U.S. Troops Take Up Position Near Capital of Haiti

Move To Protect American Citizens

Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic—UPI—A U. S. Navy task force has moved combat-ready Marines near Haiti's invasion-threatened capital of Port au Prince to protect Americans there if disorders break out, informed sources reported Saturday.

The sources said Dominican troops along the Haitian border were reported to have assumed offensive positions, although they made no move to cross the frontier.

Tanks Loaded

At the same time, they said, Dominican tanks were being loaded on vessels in port here and aircraft were being armed and readied at San Isidoro air base outside Santo Domingo.

Dominican President Juan Bosch reiterated "It is the duty of the hemisphere's democracies to come to the rescue of the suffering Haitian people."

It was learned that a battalion of Dominican troops backed up by five tanks has assumed positions along the border.

City Tense

The capital was tense but diplomats here said the active mobilization of Dominican forces appeared more of a step to bring political pressure against Haiti than preparation for an immediate attack.

Whatever the reason, the U. S. Navy was taking no chances. The task force carrying the Marines moved to within the Haitian capital.

The sources said the task force including the flagship aircraft carrier Boxer left its alert position at sea last night and sailed down the St. Marc channel past the island of Go-nave just off the west coast of Haiti.

COUNTY'S SCOUTS ASSEMBLE—Some 350 Boy Scouts from throughout Jackson county participated in the three-day camporee held at Emigrant lake this week end. Some of the youths, ranging in age from 11 to 17, are shown above as they salute the colors at the beginning of a mid-day assembly. The young men competed for awards in physical fitness, camp construction, fire building, cooking, compass reading and other Scout skills. Dennis Dugan won the fishing contest Saturday by producing the only fish of the day, a 14-inch trout, which he cooked and ate.

Rockefeller Marries 'Happy' Murphy In Secret Ceremony

Observers Say Remarriage Could Be '64 Handicap

Voter Reaction Is Object Of Concern

Washington—UPI—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's remarriage made a new ball game Saturday of the coming contest for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination.

There were doubts and uncertainties about voter reaction—whether his marriage would offend women voters, particularly of middle age and older, and whether it would offend Catholics, who do not recognize divorce.

"It's difficult to prophesy at this time," said Republican National Chairman William E. Miller. "I don't think it's going to have any important effect."

Couldn't Help

"I don't see how this could possibly help the governor's candidacy," said Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, chairman of the House GOP caucus. "It's difficult to assess the impact."

Although there are as yet no announced candidates for the Republican presidential nomination, Rockefeller was rated far in front of other potential contenders until rumors of a possible remarriage began to spread last month.

The reports saw an immediate spurt in confidence among backers of Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, the long-shot conservative possibility against Rockefeller, who is classed as a liberal.

Gov. George Romney of Michigan became a center-stage attraction for Republicans who believe Goldwater cannot win and that remarriage could be a serious, or even fatal handicap to Rockefeller.

Miller commented that the remarriage may be "an asset" and that "with the passage of time the governor's position may be enhanced."

Noting that the Democrats twice nominated Adlai E. Stevenson for the presidency, Miller said he did not believe Stevenson's divorce had been a political factor.

The GOP chairman expressed the belief that Rockefeller would be judged by his record as governor and as a one-time federal official and by his position on national issues.

"The rest is secondary," Miller said. "It won't be a campaign issue. I don't think it will affect the nomination or the election."

Announcement Ends Months Of Speculation

News Revealed In Press Release

Pocantico Hills, N. Y.—UPI—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Mrs. Margaretta Filler Murphy climaxed a secret romance Saturday with a surprise wedding at the home of Rockefeller's brother, Laurance.

A press release from Laurance's office, delivered to news media by messenger, put an end to months of speculation, rumor, "no comments" and denials.

The ceremony, performed by the Rev. Marshall L. Smith, of the Union church here, was attended only by immediate members of the bride's and groom's families.

Rockefeller, 54, was divorced by his wife of 31 years last year. Mrs. Murphy, 36, was divorced April 1. The divorce and marriage were said to figure in the political thinking of experts weighing the odds on Rockefeller's presidential aspirations.

Some experts have said Rockefeller could withstand the publicity of his March 16, 1962, divorce from Mary Todd-hunter Clark and still remain presidential timber. But they expressed doubt that a subsequent marriage to a woman almost 20 years younger would enhance his possibilities for the White House—and some even said it would wipe out his chances.

The news release, naturally, took no note of this and was delivered to news offices in the same casual way that word was first given the world of Rockefeller's divorce—by special messenger.

The release said the newlyweds would depart by plane for Rockefeller's farm in Venezuela this morning.

"On their return the couple will make their home at the executive mansion in Albany and at the governor's home in Pocantico Hills," the release said.

For the ceremony, the bride wore a pale blue silk shantung dress with a small bow at the neck. She wore white gloves and carried a bouquet of spring flowers.

After the vows were pronounced, Laurance Rockefeller and his wife were hosts at a luncheon.

Served as Aide

The new Mrs. Rockefeller worked as a volunteer in Rockefeller's gubernatorial campaign in 1958 and later was an administrative assistant on the governor's staff.

In 1961, she resigned amid rumors that she had "reconciled" with her husband, Dr. James S. Murphy, a John S. Hopkins graduate working as research scientist with the Rockefeller Institute.

Rumors of the Rockefeller-Murphy romance, which kept tongues wagging, died down until Rockefeller's announcement of a pending divorce.

Bartlett Crop Predicted at Half Of Last Year's

The Bartlett crop for the Medford Pear district now is predicted at 40 to 50 per cent of last year's crop, according to orchardists Saturday.

Last year's Bartlett crop was approximately 33,000 tons, one of the largest on record. One industry-wide estimate predicts this year's Bartlett crop at 15,000 tons. Bartletts comprise 40 per cent of all pear production here.

However, growers emphasized that this is not a definite estimate since two more drops of the small green pears on all varieties, which were not sufficiently pollinated, could occur about mid-May and June.

"Most of the Bosc crop looks pretty good," one grower said. "However, it still is a big question since some blossoms appeared on Bosc after the last cold spell."

D'Anjous should be a fair crop, but it is still too early to forecast accurately, growers generally agreed.

Others Hurt Also

The forecast of a short Bartlett crop may cover the entire Pacific Coast fruit districts, some growers said. Frost, rain and hail seriously hurt major California pear districts, according to reports. Santa Clara valley, Calif., for instance had approximately 75,000 tons of Bartletts last year and now predict 35,000 tons for this year.

Hood River, Yakima and Wenatchee pear and apple areas are concerned over pollenization. Hood River fruit is in the bloom stage now, but growers should know in about two weeks generally what kind of crop to expect.

Police, Negro Demonstrators Tangle In Birmingham Again

Birmingham, Ala.—UPI—Police and Negro demonstrators locked in four hours of hit-and-run battles Saturday on the streets of Birmingham. High pressure water hoses were used against the rock-and-bottle-throwing Negroes, several of whom were reported seen with guns.

Authorities estimated they took about 100 of the Negroes into custody Saturday, boosting to almost 1,500 the total number arrested since the segregation protest demonstrations started April 3.

Two firemen were injured when struck by hurled stones, 3,000 Gather

The first clash of the day occurred when about 3,000 Negroes gathered in a park six blocks from the center of town.

Authorities—confronted with massive segregated protest demonstrations for the past three days—promptly cordoned off the area and a d brought up fire hoses.

Police Commissioner Eugene (Bull) Connor ordered the hoses turned on when Negroes began raining bricks and bottles at police and several of the objects landed near his feet.

The powerful streams of water cut the demonstrators down like tenpins or sent them screaming in retreat. Police followed up with dogs held on leashes.

It took authorities a full hour to rout the Negroes from the park, and even after they did the demonstrators regrouped at a Negro church. Police again moved in, more stones were thrown and firemen opened up with the hoses again.

This was the last of the organized protests, but police had their hands full for the remainder of the afternoon trying to keep groups from

Reds Blamed For Laos Incident

Vientiane, Laos—UPI—Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma Saturday blamed the Communist Pathet-Lao for the shelling of two helicopters being used by the International Control Commission to try to bring peace to Laos.

Military reports said one of the helicopters was destroyed and the other heavily damaged when mortar shells hit them at the town of Muong Phan on the Plain of Jars near Neutralist military commander Gen. Kong Le's headquarters.

The shelling wiped out two-thirds of Lao's helicopter fleet. All were of American manufacture but those for use by the Control Commission were painted white and flown by French pilots.

Four persons were reported to have been injured in the shelling of the aircraft but they were not immediately identified. The helicopters were on a mercy mission at the time to recover wounded from a truck which hit a landmine on the road from Khang Khay to the Plain of Jars airfield.

A French sergeant who was driving the truck apparently was killed instantly.

Prince Souvanna had gone to the Plain yesterday for a meeting with Laotian Communist leader Prince Souphanouvong.

Identity Of Accused Congressmen Revealed

Washington—UPI—Columnist Jack Anderson Saturday listed the names of congressmen he considers guilty of "cheating."

Anderson's charges in the Sunday magazine supplement "Parade" evoked a flurry of angry denials and at least two libel threats from lawmakers reached by UPI.

Many of the accusations of misuse of taxpayer money, conflict of interest, payroll padding and other questionable activities have been made—and denied—previously.

But Anderson said they showed the need for a congressional investigation aimed at what he called "The Great Protection Racket on Capitol Hill."

Among those named by Anderson were Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, (D-N.Y.); Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La.); Rep. L. Mendel Rivers (D-S.C.); Rep. Abraham J. Multer, (D-N.Y.); Rep. Victor Wickersham (D-Okl.); Rep. Charles A. Buckley, (D-N.Y.); Rep. Frank C. Osmers Jr., (R-N.J.); Rep. John McMillan, (D-S.C.); Rep. William C. Cramer, (R-Fla.); Rep. E. Y. Berry, (R-S.D.); and former Sen. Homer E. Capehart (R-Ind.).

Those willing to comment characterized the charges as "totally untrue," "a damn lie," "completely false" and "old stuff." Muller said, "I think I've got a million dollar lawsuit." Powell also threatened suit.

The article was the latest development in a running controversy touched off March 28 when Anderson wrote a "Parade" article quoting an "anonymous congressman" on alleged abuses by lawmakers.

Carol Burnett Weds Joseph Hamilton

Los Angeles—UPI—Comedienne Carol Burnett and television producer Joseph Hamilton were married Saturday in Juarez, Mexico, they disclosed last night during a stop-over at International airport as they headed for a Honolulu honeymoon.

Youth Reported Missing At Hyatt

State police said late Saturday night they had received a report from Hyatt lake that a 16-year-old boy had been missing there since he went for a walk alone about 3 p.m.

The missing youth was identified as Wayne Clay, but officers said they were not informed as to his address. By about 10:30 o'clock Saturday night, Clay was still missing.

Officers said that if the youth did not turn up by day-break today, a search party will be organized to look for him.

Wounded

Happy Camp—Francis Mitchell Forrest, 49, of Happy Camp, was taken to Siskiyou General hospital Saturday afternoon suffering from a self-inflicted gunshot wound in the left side of his chest. Siskiyou county sheriff's deputies reported, however, that his condition was good.

Ben Bella Urges Algeria Join UAR

Algiers—UPI—Premier Ahmed Ben Bella told United Arab Republic (U.A.R.) President Gamal Abdel Nasser Saturday he wants Algeria to join Iraq, Syria and Egypt in their proposed union of Arab states.

Ben Bella made the statement after Nasser arrived for a four-day visit and received such a tumultuous welcome 50 persons fainted and 20 others suffered broken limbs in the crush to get near him. Police fired shots into the air to quiet things down.

15,000 Come Out

Ben Bella told 15,000 persons massed in Algiers' stadium, "I express my congratulations for the union which has just been established and hope that Algeria will soon be able to join it."

He said a first step toward any such eventual Arab unification would be the union of the western North African "Maghreb" countries of Algeria, Tunisia and Morocco.

He pointed to the U.A.R. flag and said he hoped it would soon bear five stars, "the fifth representing Algeria." The flag now has three stars and is expected to have a fourth when Yemen joins.

"By our greeting to Nasser, we have shown we are Arabs," Ben Bella said. "Nasser is here... it is a divine miracle."

Deputies Search Klamath For Body

Happy Camp—Siskiyou county sheriff's deputies were expected to resume searching this morning for the body of a man who is believed to have drowned when his boat capsized in the Klamath river near Somes Bar Friday afternoon.

Thief Takes 84 Books of Stamps

Gold Hill—The Dardenelles restaurant here was burglarized by someone last week who took 84 books of assorted trading stamps and between $30 and $34 dollars in cash, according to Jackson county sheriff's deputies.

Entry to the restaurant was made through the front door, in which an employee had inadvertently left the key. The theft is thought to have occurred sometime between noon Tuesday, April 30, and Wednesday morning, May 1. The sheriff's office was notified of the theft Saturday.

LANDS AT MEDFORD

LANDS AT MEDFORD—One of the largest planes to ever land at the Medford airport was this Marine Training Hercules Lockheed prop-jet. On a training mission from El Toro, Calif., the aircraft can land on a runway 1,000 to 1,200 feet in length, and take off in 1,500 feet. Carrying a crew of five men, the plane is used by the Marines for cargo and in-flight refueling. Commander of the aircraft, which landed at the Medford airport late Friday afternoon, was Maj. George Cullins.
