

An open house held recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Ross honored the couple on their 60th wedding anniversary. They came to Medford in 1929 from Springfield, Ore., and both are natives of Kansas. Mr. Ross, long interested in gems and minerals, has won many first place ribbons and has an exhibit in the show being held this week end by the Roxy Ann Gem and Mineral club in the Armory.

Medford Couple Honored On Sixtieth Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. John T. Ross, 1522 Minear road, Medford, who have been residents of this area since 1929, observed their sixtieth wedding anniversary recently at an open house held in their home. The occasion also was the first time that the couple's six children all had been together with their parents in 37 years, since the two older ones had left for college.

Mr. Ross, who was an architect and builder, has turned two of his favorite hobbies, wood carving and lapidary work, into successful professional channels in his later years. This week end he has exhibits entered in the Southern Oregon Gem and Mineral show in the Medford armory, for the Roxy Ann Gem and Mineral club.

During the open house a wedding cake was served with Mrs. Richard Christensen in charge. Mrs. Harold Hanson presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. Arnold Pflugrad registered the guests and gifts. All three of the cohostesses are from Medford.

Fat Satiety Value Claimed Important

Chicago - (UPI) - An important quality of fats is their satiety value, says Dr. William C. Sherman of the national live stock and meat board.

From a nutritional standpoint, satiety means the ability of certain foods to delay the onset of hunger. Dietary fats remain in the stomach longer than carbohydrates or protein and also have the ability of holding other foods in the stomach for a longer time, said Sherman.

He said the physical presence of food in the stomach and intestines delays the onset of hunger.

"It is for this reason that substantial amounts of fat in reducing diets are highly important," he said.

Sherry Wine Subtly Flavors Chess Tarts

Chess tarts, traditional dessert from the South, now have a western accent. The creamy filling is subtly flavored with the nutty goodness of California sherry. Raisins and walnuts from the golden state are added for extra richness and chewiness.

When the tarts come out of the oven, the filling is light and puffy; as they cool, the filling falls and becomes the rich consistency of jelly. Serve the tarts warm or cold, never hot, topped with whipped cream or vanilla ice cream. For added goodness, accompany dessert with small glasses of a sweet or cream sherry.

Sherried Chess Tarts

One-half cup butter or margarine; one cup sugar; one-fourth teaspoon salt; one-fourth teaspoon each cinnamon, nutmeg and cloves; four egg yolks, unbeaten; one cup seedless raisins; one cup walnuts or pecans; one-half cup California sherry; eight unbaked tart shells; whipped cream or vanilla ice cream. Serves eight.

Cream butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Blend in salt and spices. Add egg yolks one at a time, beating well after each addition. Rinse raisins with boiling water and drain well. Add raisins, walnuts and Sherry to creamed mixture; blend well.

Spoon mixture into unbaked tart shells. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, about 40 minutes, or until firm. Serve warm or cold, topped with either whipped cream or vanilla ice cream.

Plans Meeting

Beehive club of Olive Rebekah lodge will meet for a potluck luncheon at 12 noon, Monday, May 13, in the Odd Fellows hall. The afternoon will be spent working on quilt tops.

First Lady Readies New House for First Tenants

By HELEN THOMAS
United Press International

Washington - (UPI) - First Lady Jacqueline Kennedy is getting her new house on Rattlesnake mountain in the Virginia hunt country ready for its first tenants, who will rent the home for the summer.

The moving vans have been going from the White House to the seven-bedroom ranch-style stucco house about five miles from Middleburg, Va. Mrs. Kennedy also has been going up in the afternoon to get it ready for occupancy.

The White House still is keeping secret the name of the family who will lease the house during the summer months.

Mrs. Kennedy is planning to begin her summer sojourn at Cape Cod early in June. President Kennedy has a European trip on tap for that month.

Washington meantime, is giving social secretary Letitia Baldrige a farewell whirl. She is booked up for the next few weeks with parties in her honor before she departs the White House the first week in June to take a new international job with the Kennedy family's merchandise mart in Chicago.

"Tish" has made a big splash in the nation's capital during her two years on the scene.

Her replacement, Nancy Tuckerman of New York, a former Miss Porter's classmate of Mrs. Kennedy, is grabbing a quick vacation in Europe before she digs in to her new job.

But she will have it quiet for the next few months at the executive mansion. Mrs. Kennedy has bowed out of all social doings until the birth of her third child in late August.

"Tucky" as she's called, was around the White House for several days learning the ropes from Tish.

As for Tish, she makes no bones about the fact that she is very sad to be leaving Washington and her new found friends. She already has lined up an apartment in Chicago, although she expects to be spending most of her time traveling around the world.

Pasteurization Is Safeguard

Milk is pasteurized to destroy any harmful bacteria that might be present in the milk before pasteurization. This is done by heating the milk, then cooling it immediately. Pasteurization, named for Louis Pasteur, the famous French scientist who developed it, isn't a substitute for sanitary dairy operation, but rather an additional safeguard for you.

Pasteurization does not affect the major nutrients in milk - that is, the calcium, protein, vitamin A and riboflavin. Pasteurization methods today conserve nutrients and insure milk that is of high quality, safe and pleasing in flavor and color. It is a contribution of modern technology.

Some Convenience Foods Proven Less Expensive

By HELEN THOMAS
United Press International

Corvallis-Homemakers who use instant coffee, frozen or canned orange juice and certain other convenience foods enjoy a double return on their investment. They not only save time in food preparation but they save money too, say Oregon State University home economists.

A recent U.S. Department of Agriculture survey on 158 convenience foods shows that 42 were less expensive and 118 more expensive than home prepared foods.

Shoppers can get ahead by buying frozen lima beans, instant coffee, frozen or canned orange juice, canned peas or corn, spaghetti, cherries, chicken chow mein, and devil's food cake mix, according to the study.

Other convenient items, including angel food and certain other cake mixes, ring up savings if both ingredients and time costs are figured. Mrs. Zelma Neugart, OSU marketing specialist, explains that cake mixes have become so popular that production efficiencies make them less expensive than homemade cakes.

Consumers enjoy convenience three main ways in foods: in form - such as cut up chicken, precooked meals, and prepackaged vegetables; in time - a wide selection of fruits and vegetables are available from all parts of the U.S. and abroad are on Oregon grocery shelves.

Mrs. Neugart points out that "maid service" reduces cost of many canned and frozen fruits and vegetables. This includes peeling, trimming, slicing, and reduction of weight from waste. These result in savings on transportation and storage costs that help offset service cost.
