
TRIUMPHS IN DERBY – Chateaugay, second from right, with jockey Braulio Baeza up, leads the field to win the 89th running of the Kentucky Derby Saturday at Churchill Downs, Louisville, Ky. – (UPI)

Chateaugay Upsets Favorites, Roars to Kentucky Derby Win

Louisville, Ky. –(UPI)– Chateaugay, a big bay colt from the Darby Dan Farm, swept into contention on the final turn at Churchill Downs Saturday and roared though the stretch like a runaway train to win the $151,400 Kentucky Derby by a length and one-quarter. With Jockey Braulio Baeza in the saddle, the bright chestnut colt circled around three horses, leaving the final bend and then turned loose one of the great stretch runs in the history of this classic to beat Cain Hoy stable's Never Bend in America's greatest horse race.

Candy Spots, the spotted colt from California who went into the race with a perfect six for six record, was a neck farther back and On My Honor, fourth in the field of nine of the country's greatest 3-year-olds.

Chateaugay, a son of Swaps, winner of the 1955 Derby, faced an imposing task when he launched his surprise rally. For ahead of him when Baeza, a native of Panama, and the second foreign-born rider ever to win this classic, asked Chateaugay for his best were the "big three" of this 89th classic.

Never Bend, No Robbery and Candy Spots each was ahead of him and each of them had to be caught with the greatest prize in racing up for grabs.

One after another Chateaugay collared them, with Never Bend and Candy Spots battling desperately to match his final drive. But neither could stay with the straining thoroughbred, who flashed under the wire in 2:01 4/5, one of the fastest derbies on record.

He paid $20.80, $7.60 and $3.60 across the board while picking up a winner's purse of $108,900, his initial victory in a "hundred grander."

Title Fight Postponed To July 22

New York – (UPI) – The unlucky return Sonny Liston-Floyd Patterson heavyweight title fight at Las Vegas, Nev., was committed Saturday to a third postponement from June 27 to July 22, because of the removal of a "benign tumor" from ex-champion Patterson's right fist.

Announcing the postponement, promoter Al Bolan of Championship Sports, Inc., said, "Floyd consented to the postponement only when his surgeon insisted Friday that he positively refrain from using his right fist in training for about four weeks."

In Denver, Colo., the usually sullen, 220-pound Liston grunted, "It's okay with me" – a remark which amounted to a roar of approval from the champion, whose injured left knee forced the previous postponement from April 10 and the transfer of the bout from Miami Beach, Fla., to Las Vegas, Nev.

Patterson's surgeon, Dr. Edwin H. Douglass Jr., of Newburgh, N.Y., explained today:

"I removed a benign tumor about the size of a dime from between the fourth and fifth knuckles of Patterson's right hand last Saturday and when he visited me yesterday I had to forbid him from using the right fist for punching for at least a month."

Bolan indicated it was he – not Patterson – who actually forced the issue of the new postponement.
