Mr. McCasne escorted his daughter to the altar and gave her in marriage. She wore a floor length gown of white satin trimmed with Alencon lace and long sleeves. The full skirt formed a chapel length train and her illusion finger-tips length veil was held by a tiara of white French orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of white carnations and roses.

Three Attendants

Mrs. Jack Baker, Salem, sorority sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Miss Irene Mallory, Seattle, was bridesmaid and Miss Katherine Sue Kaufman, niece of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. Valley Woman Designer Of Sunset Garden Border

A flower border design by Mrs. John Holmer, Route 1, Box 243, Old Stage road, Central Point, appears in the May issue of Sunset magazine.

Mrs. Holmer is widely known as a gardener and has won numerous awards for flower arrangements. This is the second time an article by Mrs. Holmer has appeared in Sunset magazine.

This article and design were submitted at the request of John Erskine, assistant editor of the magazine and features varieties of flowers and colors which lend themselves to attractive landscaping and arrangements, both colorwise and in suitability.

Mr. Erskine has conferred with Mrs. Holmer on gardening while visiting in the Rogue valley.

Nine varieties of flowers in white, orange and yellow are used. The diagram which accompanies the item shows where the various flowers should be planted within the 8 by 24 foot area. The design includes a background fence in brown with yellow climbing rose.

The article points out that every plant must do double duty to earn its place in this annual and perennial border. Each has proved itself a reliable source of color as well as an excellent cut flower. All are easy to grow, developing rapidly to flowering size.

Included are tithonia, cosmos, lupine, snapdragons, Aquilegia longissima, chamomile, marigolds of two heights and feverfew.
