports from committees were given. Work is started on reflooring the Grange hall and a general discussion was held on this about prices and workmen. It is hoped it will be finished by April 27 when the state lecturer visits.

TRAVELER - A rather unusual "tourist" currently visiting southern Oregon is Tom Wilcox, right, above, of Mt. Vernon, Wash., who is on his way to Mexico - the hard way. He is traveling by horseback, Wilcox is shown with George McEune, who operates Pioneer Village in Jacksonville, where Wilcox has been staying for a few days. McEune traveled some 2,000 miles by mule-drawn wagon in 1959. Wilcox sleeps on the ground and cooks his meals over an open fire. He says his needs are few, but occasionally takes jobs to earn money for horse feed and groceries, and "tailor made" cigarettes. Wilcox intends to return from Mexico via the Pacific Crest trail in a year or two. In this kind of life time is sort of unimportant he said. He has a packhorse to carry his gear.

Small Worlds Around Us By LYNN M. WATKINS (Register and Tribune Syndicate, 1963)

jerks" don't seem to be as dumb as we suppose, for many bugs crawl inside an open flower just before a storm. What sanctuary could match this? Even the door is automatically closed for them, as the petals fold up tight and flower heads bend downward. Besides, the inside of a flower is warmer than the outside air, so the bug crawls in at sundown, the flower closes and there he is, warm and safe in his frigid, warm. Nature sometimes goes to elaborate extremes to compensate a creature that experiences a tough existence.

Some 40,000 Army and Air Force combat soldiers and the two sided semi-controlled maneuver. It will be the first appearance of USSTRICOM forces in the far west. All ground and air units will fire live ammunition on the Yakima firing center reservation during the exercise.

Forest Personnel Attends Course

Yreka - District Ranger Al Groncki of the Salmon River district of the Klamath National forest has announced that nine members of the district personnel have completed a study course on wildlife management.

The nine members included Groncki, Roger Van Buskirk, Donald Osterlund, James Irvine, Vandy Thornton, Richard Nute, Vernon Witter, Leroy Foster, and Robert Wann.

The study course was designed to improve each individual's grasp of the importance of wildlife habitat management, and to give each an insight into how and why wildlife management is coordinated with the management of the national forests for wood, water, forage, and recreation. Better hunting and fishing for the public is the goal.

The Family Council

Editor's note: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, three editors and a women's editor. Each article is a summary of a family disagreement presented to the Council. The Council deals with problems, major and minor, encountered by guidance counselors and social workers. Edited by Mrs. Alma Denny. (Copyright by General Features Corp.)

Viola D. - When is a parent's job over? She says never. Miriam F. - What choice have I? You can't put children out!

Viola D. - Miriam is my older sister. My husband and I keep waiting to make it a foursome with her and Jack so we can go off on a trailer trip for a year. They want to, but they're tied down by their three unmarried children who live with them. Ours are either married or in their own apartments, and we're free. I tell her she has done her duty and should let them shift for themselves.

Miriam F. - Where will my children go? I don't want to rush them into unhappy marriages, or to lonely furnished rooms. I'm keeping house for my husband and myself, too, not just for them, so they might as well enjoy my cooking instead of bad restaurant food. I'd like to be free to travel, but to do so we'd have to sell the house and we can't do that until our children get settled somewhere.

The Council: In the normal roll-out of the carpet, parents and children travel together up to a point. Then there's a change-over when the kids grow up and roll their own, while their elders may decide whether to keep rolling or

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

THE SPORTS EDITOR of a crusading newspaper got a phone call just before the bulldog edition went to press. "What do you mean, you can't make a buck at the race track any more?" demanded the caller. "I made over ten thousand dollars at Belmont this afternoon." "Who are you?" countered the editor. The caller answered, "I'm a horse!"

A new resident in a New England town was invited to join the volunteer fire brigade. "I'll do it," said the newcomer reluctantly, "but I must warn you that I'm not as young as I used to be, and I don't expect I'll be much good climbing up a ladder." "Don't let that worry you," the chief assured him. "Nine times out of ten, by the time we get there, there's nothing to lean a ladder against."

Just after Pearl Harbor, a jittery youth took refuge in his storm cellar to escape being drafted. There he found his 90-year-old uncle hiding, too. "What have you got to worry about?" sneered the nephew. "You're ninety years old." The uncle answered, "So what? They need generals, too, don't they?"
