

The Collector's Corner

The April 6 Carolina Charter stamp is colorful and pretty. It was issued to mark the 300th anniversary of a vast land grant that staggers the imagination of today, 1,500,000 square miles, reaching from Virginia to Florida along the Atlantic coast, and extending West to the Pacific ocean. Eight Lords were given this land for helping King Charles I of England to regain the throne.

We have these eight Lords to thank for much of our basic principles of American Freedom. The system they established was so liberal that many Englishmen considered it radical. These men gave us our law, "trial by jury," and religious freedom was part of their system.

Edenton, N.C., was selected as the First Day of Issue for this attractive stamp because it was one of the state's earliest settlements.

Our Freedom from Hunger stamp will be issued June 4. Many countries are issuing stamps the picture of bearded wheat. It is a nice symbol, and shows a type of food that can be eaten by people of all religions, and it can raise the nutritional standards throughout the world. The plight of little children being hungry is pictured on many of the world's stamps. A dinner sponsored by the Freedom from Hunger Foundation was attended by ambassadors from 104 countries, all members of the United Nations Food and Agriculture organization. The U.N. issued their stamps March 22.

Since the Iraq government was overthrown, all stamps featuring Kasseem have been destroyed. My letters from Iraq are franked with a stamp showing a lion either trampling or dragging a man. The new government in Iraq took over Feb. 8, our calendar, but Feb. 14, Ramadhan, their calendar.

In the days to come we will see U.S. stamps printed from a new nine-color press. This press is being built now by the Huck company.

My letters from Yemen are franked with overprint stamps, "Free Yemen Fights for God, Imam and Country." Right now my pen friends in this country of turmoil are having a hard time to get mail sent anywhere. They take a letter to the post-office, buy stamps, and place them on the envelope, then they are told no mail is leaving for at least a month. My pen friends that can afford it travel to another town. Many are told the same thing, yet a few letters have gotten out of the country.

The United Nations imprinted stamps on the April 26 issue of the 8c airmail, the 5c regular envelopes, and the 8c airmail and 4c regular postcards are colorful. The envelopes are executed in four-color offset lithography. A nice collection to have.

Many collectors like and enjoy using printed album pages, including myself, and at last, in the Philatelic world, we now have a friend.

Earl P. L. Apfelbaum has criticized stamp exhibitions for ignoring collectors who use printed album pages. Our stamp club will apply for the Maurice Apfelbaum Award, a polished gold medallion, named after the firm's founder, and the father of Earl Apfelbaum. This recognition makes many collectors very happy. Enter yours at our SOPEX 1963 stamp show Sept. 21 and 22, at the Girls Community club. Attend our stamp club meetings the first Thursday in each month. You are welcome.

PET TALK

By M. I. L.

A GOOD NEIGHBOR

"Love me, love my dog." is an old idea that causes a lot of trouble for dogs and dog owners. And even people who love their dog have a right to expect that you will be a good neighbor and will help your dog to be one.

Dogs, of course, are "man's best friend," but without training they can cause unhappy neighborhood squabbles and even cause serious damage. Many people are afraid of dogs; many people don't want dogs romping through their gladioli; few people enjoy being bitten or having their own pets chased, injured or even killed. Moreover, dogs that are uncontrolled and are not properly cared for by their owners cost taxpayers and philanthropists more than $50,000,000 a year in the operation of animal shelters, pounds and incidental services.

No one is going to love you OR your dog if you and your dog are a public and costly nuisance. Remember — whatever happens, it's not the dog's fault, it yours.

Have you obeyed the law by buying whatever license may be required for your dog?

Have you a fenced yard or are you in some other humane way keeping your dog under control at home?

When your dog barks excessively, do you call him into the house and give him a chance to calm down?

If you have a female dog, have you had her spayed, or do you keep her confined during her mating seasons?

Don't let your dog roam your dog at all times.

gets human companionship in its own home than if it is shoved outdoors every morning to wander at large. Especially, keep your dog from wandering through the countryside where it can kill wildlife, poultry or livestock.

Keep fresh water available to your dog at all times. Feed a varied, balanced ration regularly. Clip and brush often. A healthy dog with a glossy coat is a pride and joy.

If your dog is injured or ill, get professional veterinary care immediately.

Keep an identifying tag on your dog at all times.

And remember, your dog can't be a better neighbor than YOU are.
