

Medford Trail Riders events usually are family affairs. Parents take their children, and often grandparents and their grandchildren join in riding horseback and other activities. Shown above is a group of members' children just after they boarded the stagecoach for a ride through Jacksonsville during a recent breakfast sponsored by the riders in Pioneer village. The drivers are Kermon Kennedy, Medford, and Jerry Baldwin, Jacksonville. The mules are Fibber and Molly, which their owner, George McUne, drove across country in 1959 from Missouri to Oregon, to observe Oregon's Centennial anniversary.

Initiation Set By Amaranth

Roxy Ann court, Order of Amaranth, will hold initiation and a memorial service at a stated meeting for Thursday, May 16, in Medford Masonic temple. Mr. and Mrs. Hal Bishop, royal matron and patron, invited all local and visiting members to attend. A number of local members have been attending installations held in various cities of Oregon, and also attended Siskiyou court, Yreka, Calif., April 27, for installation. At the last meeting of Roxy Ann court, an addendum was given in honor of the junior past royal matron and patron, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mayfield. A new court was organized and constituted in Lake Oswego, Ore., Sunday, May 5, and will be known as Waluga court.

West Side School Plans Hobby Show For Friday

West Side School Mothers' club announced and reviewed year end activities at the May meeting, held in the school cafeteria. Climaxing the school year will be the annual hobby show Friday, May 17. Co-chairmen of this event are Mrs. Henry Moyer and Mrs. C. D. Kendall. It will be at the school from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. and both students and adults are invited to enter hobby displays. Food will be sold, and money earned from this project will be used to buy books for the school library. Entries for the show may be taken to the school any time Friday, it is stated. During the meeting Mrs. Vinson H. Vaughan, chairman of the recent benefit luncheon and card party for the school's

Italy Observes Anniversary of Roman Specialty

By ELVEZIO BIANCHI Rome—Citizens of Rome this year celebrate the centennial of a gastronomic specialty that has a formula like chemical products. The specialty is known as "Spaghetti All-Amatriciana." Millions of tourists have tasted and adopted it, just as Romans did 100 years ago. Rome gastronomy books describe the dish as the greatest kitchen elaboration of the traditional spaghetti dish since Marco Polo introduced it to Italy from China more than a thousand years ago. One of the most interesting aspects of Italy is that every region, more or less corresponding to the multi-racial ancient settlements in the country, has different ethnical, cultural, linguistic and gastronomic features. Pasta Changes Since Marco Polo got back from his wanderings in the Far East, the original brand of the long strings of pasta underwent innumerable changes to fit regional tastes. The men who ponder the pans and furnaces invented hundreds of recipes to dress them. Some of these recipes have become the gastronomic symbol of regional palates. This is the case of the "Spaghetti All-Amatriciana," which is the gastronomic symbol of Rome. The gastronomic formula of the "Spaghetti All-Amatriciana" is "P5." It stands for "pasta," "pomodoro," "peccorino," "pancetta," "peperoncino" or spaghetti, tomatoes, sheep cheese, bacon and hot peppers. Calories The flavor of spaghetti All-Amatriciana is rude, akin to the nature of mountain shepherds who invented it. It is a dish rich of calories, made for men who used to brave the cold nights of the Appennine mountains with their flocks. One hundred years ago Rome was still a city of 300,000 living inside the old historical walls of the Eternal City. Out of the walls to the south was, and still partially is, the ancient Applan way, stretching across an undulate plain rich of tender grass in the winter. Here came the Abruzzi mountaineers to pasture their flocks and to trade their strong piquant pecorino cheese. Romans got acquainted with the spaghetti All-Amatriciana through the shepherds. The rude dish was like the Trojan horse. In no time it penetrated into the old city and initiated its triumphal march. Soon "Amatriciana" restaurants mushroomed in every section of the city. Today there is hardly a street in the old sections of Rome without an "Amatriciana" restaurant.

CFG Association Holds Meeting

Talent—At the last meeting of the Talent-Phoenix Camp Fire Leaders' association, held at the home of Clark W. Brown Jr., Mr. Brown spoke about the camp facilities at Camp Ka-Esta Applegate, at Lake of the Woods. The camp will be leased from the Klamath Falls Camp Fire Girls council for the last two weeks in August for the Rogue Camp Fire Girl council. He noted that reservations are nearly filled for both sessions. Yatewahnoah at Wagner Creek Forks will soon be available for Camp Fire Girl use. Camp dates have been set for June 22 to June 31. It is stated that girls in the Talent area have first choice, but that girls from other areas will be accepted if there is room. Plans were completed for a grand council fire to be held Friday, May 17, at 8 p.m. in the Phoenix Community hall. Leaders of the Horizon club and Junior High school group were reminded of the council wide swimming party Saturday at Jackson Hot Springs. The seventh grade junior high school Campfire Girls are planting flowers and shrubs in front of the Talent City hall as part of their public service projects for the year. Fifteen girls and three leaders recently spent an afternoon working on the project.

Party Planned By Hoedowners

Derby—Derby Hoedowners plan a graduation party for a beginners' class which recently completed training. It is set for tonight at 8 o'clock in Derby Community hall. Edwin Cavin and guests will call and all square dancers and callers are invited. Refreshments will be pot-luck style.

Milk Care

Milk should be kept cold-covered-clean, and away from sunlight. Refrigerate milk as soon as it arrives in the home. Replacing the cover on the milk tightly after use prevents absorption of strong odors and flavors from other goods and assures a sweet and refreshing tasting beverage.

Teaching Machine

An inexpensive teaching machine, sold in supermarkets, helps elementary school students to bone up on English, grammar, general science, U.S. history, geography, spelling, arithmetic, and foreign language. (Universal Electronics Laboratories Corp., Hackensack, N.J.)

Women's News

Broadway League Opens Membership Enrollment

A group of about 50 women are working this week on the annual membership enrollment drive which will continue throughout the week. Some 30 of the women workers were entertained at the home of Mrs. B. D. Mitchell, 33 Black Oak drive, yesterday for coffee and to meet Charles Winter, representative of the United Performing Artists, New York City, here to advise the Medford league. Mr. Winter spoke of the three plays booked for next season, "The Sound of Music," "Take Her—She's Mine" and "A Man for All Seasons." He pointed out that all three of these plays have been Broadway hits, and added that the first and last are unusually fine plays, both with a considerable religious theme and that they complement one another nicely for a season. The first concerns the famous Trapp family of music fame, and the last is based on the life of Sir Thomas More. Clergymen have been especially interested in this drama, he stated. "Take Her—She's Mine" is a family comedy story. A fourth play will be chosen later. Mr. Winter stated that Medford is the smallest city to have the Broadway Theater league plays, and the Holly theater the smallest house in which the troupes perform. However, he said that the local Broadway Theater league is in many ways "better" than those in larger cities. Headquarters for the league has been established at Rogue gallery, 220 West Main street and the office will be open each day from 9 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. New memberships or renewals are to be made there. Mrs. Ralph Hibbs is chairman. The telephone number is 772-8118.
