Spring Concerts Given By High School Students

A concert Monday evening by the Medford High school orchestra brought the school's spring concert season to a close. The annual spring concert is a tradition with most high schools. They are planned not only to give parents and the public an opportunity to hear and see the students perform, but with the idea of enlarging the understanding and appreciation of music by both pupils and public.

More than 300 persons attended the concert by the 70-piece orchestra and it turned out to be an enthusiastic and appreciative audience. The applause was particularly warm for the two student soloists - Signe Lusk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Lusk and Phillip Frohnmayer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Frohnmayer.

Miss Lusk, in the ninth grade at Hedrick Junior High school, played the first movement of Grieg's "Piano Concerto in A minor" and young Frohnmayer the first movement of the Beethoven "Piano Concerto No. 3 in C minor". Both talented young musicians performed admirably; both were composed and responded to the audience applause with seemingly modesty. Both are from families where music is very much a part of daily living and where parents are trained musicians and can provide guidance and encouragement.

Miss Lusk was presented flowers and young Frohnmayer a gift from the orchestra and the director, John Drysdale.

Miss Lusk now studies with Sister Miriam Joseph of St. Mary's High school and Mrs. Nell Taylor is young Frohnmayer's coach. The former is also in the violin section of the orchestra, and the latter plays saxophone with the orchestra.

The orchestra opened the program with the first movement of McKay's "March to Tomorrow" and one of the more interesting offerings was "Pizzicato Polka" by Johann and Josef Strauss.

A reception sponsored by a group of parents of orchestra members followed in the school cafeteria. Parents and patrons clustered around the students and their instructors offering congratulations and praise for a good concert and a pleasurable evening.

Last week the school's main choir and sophomore choir presented a concert under the direction of Lynn Sjolund. This also was well attended, but unfortunately, it proved to be one of those times when audience latecomers and those leaving early - some for legitimate reasons - and those who merely open the auditorium doors to find out what is going on, were noisy enough to prove highly disturbing.

A requiem Mass by Faure was the main offering of the program and Director Sjolund reports that the young musicians of the choir particularly enjoyed rehearsing and presenting this music, an innovation for the school, musicians and others in the audience familiar with this type of number praised the presentation.

Soloists were Jean Allen, Jarl Dyrud and Roland Gangstee. Miss Allen has a sweet soprano voice and both young men also sing very well. Young Gangstee was particularly praised for his performance.

Strangely enough, the high point of the program with the audience proved to be a modern number "Jesus and the Traitors" which Director Sjolund had thought might not be too well received. Composed by the contemporary musician, Kodaly, the work is distinctly in the idiom of the present and these do not always find favor with an audience of parents. O.S.

Farm Bureau Women Elect

Montague - Mrs. George Fiocck was reelected as county chairman of Siskiyou County Farm Bureau Women at a joint meeting of the Edgewood and Shasta Valley Farm Bureau Women held recently in the Edgewood Farm Bureau hall.

Thirty women from two groups met for a potluck luncheon prior to the business session, conducted by Mrs. Fiocck. Other officers elected were Mrs. Roy Townley, vice chairman, and Mrs. Carl Rice, secretary-treasurer.

Speaker for the afternoon was Charles T. Baker, district manager for the state compensation insurance fund. He spoke on "Safety on the Farm", which he augmented with a film. He pointed out that the farm women could work at safety by putting on safety programs, or give safety reminders at each of their meetings.

Entertainment was provided by Mrs. Clifford Gustafson, piano teacher at Weed. Mrs. Townley gave a humorous reading.

Hikers, Fishermen Can Have Hot Meals; Wrap Food in Foil

Here's an idea for hikers, scouts, fishermen and other outdoor folks: It's easy nowadays to fix a hot meal in the field, by a stream or almost anywhere you decide to stop.

Only a little preparation is necessary, plus a source of drinking water at the site.

Pack provisions in a metal mess kit, available at surplus stores. Include these items - raw hamburger and bacon strips, raw sliced potatoes and carrots, all wrapped in foil; a packet of instant soup or cocoa; a chocolate bar for dessert; wood charcoal briquets for cooking.

At the lunch site light the fire. Place the food in the foil on the glowing briquets. Fill the mess kit with water and place it on the coals for use in making the soup or cocoa.

You'll have a hot meal to delight any palate.
