Dominican Head Renews Warning On Aggression

Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic - (UPI) - Sharp internal fighting was reported in Haiti today.

Dominican President Juan Bosch again warned the neighboring country he would go to war to halt any new "aggression" against his country.

Reports from Haitian sources said at least 45 of President Francois Duvalier's top ton maoutes (hoyemen) were killed Thursday night in a skillful ambush laid by resistance leader Clement Barbot.

Heavy firing of automatic weapons and at least five grenade explosions were said to have been heard on Port-au-Prince outskirts.

Action Sought

Bosch, meanwhile, sought collective inter-American action against the Duvalier regime.

Bosch called Duvalier "a mentally sick man" Thursday night and cited a statement Wednesday by the Haitian president that only God could remove him from power.

A fact-finding team of the Organization of American States flew to Santo Domingo from the Haitian capital of Port-au-Prince Thursday, leaving behind a country gripped by fear that Duvalier would resume a violent campaign against his enemies.

May Not Wait

Bosch told foreign correspondents in his presidential residence Thursday night that the Dominican Republic would not wait for OAS action in the event of renewed Haitian aggression.

"The next time Haiti commits aggression against us, we will tell the OAS what our course of action has been, not from the Dominican capital but from the capital of a neighboring nation," he said.

Haiti and the Dominican Republic share the Caribbean island of Hispaniola.

Bosch's statement indicated Dominican forces would invade Haiti and try to crush Duvalier's autocratic regime.

Crater Students Honored During Recognition Event

Central Point - Nine Crater High school seniors constituting the top 5 per cent of their class in the academic field, and 78 athletes representing the baseball, wrestling, tennis, track, and cross country teams were urged to develop and use their God-given talents when Rep. John Dellenback addressed them last night at Crater's first combined awards banquet.

Illustrating his speech with the Biblical parable of the talents, Dellenback told the students that each had different abilities, that the measure of success was not how well one did in competition, but how fully he developed his own particular talent. "You are blessed," he continued, "many doors are open to you, the future belongs to the educated."

Introduces Students

In introducing the honor students, Miss Martha Boshears, Torch Honor society advisor, said there are no subs and only one team, with each member on his own in the scholastic field.

Honored as the upper 5 per cent of the senior class were Selene Ash, Joyce Dye, Marlene Fowler, Janice Mooster, Joyce Roberts, Jo Ann Trautman, Janet Pfaff, Camille Merz and Les Dewey.

Head track coach Ed Knapp, baseball coach Bill Piche, tennis coach Ogden Kellogg, and wrestling coach Jim Tachini introduced athletes honored.

An award for the most improved wrestler was presented Steve Jorde by Donald A. Faber, Central Point businessman. Teammates voted Les Dewey most valuable member of the tennis team.

Gold Hill and Central Point Lions sponsored the banquet. Master of ceremonies was Ellsworth Robison.

Highway Relocation Work Will Proceed

Jacksonville - Work on relocation of the Medford-Provolet highway through Jacksonville is expected to proceed in the near future, despite a report to the contrary circulated at a meeting of the Jacksonville city council last night.

Dean Parsons and Ralph Roderick of Cornell, Howland, Hayes and Merryfield, Corvallis engineering firm, showed councilmen a letter the firm received April 24 from Frank Morgan, state highway department construction engineer at Salem, reporting that plans for the highway relocation has been suspended indefinitely.

A check with John Quiner, assistant division engineer in Roseburg this morning, however, revealed that Tuesday night's action by the Jacksonville city council to approve the proposed highway route gave the highway department a green light to proceed with plans.

Quiner indicated that Morgan's letter might have been written before the highway commission decided to leave the matter in the hands of the Jacksonville council. The highway commission approved the route subject to the approval of the council, he explained.

SUIT FILED

Portland - (UPI) - A $50,000 suit against the Confederated Tribes of the Warm Springs Indian Reservation was filed in U. S. District Court Thursday by the widow of a man who drowned at Kah-Nee-Tah Springs last year.

Sign Ordinance Amendment OK'd

An ordinance regulating the time interval between issuance of a permit for construction of a sign and the date by which the sign must be completed was extended by 60 days by the Medford city council last night.

The action was taken after John Eads of Electrical Products asked the council for an extension of his sign permit, which was due to expire May 5.

Eads' firm has a contract to construct an electrical sign at 12th and Spencer sts. in an area adjacent to the Interstate 5 freeway overpass. The permit for the sign was obtained prior to the recent passage of the billboard ordinance by Mayor James Dunlevy — William Singler, Dick Travis and R. L. Van Sickle.

The ordinance which was submitted to the council last night differs substantially from earlier drafts in that it authorizes the city to obtain court injunctions to stop air pollution were deleted.

Sample Clause

A sample deleted clause read: "... the City Attorney is hereby authorized and directed to institute in the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon proceedings to enjoin such nuisance ..."

Following the meeting last night, committee members said the punitive powers of the ordinance were removed because they felt it would be better to seek the "voluntary cooperation" of the mill owners in attacking the problem.

One councilman pointed to the voluntary efforts of area fruit growers in reducing smudge from orchard heating. He said some mill owners have already made substantial progress in controlling their air pollution problem and he hoped others would be encouraged by the ordinance to follow their example.

The three committee members agreed that solution of the problem may take some time. They said they were concerned about the possible economic impact on the community if a stronger ordinance were put into immediate effect.

Public Nuisances

In essence, the ordinance now under consideration empowers the city to declare certain sources of air pollution to be public nuisances, but only after a hearing had been held in which the council would weigh the utility of the offending use against the "gravity of the harm."

The ordinance also implicitly calls for the appointment of an air pollution control officer, who would advise and consult with present and future industrial and commercial establishments in efforts to eliminate air pollution sources.

Copies of the ordinance are available to the public in the city attorney's office in city hall. The public hearing on the measure is scheduled for May 16, the next regular meeting of the council.

CAROLINE DISCIPLINED—Caroline Kennedy got a lesson in discipline Thursday while watching a White House reception for Medal of Honor winners from the upper balcony of the Executive Mansion. The child climbed up the balcony railing and when her nurse, Maude Shaw, pulled her down, she slapped the woman, left photo. The nurse then picked Caroline up and planted her firmly back on the balcony. The pictures were made by UPI staff photographer Roddy Mims with a telephoto lens. (UPI)

WINNERS GREETED—President Kennedy greets 90-year-old Maj. Gen. Charles E. Kilbourne (ret.) of Lexington, Va., one of more than 200 Medal of Honor winners who were entertained at a White House lawn party Thursday. Gen. Kilbourne, now residing at a nursing home in Washington, won the Congressional Medal of Honor, the distinguished Service Cross and the Distinguished Service Medal for service during the Philippine insurrection. (UPI)

Congo Soldiers Quickly Quell Police Mutiny

Leopoldville, The Congo - (UPI) - Congolese soldiers and gendarmes today put down a short-lived mutiny by 2,000 Leopoldville policemen who were demanding more pay.

Soldiers in combat dress and armed with automatic weapons surrounded the main police camp, Lu Lungula, where most of the mutineers had gathered.

Jeep loads of officers and men entered through the main gate, disarmed the policemen and loaded the weapons onto army trucks.

A Harvard T6 fighter-trainer of the Congo air force, flown by a Cuban exile pilot, swept low over the camp to impress the mutineers of the futility of a fight.

Gendarmes went to City Hall and arrested policemen who had taken over the building. Other dissident policemen quickly got out of the police stations they had occupied.

The policemen had arrested their commissioners and took some African employees from City Hall as hostages. Some of these were reported to have been beaten when they resisted.

The rebellious policemen did not molest white employees at City Hall. They merely asked them politely to go home, along with five or six Belgian police technicians serving with the city police.

The policemen demanded a 25 per cent pay raise.

FAVORS DETERAUNT

London - (UPI) - Sir Winston Churchill, 88, in a rare public comment on a national issue, said today Britain must keep its nuclear deterrent.

Medal of Honor Winners Pleased by Kennedy's Remarks

Washington - (UPI) - President Kennedy called them "our most distinguished American citizens." Standing in the White House rose garden, forming a semi-circle of massive human courage, the Medal of Honor winners seemed pleased at the compliment.

A total of 293 of them are still alive, and 234 were present at the annual reception given by the President Thursday to honor U. S. military forces.

There are more square yards of courage here than you'll ever again see in your lifetime," someone said.

Many of them were just ordinary appearing souls like the man next door, who rose to heights of unbelievable valor in moments of incredible strain. They had come to Washington to be honored by the President.

"So, gentlemen," Kennedy said, "we are delighted to have you here today, and we are very proud of you and, most of all, we are proud of what you represent which is the strong courage of Americans and their determination to defend their country."

Young and old, some very old, they wandered around the south lawn of the White House, pausing now and then to gaze up to the second floor balcony where Caroline and John F. Kennedy Jr. watched the proceedings. They met old friends and recounted old tales.

Most of those present were heroes of World War II and the Korean War. Many of these still are in uniform.

A few were from the battles of old. Retired Brig. Gen. Charles Roberts of Chevy Chase, Md., and John Davis of St. Petersburg, Fla., were given their coveted awards because of what they did in the Spanish-American War in Cuba in 1898.

"Pappy" Boyington, the legendary Marine flying ace of the South Pacific Theater in the Second World War, was there, too. Kennedy gave him an especially warm hand-clasp.

There also was Earle D. Gregory of Tuscaloosa, Ala., who rose to glory in the Bois de Cosenoye in France on Oct. 8, 1918. His wife, Jettie, rushed to Kennedy and had him autograph a baseball for their 11-year-old grandson, Jeff.

"This is going to carry Alabama for you," she said.

"Thank you," said the President.

Hatfield Vetoes Optometrist Bill

Salem - (UPI) - Gov. Mark Hatfield returned his first veto of the 1963 legislature Thursday.

He vetoed a bill that would have added an optometrist to the State Commission for the Blind.

The veto seemed likely to stand. The bill passed the House after some debate 34-23. It would take two-thirds of the House, or 40 votes, to override, plus two-thirds of the Senate, where the bill passed 24-3.

In his veto message, Hatfield said the bill "places unnecessary restrictions" on appointments to the Commission for the Blind.

It embodies a policy of giving special interest recognition to at least one professional group," he said.

Cottage Grove - (UPI) - Plans for the closure of Oregon forests this summer have been backed by the Oregon Forest Protection association at its meeting here.

Public Hearing on Air Pollution Bill Slated by Council

The Medford city council last night, without discussion, called for a public hearing in two weeks, May 16, on a proposed air pollution control ordinance.

The ordinance, as it now stands, is the fourth draft prepared by City Attorney William Mansfield in consultation with a three-man committee of councilmen appointed by Mayor James Dunlevy — William Singler, Dick Travis and R. L. Van Sickle.

The ordinance which was submitted to the council last night differs substantially from earlier drafts in that it authorizes the city to obtain court injunctions to stop air pollution were deleted.

Following the meeting last night, committee members said the punitive powers of the ordinance were removed because they felt it would be better to seek the "voluntary cooperation" of the mill owners in attacking the problem.

April Storms Cause Employment Rise In County to Slow

The series of storms moving through southern Oregon during April had an obvious damaging effect upon the upswing in employment which started in March, John J. Patton, manager of the Medford office of the state employment service, has reported.

Storms softened roads in the Jackson county area and in several instances logging operations were halted. Mills were shut down due to log shortage.

Building, generally, continued at a healthy rate, according to the labor market bulletin. A large hotel and an apartment house improved the construction picture and another hotel is now under construction.

Retail establishments reported business "slow" during most of April. This too was blamed on the weather. The few pleasant days were marked by an increase in buying.

Principal Activity

Orchard heating was the principal activity on the agricultural labor market. Various opinions have been expressed as to the extent of crop damage in the Rogue River valley.

The rate of insured unemployment as of April 25 was 8.4 per cent compared to 8.6 per cent four weeks earlier, Patton said. This figure is above the level for one year ago but is expected to drop when the weather improves, he said.

Bibeau Arraigned On Jury Indictment

Harold James Bibeau, 20, is scheduled to enter a plea to a first degree murder indictment at 9:30 a.m., Thursday, May 9, in Jackson county circuit court.

The date was set yesterday afternoon by Circuit Judge James M. Main when Bibeau was arraigned on the grand jury indictment. He is being held in the county jail without bail.

Bibeau is charged with strangling and shooting Varsity Theater Manager Russell Waldon Osborn, 49, in Ashland April 27.

Also arraigned on grand jury indictments Thursday afternoon was George Brainard Sabin, 48, of 115 Neil rd., Ashland, who pleaded guilty to a charge of rape. A psychiatric examination at the state hospital and a presentencing report were ordered.

Sabin's son, Steve Richard Sabin, 17, who was indicted for contributing to the delinquency of a minor was remanded to Jackson county juvenile court for a hearing.

PARK PLANNED

Washington - (UPI) - Legislation has been prepared to establish a 1.3 million acre National Park in the north Cascade region of Washington between Mt. Baker and the Canadian border.

$50 Million of Deleted Postal Funds Restored

Washington - (UPI) - Faced with a threatened curtailment of mail deliveries, the Senate Appropriations committee today restored $50 million of the $69.8 million House cut in post office operations funds.

In approving a $6 billion Treasury-Post Office money bill, the committee also put back $16,291,050 of the $57.32 million stricken from the Treasury appropriation by the House.

The Senate committee bill, with other minor changes, totaled $77,290,250 more than that passed by the House.

The group allowed $10 million less than a subcommittee recommended Wednesday be restored for mail delivery and other postal services.

$60.5 Million Overall

Even so, the parent committee restored $60.5 million of the $91,964,000 chopped from the overall Post Office Department request by the House.

The committee put back the entire $10 million cut by the House from the facilities postal fund — money for construction of new post offices. It also restored $500,000 of a $2.2 million House cut in research, development and engineering money.

Postmaster General J. Edward Day had warned that mail deliveries would have to be curtailed unless the House cuts were restored.

Baseball Commission Is Appointed for County

Claude Miles, Granville Brittan and Francis Cheney have been appointed by the Jackson county court to the county baseball commission.

The appointments were announced today by County Commissioner Donald E. Faber. Miles will serve a three-year term. Cheney was named for two years and Brittan for one.

Faber said the duties of the three men will include supervision of the fairgrounds ball park and its use. He reported that their full duties will be outlined in the near future. The three will be instructed to cooperate with sports groups in the various communities of the county. Their work will mainly look toward furnishing the field for amateur sports for citizens of the county — particularly the younger people.

Medford Businessmen

Miles has been a Medford business man. He was active as a player in this area early in the century. He has been a strong supporter of youth baseball and has worked extensively to secure the improvements at the fairgrounds park. Brittan, a former Medford American Legion post commander, has a business at Talent and has been active in civic affairs.

Cheney is a partner in Cheney Forest Products which has mills in Central Point, Washington and California. The Cheney firm has long been engaged in youth sports programs. Faber indicated that Miles will represent the middle portion of the county, Brittan the south and Cheney the north.

The county commissioner reported that crews are working to have the ball park ready as soon as possible. Plans are to use donated bleachers for this season.

At the present time part of a permanent backdrop is being erected behind home plate and along the third base line. Faber reported this work almost completed. Other preparations scheduled include "revitalizing" the field lights.
