

Lincoln Center Cafe Honors Famed Composers

By JEANNE LESEM
New York — A composer's name on the menu at Philharmonic cafe indicates a new dish has been created. Anton Gotsche, Vienna-born manager, explained that European tradition entitles a chef to name any dish he creates accordingly honors world-famous composers in planning food service for the restaurant in the first building to open at the Lincoln center for the performing arts.

The music men honored so far are all Europeans, but the food is primarily American with continental touches, said Gotsche in an interview.

Lobster Newburg
One supper menu included New England lobster newburg. Gulf shrimp remoulade in a sharp mayonnaise sauce, and sliced hot barbecued beef Mendelssohn, in tomato sauce.

A salad list included Alaska king crab with avocado. Supreme of chicken Offenbach on a dinner menu turned out to be breast of chicken in a white wine sauce. Sweetbreads Debussy are in a white wine sauce.

Americans' taste for European favorites prompted the inclusion of veal parmesan, coq au vin (chicken in wine sauce) and fillet of sole bonne femme, in mushroom and wine sauce.

Even filet mignon with fresh mushrooms is done with French flair — sautéed to order in a chafing dish as the guest watches, then flamed with sherry and cognac brandy.

In French service, food is brought to the table on a cart and partly prepared in front of the guest, said Gotsche, who wrote a text on table service when he was a student at the Cornell university school of hotel administration.

The other types of service are American and Russian, he added. In American service, food is dished onto plates in the kitchen. In Russian service, food is brought to the dining room on a silver platter and transferred onto a plate before each guest.

This Russian invention is the world's most popular table service for the better restaurants and hotels, Gotsche added. Its major advantages are speed, simplicity and elegance.

The kitchen is strictly modern American. Equipment includes a specially designed steam cooker for vegetables that prepares fresh or frozen ones in 20 seconds or less; a radar range that can cook a 8-to-11-pound beef roast in 20 minutes; and a coffee maker that grinds the beans and prepares each cup to order.

Philharmonic Fillet
Fillet mignon with fresh mushrooms is prepared with few precise measurements at the Philharmonic cafe.

In the blazer pan of a chafing dish, saute the filets quickly to desired doneness in butter over high heat. Prop filets on crossed spoon and fork at edge of pan and quickly saute a few sliced mushrooms. Season to taste, with salt and freshly ground black pepper. Add a little dry sherry and flame, shaking pan to burn off the alcohol. Add a little cognac brandy and flame again. Serve as soon as flame dies.

Women of Unity Plan Breakfast For Saturday

Women of Unity have completed plans for a May morning breakfast to be held Saturday, May 4 in the Ashland Women's Civic clubhouse on Winburn way, Ashland. The breakfast will be served from 6:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. Mrs. Edgar N. Terrill, Talent, president, is general chairman.

The plans were made during the women's recent meeting in Unity church, Medford, when "April in Paris" was theme for the guest speaker, Walter Knight. Mr. Knight was an exchange student from Lewis and Clark college in Montpellier, France, and he also attended school at the Sorbonne university for two years.

The guest speaker showed slides of Paris while he narrated its history and described points of interest.

The city was founded, he explained, when Romans came to Gaul in 53 B.C. The small settlement on an island in the Seine river was known as Lutetia, and in the fourth century the name Paris was given it by a Celtic tribe known as the Parisii.

He described the Arc of Triomphe, the Louvre, the cathedral of Notre Dame, Eiffel tower, and the Flea market. He also showed scenes taken during the World's fair at Brussels, Belgium in 1958.

Miss Sheryl Bramhall sang appropriate songs and both Mr. Knight and Miss Bramhall were presented gifts by the group.

Mrs. Clay M. Lee, program chairman, spoke concerning the month of April, originally known by the Romans as Aprilis, meaning "to open."

Mrs. Terrill conducted the business meeting and appointed a nominating committee made up of Mrs. Wilbur Howell, Mrs. Lester Dyke, Medford; and Mrs. Dorothy Bowen, Ashland. The Rev. Katharine Bosworth gave the devotionals. A luncheon was served at noon. Tables were decorated with apple blossoms and maypoles.

Hostesses were Mrs. Bowen, Mrs. Everett Wynn and Mrs. Ray Parker, Ashland; and Mrs. Howell, Medford.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Ralph A. Foster, Mrs. Irene Eaton, Mrs. Rena Nielson and Mrs. Mae Russell, Ashland; Mrs. Mina Gordon and Mrs. Gladys Jensen, Grants Pass, and Mrs. Ruby E. Reed, Talent.

The next meeting will be Friday, May 24, in Unity church.

In Bend

Hornbrook — Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Watt and sons Tom and Ronald, spent last week end in Bend, Ore., where they were guests of Mr. Watt's brothers, Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Watt and children, Sally Ann and Willie, and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Watt and children Marcus, Nancy and Mary Louise.

UN Topic For Meeting In Ashland

Ashland — Organization and functions of the United Nations were discussed Monday night when Omar Bacon addressed members of the Ashland provisional unit, Oregon League of Women Voters. Mr. Bacon is vice president of the Jackson County League of Nations association and is also Jackson County librarian. The meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Irving Lord, and the speaker was introduced by Mrs. W. D. Walters, unit chairman of UN study.

"Conflicting forces are greater now than ever before in the history of the world," declared Mr. Bacon. He spoke of the vast changes now going on and classified the three forces that are at work under the headings of opposing, neutral and good.

He said that nuclear energy used for war, the dynamic force of communism and the existence of nationalism are opponents of world peace; that universal communication, travel and the development of common markets can be used either for good or evil, but that the most hopeful are the scientific forces working together for better understanding, the rise of world law and the United Nations.

The speaker traced international movements since the League of Nations to Bretton Woods and Dumbarton Oaks, all forerunners of the United Nations. He declared that the UN is known best for its peace keeping function and its primary concern for aid. In spite of criticism and set-backs there is a new feeling of hope this year and confidence that such problems as financing, the Congo issue, veto rights and a more equitable representation may be solved.

It is Mr. Bacon's opinion that for the first time since its organization the UN secretary is "secretary of a united world, with citizen loyalty to the world, with vision not warped in favor of his own community."

"The problem of a permanent world police force can be settled if nations will trust one another and be willing to surrender enough sovereignty to assure peace. In this country we trust one another and give authority to our police," Mr. Bacon observed.

"The United Nations is the greatest hope for the world," declared the speaker. "No longer is there room for intense nationalism."

During the question and answer period at the conclusion of his talk Mr. Bacon discussed some of the criticisms leveled at the UN and acknowledged that many changes are needed, particularly in the financial responsibility of member nations. Some doubt was raised as to the immediate admission of new independent countries and their unpreparedness in assuming their role.

The Monday night meeting was introductory to the league's year-long study of the United Nations.

Three Dietitians At Convention

Three valley dietitians, Mrs. Joyce Gooch, Mrs. Mildred Mace and Mrs. Evadyn MacLeod, attended the recent convention of the Oregon Dietetic association held in Portland. Mrs. Gooch and Mrs. Mace are from the Veterans' Administration domiciliary, White City, and Mrs. MacLeod is dietitian for Rogue Valley Memorial hospital.

Dr. James McCauley, associate professor of oceanography at Oregon State university, talked on "People, Water, and Seafood". He pointed out with the increase in population, there will be a real shortage of water and food in the future, and the world will depend more on the sea for sources of protein.

Dr. Ernst Dornfeld, chairman of the Department of Zoology at Oregon State university, spoke on "Studies in the Physiology of Cell Division".

Miss Martha Moffit from the VA Hospital in Vancouver, Wash., spoke on "Work Sampling" and Mrs. Nancy Beshear, clinic dietitian at the University of Oregon Medical School hospital, gave a report on the Portland Dietetic association's project "Dial-a-Dietitian". Nutrition information is given to anyone who calls the number listed in the yellow pages of the telephone book.

Plans are being made for the meeting of the American Dietetic association, which will be held in Portland in 1964.

CURRY SAUCE
A hot curry sauce for hot cooked vegetables is easy to make. Just mix together and heat slowly, without boiling, one cup of dairy sour cream, one-half cup of canned tomato sauce and one-half teaspoon of curry powder, or more to taste.

DAR Regent Gives Report

Mrs. Judd Greenman, regent of Crater Lake chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, gave a report on the forty-ninth annual state conference of the Oregon State DAR society which she recently attended in Salem, at a chapter meeting April 27. The meeting was held in the Girls Community club.

Ronald Gangstee, Medford high school, accompanied by Lynn Sjolund, vocal instructor, sang several selections. Mrs. Don Stevens, magazine chairman, read the president general's April message, and an article on the resolutions passed at the recent continental congress in Washington, D. C., was read by Mrs. Ray K. Bailey, chairman of national defense.

Miss Annette Gray, guest speaker, told of her work assisting candidates for United States citizenship. She reported that there had been three persons from Canada, one each from Trinidad, Germany, Holland, and Russia and two from Japan in her classes during the year. She concluded with a tribute to American women who had been of outstanding service to their country.

Hostesses J. C. Long, O. H. W. Oestreich, T. J. Gifford, O. C. Rawlings, Glenn Taylor and Vernon Patten.

In Talent

Hornbrook — Mrs. Bertha Bradley, accompanied by Mrs. Grace Doolittle and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ward drove to Talent, Ore., Saturday where they visited Mrs. Clara Howard on the occasion of her 93rd birthday. Mrs. Howard was a longtime resident of Hornbrook.

Fruit a la Mode makes an easy-to-fix dessert. Melt two tablespoons butter in a skillet, and stir in two tablespoons of brown sugar. Place six cling peach halves, cut side down in mixture and heat slowly until warm and flavored. Serve cut side up while warm with generous scoops of ice cream.

Chapter Chooses Girl of the Year

Mrs. William Knips was chosen girl of the year for Gamma Rho chapter, Beta Sigma Phi sorority, during a recent meeting held in the home of Mrs. Frank Testerman, Ashland.

For the past two years, Mrs. Knips has been vice-president and on the social committee for her chapter. She has also served as treasurer and was co-chairman for this year's style and variety show.

Mrs. Knips was presented her award last night at the Beta Sigma Phi Founders' day banquet held at North's Chuck Wagon.

Mrs. Robert Minear, named

Chapter Chooses Girl of the Year

Medford women of the year by Zonta club, was guest speaker at the meeting. She spoke on the mentally retarded in the State of Oregon and related the history on the School of Hope.

Mrs. Darrel Hughes, chapter president, presided and Mrs. Jack Wheeler assisted the hostess in serving refreshments.

Leave

Hornbrook — Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Burwash left Friday for their home in Champaign, Ill., after visiting here with Mrs. Burwash's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ivon Howard.

Week End Guest

Hornbrook — Mrs. Don True Sr., Grenada, Calif. spent the week end here as a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Nye.

About Climbers
Climbing roses ordinarily do not flower the first year they are planted. The climber devotes this first year to putting out its familiar long canes and establishing a sound root system. The second year, the climber generally provides a riot of color. An exception to this rule is the deep yellow climber High Noon, an All-America variety that blooms profusely right from the start.
