Newly Born Infant's Cord

For thousands of years, first midwives, and later physicians, have tied the umbilical cord of a newly born infant, and have cut it without thinking of the possibility that they would have done better not to take him away from his mother until he had shown that he could breathe by himself.

Then recently, a report appeared in the Journal of the A.M.A., written by Drs. A. J. Moss, E. R. Duffie Jr., and L. M. Fagan of Los Angeles. These doctors found that 27 per cent of the infants who died during the first week of life had great difficulty in breathing, partly because their little lungs did not fill up properly with air.

All of the 129 infants they studied were either premature or delivered by cesarean section, or were born of diabetic mothers; in all such conditions, we know that it is harder for the child to start breathing than it is for most other children.

Now a study of these troubled children, and especially the ones delivered by cesarean section, suggests that the difficulty in starting breathing is not due to cesarean delivery in itself; perhaps the trouble with cesarean delivery is that when the obstetrician lifts the child out of the womb, he immediately goes ahead and ties the umbilical cord.

It will be interesting now

Mind Affects Body

I am much interested in a letter that I received from a woman who says that her husband feels his "manhood has been destroyed" by the little harmless operation of tying his spermatic cords (to make him sterile). This interests me because when performed on a normal man, this operation never has any effect on the fellow's sexual activity. But once in a few thousand cases, if the man is impressionable, nervous, worrisome or hysterical enough, he will get it into his head that he ought to be impotent, and then he will be perhaps until some doctor or his wife succeeds in talking him out of his fear and loss of confidence in himself.

My conclusion is that in a high percentage of cases, sexual impotence is due purely to some unfavorable mental impression. Often a man becomes impotent when his partner loses interest in sex, or after she has had a quarrel with him. Naturally, in such cases, the giving of even large amounts of male hormone has no effect.

Always, however, when a man of 40 or 50 finds himself impotent, he should have a thorough examination to make sure that he is not developing diabetes, or some nervous disease of the brain or spinal cord.

Many persons who think they are ill are suffering from nervousness. Dr. Alvarez discusses this in his booklet, "Triumph Over Nervousness." You may obtain a copy of it by sending 25 cents and a

Agencies Suggest Use of Permits

Klamath Falls—Acting under the terms of a new law passed last month by the State Legislature, the Klamath Forest Protective Association, Fremont National forest and Winema National forest have recommended to the governor that the 1963 forest fire season closure become effective at midnight Monday, May 25.

The recommendation includes most of the forest and brush land in Klamath and Lake counties. The new law empowers the governor to make this closure on the recommendation of the local fire control agencies. Their recommendations are based on fire danger conditions. Under the old law fire season became effective April 1 automatically, regardless of the fire danger.

When the season is declared effective, burning permits will be required for open burning within one-eighth mile of forest or brush land. Permits can be obtained at all offices of KPFA and at Winema ranger stations at Chemult, Klamath Agency, and in the County Veterans' Memorial building in Klamath Falls. Permits are not available at the office of the forest supervisor on Main st.

District Court Judge To Be Group Leader

District Court Judge L. L. Sawyer will serve as one of the group leaders at the "Alcoholic and the Court" conference to be held in Gearhart, Ore., May 23 through 25.

The conference, the first of its kind in Oregon, is sponsored by eight different groups. Judge Sawyer will be the discussion leader for the group Friday, May 24, at 10:30 a.m.

D'Anjou Pear Trees Should Be Sprayed

It is time to put spray on all D'Anjou pear trees with a crop and to Bartlett and Comice where rust and spider mite are present, Dr. Peter Westgard, entomologist, Southern Oregon Experiment station, and C. B. Cordy, Jackson county extension agent, have announced.

The spray is to kill spider mite, rust mite and psylla nymphs up to the hard shell stage. It is particularly important in the reduction of spider mite populations so later mite sprays will have a better chance to maintain control. If these pests are not present, Cordy said, this spray is not necessary.

The formula for the solution is one gallon of Volk supreme oil (or its equivalent) per 100 gallons. Thoroughly wet the trees, the agent said. If trees are large, 400 gallons should be used. Do not concentrate, the agent warned sprayers. Where the second bloom is appearing on Bartletts, sprayers should add one-fourth pound of neutral copper per 100 gallons. Oil should not be used if blight is present, Cordy warned, as it increases the spread of blight. All lime sulphur should be washed from the spray tank before it is filled with the other solution. Growers were cautioned not to use oil within 10 days of other materials and not to use oil if temperatures are above 90 degrees. Good agitation was listed by the agent as necessary.

The first cover spray will need to be applied in early June. The county agent said he would suggest a special spray for orchards which will not be picked.

San Francisco—(UPI)—There is only a 50-50 chance that negotiation will settle the work rights dispute between U.S. railroads and the operating unions, according to Daniel P. Loomis, president of the Association of American Railroads.

The Family Council

Editor's note: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, three editors and a woman's editor. Each article is a summary of a family disagreement presented to the Council. The Council deals with problems, major and minor, encountered by guidance counselors and social workers. Edited by Mrs. Alma Denny. (Copyright by General Features Corp.)

Esther C.—He should look for work that lets him come home every day.
Sherman C.—I'm the only one there with a wife who acts helpless.

Esther C.—My husband is a long-haul truck driver and most often he is away from early Monday to late Friday on a cross-country hitch. At first I didn't mind these absences, but now it's six years and three babies later—I need a husband around and the children need more than a week end father. I know Sherman could get local work, and even if he made less money, I wouldn't be so lonely and tied down. It would be worth it.
Sherman C.—My wife wanted me to accept the overnight jobs. The pay was almost double what I was making when we married, and it enabled us to buy our home. I was proud of her strength in being willing to be alone so much of the time, but now she's whimpering. I know it's hard, but other wives manage okay. She can hire a sitter if she wants to get out, and week ends I take the kids off her hands. I like my job.

The Council: Sherman likes his job, Esther likes Sherman, therefore (as the geometry books teach), Esther should like Sherman's job—or force herself to. But each of them likes their marriage, we trust, and so must strive to keep it a fulfilling, satisfying treasure for both. It's not this for Esther, and the trick now is either to help her see that adapting to Sherman's schedule must be her "leap of love," or to help him see that Esther isn't the resourceful, self-sufficient girl a trans-continental commuter needs as a wife, after all, but that she has other strengths. We'd tell her of wives who envy her being boss of her week days as to mealtime, bedtime, reading-time. She can watch TV shows her husband hates, invite friends and relatives he "can't stand." How about studying the evenings for a day so that week ends she can surprise Sherman with "Bonjour, mon cheri," instead of the usual "Woe is me."

ROSE GROWERS!

new health and vigor can be yours

ARE YOU WAN AND NERVOUS, WORRYING ABOUT YOUR ROSES?... WORN OUT TRYING TO BRING THE BLOOM BACK TO THEIR CHEEKS?... RUN-DOWN TRYING TO FIGHT OFF INSECTS AND DISEASE? HELP IS HERE AT LAST! ORTHO HAS PUT TOGETHER A ROSE KIT THAT TAKES CARE OF EVERYTHING BUT THE THORNS!

At last you can relax. Instead of struggling with a special spray for this insect and a special dust for that... or trying frantically to find the perfect fertilizer... you reach for one handy rose kit. The ORTHO people have packaged together everything you need to get the blooms you planted for: the ORTHO Rose Duster and a bottle of ORTHO Liquid Rose Food.

Rose Dust controls both insects and disease. And ORTHO Liquid Rose Food is just what the experts ordered to feed roses—a balanced formula in easily-digested liquid form.

EASY DOES IT

The ORTHO people wanted to simplify the time-consuming task of rose care. First they invented Rose Dust. By combining insecticides and fungicides, they did away with the need for doing two jobs: controlling diseases and halting insects. Then they developed the pliable plastic duster. You just aim the Rose Duster and squeeze. You put protection on blooms and leaves—"pouf"... like that! If you "pouf" around the rose bush about every 7 to 10 days during the growing season, you'll probably stop trouble before it ever starts. Rose Dust wards off most bugs and blights that ruin roses. Aphids, thrips, rose weevil, Japanese beetle, powdery mildew, black spot and rust.

ROSE FOOD FOR THOUGHT

Then they set out to make a perfect rose food. They had to find a formula that gave roses all the nutrients they need; a food that also gave a quick feeding for a surge of growth as well as a steady feeding to keep bushes growing strong. The answer: ORTHO Liquid Rose Food, loaded with nitrogen, phosphorous and potash. With a chelating agent added to "unlock" iron and other valuable minerals in the soil and make them available to the roots. They made it liquid so roses could take it in quickly through their leaves as well as through their roots. So ORTHO Liquid Rose Food goes to work fast, then lingers in the soil for lasting feeding. Result: you get bigger blooms and more of them. Longer, stronger stems. Healthier foliage.

WHAT PRICE GLORIOUS BLOOMS?

Now before you rush down to the bank to withdraw your savings to buy this kit, listen to the news. ORTHO Liquid Rose Food and the Rose Duster together in one box cost just $1.88. Ordinarily, you'd pay $2.28. You actually save 40 cents! So why not apply that to the purchase of an ORTHO Lawn Sprayer if you don't already have one? It's the perfect way to apply ORTHO Liquid Rose Food. It dilutes the liquid to just the right proportion as it sprays. And it gives you the perfect spray for proper foliar feeding. Extra bonus: it's guaranteed for four years.

So pin a rose on the gardener who visits his authorized ORTHO dealer tomorrow and gets the best rose deal going: the new ORTHO rose kit going for just $1.88. Better hurry; he only has just so many.
