Two Nearly-Identical Redistricting Proposals Presented

Salem – (UPI) –Two nearly-identical congressional redistricting proposals which differed widely with a plan proposed by Rep. John Mosser (R-Portland) were submitted Wednesday to the House Planning and Development Committee.

The nearly-alike plans were submitted by House Speaker Clarence Barton and Myron Katz, spokesman for the Bipartisan League to Retain Equal Representation.

Observers anticipated the committee would adopt the plan suggested by Barton.

Barton's plan includes all of the City of Portland in the third district, but adds Eastern Multnomah county to a first district made up of Clackamas, Washington, Columbia, Clatsop, Tillamook, Yamhill and Polk counties.

Marion and Linn counties would be added to all of Eastern Oregon to create an expanded second district.

The fourth district would include Lincoln, Benton, Lane, Douglas, Jackson, Josephine, Curry and Coos counties.

This proposal was identical to that proposed by Katz, except that it added the Portland city area west of the Willamette river to the first district, which also included Lincoln county.

Katz admitted there were disadvantages to dividing a city, and Barton claimed his proposal more nearly grouped areas of economic interest.

Barton said shifting Marion and Linn counties to the Eastern Oregon district would not be a problem because of the good highways that join the areas.

Both plans were at wide variance with the Mosser proposal which would split the City of Portland and create a third district of the Multnomah county area west of the Willamette river. It also would add Coos, Curry, Josephine and Jackson counties to the Eastern Oregon second district in a "boot toe" effect that would extend the district from Idaho to the Pacific Ocean.

At present there is a wide population variance between Oregon's four congressional districts: The first 517,000, the second 265,000, the third 522,000 and the fourth 463,000.

The Barton plan would have 458,000 in the first district, 441,000 in the second, 397,000 in the third, and 467,000 in the fourth.

In other action, the Senate passed and sent to the House a bill to require new safety regulations for professional boxing.

A bill to require seat belts in new cars after November, 1964, cleared the legislature and went to the governor.

The governor signed a bill to add a new experience rating feature to the state workmen's compensation law that would penalize employers with poor safety records.

Duty To Publish Noted by Goldberg

Washington –(UPI)– Supreme Court Justice Arthur J. Goldberg said Wednesday that neither newspaper publishers nor the unions in the industry "fully comprehend the duty implicit in their constitutional right to publish."

"That duty, which I emphasize is moral and not legal, simply defined is voluntarily to agree upon means by which they can discharge their necessary function to publish – to be a free press – without interruption," he said.

The justice made the remarks in a speech at the National Lawyers Club in commemoration of Law Day. He referred to the long New York newspaper strike.

Ways can be found to keep the presses going without injury to either side "if both parties approach the task in a spirit of constitutional dedication," Goldberg said.

The industry enjoys "a unique constitutional status," he said, and "whether it is called a preferred or a fundamental right, or by some other label, a free press is indispensable to the preservation of democracy under law."

FREEZER FACT

Washington – (UPI) – Frozen vegetables are the "hottest" item in cold storage these days. A record 1.1 billion pounds were in warehouses as of March 1, the U.S. department of agriculture reported.

School Financing Plan Proposed

Sacramento–(UPI)–A radically new public school financing plan, aimed at cutting the number of school administrators and raising teachers' salaries, is on its way to a key hearing in the Senate.

The plan, contained in a bill by Sen. Donald Grunsky (R-Watsonville), went through the Senate Education committee Wednesday. But members passed it to the powerful Senate Finance committee, which must approve before the bill can reach the floor.

Grunsky's bill would tie the state's multi-million dollar school aid program to teachers' salaries and students per class. Districts that meet state salary and class-size requirements would get more money than those that do not.

Grunsky later announced that he would amend the bill to include a countywide school tax, another controversial proposal already contained in two aid-to-education bills now before the Assembly. However, the two Assembly bills generally retain the current system of apportionment.

Under the current system, California's 1,600 school districts receive nearly $800 million a year according to formulas based primarily on a district's total student population. The larger the district, the more money it gets.

Under the new plan, the state would divide the total student population in an elementary district by 33, the number of students in a class of "reasonable" size. It would give the district $6,300 for a teacher in each class unit, plus $1,500 per unit for "essential class room operations."

Famed Catskill House Is Razed

Catskill, N.Y. – (UPI) – New York state conservation department workers recently set fire to what once was considered the most beautiful hotel in the world.

The Catskill Mountain house, about 40 miles south of Albany, the capital, was a nineteenth century tourist attraction that rivaled Niagara Falls. Wealthy visitors from London, Berlin and Paris considered a stopover at the hotel a "must" on their grand tours.

Built in 1824, the hotel offered an 80-mile view of the winding Hudson river and the scenic Catskill mountains from its 3,000-foot elevation. Visitors reached the hotel by cable car.

The hotel, operated continuously until 1942, deteriorated badly in recent years and was considered a menace, tottering on the brink of a cliff. The conservation department, which acquired the property to expand an adjoining camp site, decided it would have to be razed.

The three-story, white structure, fronted by Grecian columns was once considered the summer White House of President Ulysses S. Grant.
