

328 Adults, Children Served by Local Clinic

A total of 328 adults and children were served last year by the Family and Child Guidance Clinic association of Jackson county, it was reported recently.

This represented 1,618 therapy sessions held by the clinic staff for individuals, families and groups from all parts of the county.

In a report issued in conjunction with its 10th annual meeting, Board President Edward Collins observed that new needs and demands for service had produced the rapid growth of the agency which originally started as the Child Guidance Clinic.

Service Not Restricted
"No longer is our service restricted to children 16 years and younger. Nor is family counseling, started two years ago and now accounting for about half the work load, the new frontier any longer," he reported. "Your board and staff are beginning to cooperate, coordinate and operate in the fields of the mentally retarded, the alcoholic, the returned mental patient and in and out-patient psychiatric care."

The new fields point toward the ultimate goal of a fully developed mental health program for Jackson county, Collins said. But he warned that "the necessary support from the general public is a challenge that looms ever larger in the future as the clinic continues to grow and serve."

With its expansion of service, the clinic's professional staff has increased. It now includes an administrator, psychiatrist, psychologist, four psychiatric social workers, and one part-time volunteer psychiatric social worker. The clinic is supported by funds from the United Crusade, Jackson county court, Ashland-Talent Fund, fees and memberships, and the state.

From a group of 28 girl students, two will be chosen to represent the school in the upcoming Plymouth Trouble Shooting contest for teen-age mechanic students. The girls will compete against boys in regional and state competition, and then maybe the national finals to be held in Detroit June 25. From left, the girls are Donna Castrua, Maxie Cardwell, Jan Kroen, Carol Ballantyne and Gail Rouland, all of Oakland. (UPI)

Festival of Song Set in Grants Pass

Grants Pass — A May Festival of Song will be presented by Josephine County high and junior high school chorals Friday in the memorial gymnasium at Grants Pass High school.

Participants will include the Grants Pass High school A Cappella choir, directed by Ronald W. Hollensted; the Illinois Valley High school choir, Van Johnson; Monument Junior high, Mrs. James Dunne; Lincoln-Savage Junior high, Lou Anne Wolf; North Junior High, Mrs. Leonard W. Holzinger, Jr.; South Junior High, Richard Bonney; and Kerby seventh and eighth grades, Edwin Baker.

Each group will present three numbers, and the massed choirs will sing three selections as a finale.

Bids Called on Lookout Building

The U. S. forest service will open bids May 23 in Portland for erection of a 53-foot prefabricated tower and house at Blue Rock lookout on the Butte Falls Ranger district, Rogue River National forest.

The old lookout, which had been in place since 1930, was demolished last fall to make room for the new one.

Blue Rock lookout overlooks a good portion of the Sky Lakes area on the Butte Falls district, as well as the Big Butte creek drainage. It is a vital link in the chain of forest service lookouts in the high Cascade divide country.

Interested bidders may secure bid forms, and plans and specifications, at the office of the forest supervisor, Rogue River National forest, in the post office building, room 315, Medford, or at the Butte Falls Ranger station.

4-H Club News

Better Batter Beaters
The Better Batter Beaters 4-H club had a film about safety in the kitchen. The club plans to send cakes to the Medford Convalescent home for the birthdays in May.

There were two guests, Wendy Mason and Mrs. Murray. Mrs. Murray talked about keeping our books. Refreshments were served.

Gold Hill Livestock
Bill Jones, president, called a recent meeting of the Gold Hill Livestock 4-H club to order at the Coward residence.

Roll call was answered by project reports and each member told the club what kind of feed and how much he was using.

Marie Jones gave a report on the recent junior leader training school. Marie also explained how to fill in record books.

After the business meeting Elizabeth Tate, activity chairman, led the club in singing. The May meeting will be in the Sam Jones residence. Mrs. Coward served refreshments. Candy Gail, Reporter

Gronewy To Speak At SOCTFA Spring Dinner Meeting

Louis P. Gronewy, industrial development department, Pacific Power and Light company, Portland, will speak at the membership meeting of the Southern Oregon Conservation and Tree Farm association Friday, May 10, in Grants Pass.

Gronewy will report on general economic developments in Oregon and outline suggestions of ways the lumber industry can expand and attract new industries. The PP&L spokesman also is expected to point out the major industrial trends in the years ahead in Oregon.

SOCTFA members, civic officials and chamber of commerce representatives from Jackson and Josephine counties have been invited to attend, according to Darrel Davis, Medford, president of the lumber industry organization.

No Host Dinner
The no host dinner will be held in the banquet room of the Riverside motel, Grants Pass, starting at 7 p.m. Friday.

This marks the final SOCTFA meeting for this spring, Davis stated, and urged all members to attend. He noted that a progress report on plans for a new SOCTFA building also would be ready for presentation at the meeting. Special entertainment has been arranged.

Mrs. Gene Brown, of Grants Pass, is official chaperone.

The princesses appeared in Grants Pass Tuesday morning at a breakfast session of the Toastmaster club and Tuesday noon attended a luncheon session of the Kiwanis club. They made their first appearance as a court last week as guests of the Active 30-30 club, which sponsors the annual boating event on the Rogue river.

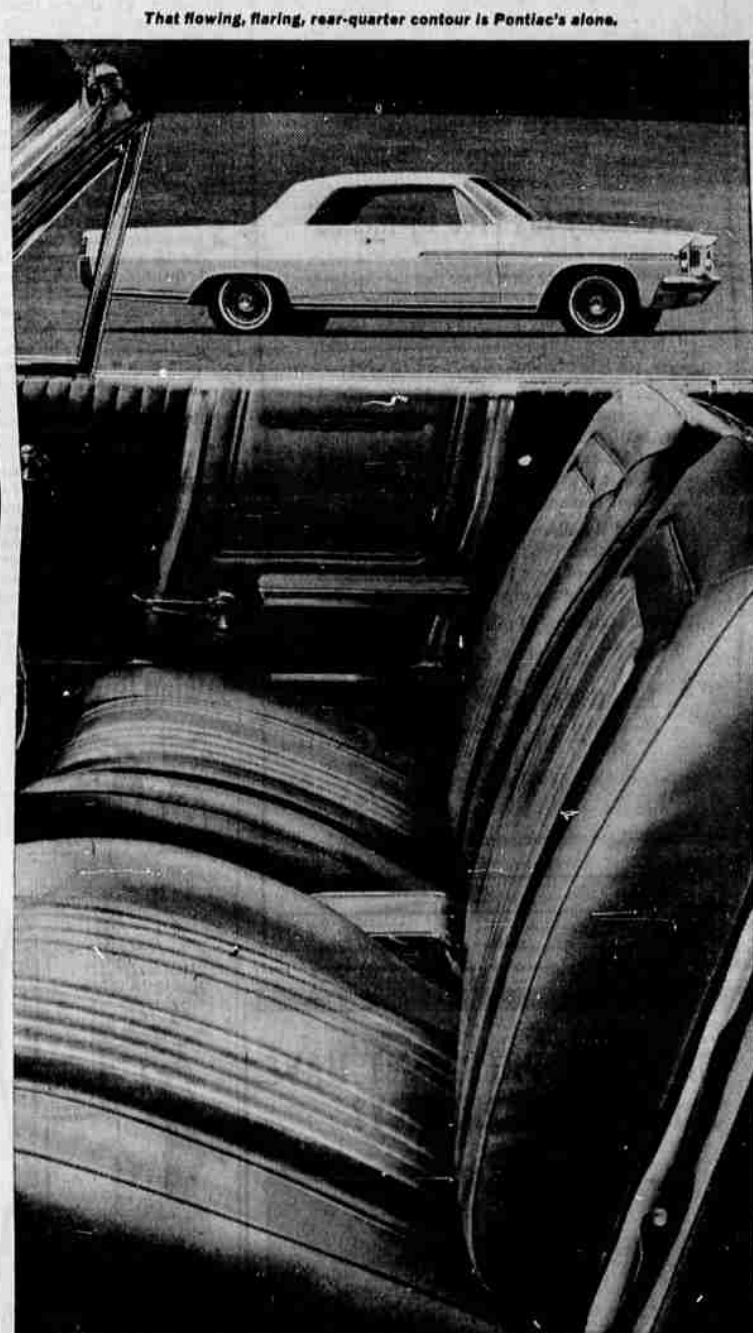

Populaires Part of Concert in Ashland

Ashland — The Populaires, a vocal ensemble at Southern Oregon college, and an opera workshop, both under the direction of Richard Schall, of the college music department, will present a joint concert Wednesday and Thursday, May 8 and 9 at 8 p.m. in Churchville auditorium as a part of the Festival of Fine Arts in progress at the college.

Staging of the opera workshop production is under the direction of Edward Fitzpatrick of the speech and drama department.

The Populaires will present music from their recent tour of various communities in southern Oregon. The opera workshop will present an excerpt from Bizet's "Carmen" and selections from Pergolesi's "The Maid Who is Mistress."

Admission to the concert is free and townspeople are invited to attend.
