Salem - (UPI) - The civil commitment law - key bill in the package of new sex offender measures - was approved 25-3 by the Senate Wednesday and sent to the governor.

The measure provides for a civil complaint against persons believed to be sexually dangerous to children under 12 years of age, and allows confinement for specialized treatment.

In other action, the Senate approved and sent to the House a measure increasing District Court judge salaries from $10,500 to $11,000.

House measures approved by the Senate were bills which:

- Prohibit unfair practices against farmers who gather together to bargain in selling crops.
- Overhaul local budgeting procedures.
- Create a metropolitan study commission which is mandatory for Portland and permissive in areas such as Eugene and Salem to seek solutions to suburb problems.

Kennedy Promises Troops if Needed At U. of Alabama

Washington - (UPI) - President Kennedy has made it plain he will send federal forces, if necessary, to prevent Gov. George Wallace from blocking desegregation of the University of Alabama next month.

But Kennedy told his news conference Wednesday he hoped such action "would prove unnecessary." He added, "I hope this is a matter that can be settled by the local authorities in Alabama."

The President said he was obligated to enforce the federal court order directing the university to admit Vivian Malone, 20, and David McGlathery, 26.

Miss Malone intends to enroll June 10 for the summer term at the main campus in Tuscaloosa. McGlathery plans to enter the school's Huntsville branch the same day.

Wallace has said that he "will be present to bar the entrance of any Negro who attempts to enroll at the University of Alabama."

Kennedy did not specifically say he would send troops or federal marshals into Alabama, as he did in Mississippi last fall, he said.

"I know there is great opposition in Alabama, and, indeed, in any state, to federal marshals and federal troops. And I would be very reluctant to see us reach that point."

"But I am obligated to carry out the court order. That is part of our constitutional system. There is no choice in the matter."

Kennedy noted that Wallace had gone to the Supreme Court to protest the President's action in sending federal troops into the Birmingham area to guard against further race riots there. He said he welcomed this.

"So I would hope that the fact that the governor has chosen to carry out our dispute in the courts indicates that in the final analysis he will accept the judgment of the court as to my powers to use and control federal troops under certain considerations in various states," the President said.

Other points Kennedy made:

Civil Rights: The administration is considering legislation designed to give Negroes a legal means of ending racial discrimination rather than "taking to the streets" in demonstrations.

Wheat: There will be another chance for a wheat referendum next year and meanwhile there will be an opportunity to study the economic effect of the farmers' refusal to accept strict controls with price supports. Results of this week's referendum will have little effect on the consumer.

Space: Project Mercury astronauts told him this week they felt another Mercury flight would be worthwhile, but the National Aeronautics and Space Administration will "make the final judgment" on whether to discontinue the Mercury program.

Politics: Asked whether he felt Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, Gov. George Romney of Michigan and Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona looked like Republican presidential candidates, Kennedy laughed and said "I would say that if the call of the party came to any one of them they would answer the call." And, he said after a pause, "That's about my position, too."

Cuba: Suggestions that the United States may be planning to abandon its Guantanamo naval base in Cuba are "completely untrue."

Viet Nam: The United States will "withdraw any number of troops any time the government of South Viet Nam suggests it." He hoped it would be possible to withdraw some U.S. troops by the end of this year "in any case."

Discipline: He is not in favor of corporal punishment in schools, but believes in "very strong" discipline at home.

My dentures were killing me...
I tried all the pastes and powders and pads. Same old trouble! Rocking and slipping made my mouth sore and made me irritable. Then I spoke to my dentist. He told me about CUSHION, the soft-flowing plastic that molds to the gums. Now I eat what I want - enjoy what I eat - and my gums feel so good. CUSHION stays soft - that's its secret - and that was my relief. Mildly medicated to heal gum soreness; pleasant minty flavor guards your breath. Ask your dentist for CUSHION. You must be satisfied or you get your money back. Long-lasting supply - only $1.49.

$147 Million in State School Aid Approved by Subcommittee

Salem - (UPI) - The sum of $147 million in state aid for schools was approved Wednesday by the Ways and Means Education subcommittee.

It accounts for the biggest single chunk of the state's 1963-65 spending program.

The group approved an increase of about $9 per school child the first year and $11 the second year. Gov. Mark Hatfield recommended $10 both years.

The bill contains two appropriations. One would chip in $141 million to go directly to local school districts as basic school aid. The districts must make up the rest of their costs out of local taxes.

This is $148,296 more than the governor recommended. The second will provide $5.8 million for special classes for children who are physically handicapped, mentally retarded, gifted, or migrant - and for curriculum improvement.

The subcommittee increased the governor's recommendations for special programs by about $300,000, adding substantially to programs for retarded and handicapped, while cutting state aid for the migrant program to summer classes only.

In addition to approving sums of money, the subcommittee thoroughly overhauled basic school fund procedures. Accepting proposals by Rep. John Mosser (R-Beaverton), the group decided to try to get a more accurate picture of

Frost Damages Crops in Midwest

By United Press International
A May chill frosted tender fruit and vegetable crops in the nation's midlands today and broke cold records from Minneapolis to Little Rock, Ark.

The mass of cold air pressed down on most of the nation from the eastern slopes of the Rocky Mountains to the Atlantic Coast.

Farm experts were sure crops had been damaged in the Middle West. They feared for a large portion of Iowa's soybean crop, cherries and strawberries in Michigan, and new crops in Indiana.

The weather had never been so cold this late in the year at Des Moines, Iowa, which posted a 32-degree record breaker.

Other record setters included 34 degrees at Little Rock, 44 at Memphis, 28 at Minneapolis, 31 at Fort Wayne, Ind., 37 at Indianapolis, 34 at Evansville, Ind., 27 at Lansing, Mich., 31 at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., 30 at Grand Rapids, Mich., 34 at Charleston, W. Va., and 32 at Pittsburgh, Pa.

There were snow flurries at Buffalo, N.Y., and in Michigan's upper Peninsula.

Suspect Wounded in Police Car

Portland - (UPI) - A holdup suspect was wounded in a police car early today after pulling a gun and a detective was injured when the car then struck a bridge abutment, police reported.

The suspect, identified as Gilbert Lehman, 27, Albany, was in serious condition at Good Samaritan hospital with an abdomen wound. Detective Sgt. Donald Chapin suffered rib fractures, cuts and bruises when the police car went out of control.

Detectives gave this account:

The man identified as Lehman and another suspect were picked up in northwest Portland for questioning after a recent holdup and put in different police cars.

En route to the police station, Lehman pulled a gun which had been tied to the calf of his leg and pressed it against Detective Howard Weld. They grappled and the gun went off. The shot missed. The suspect was then shot and wounded as the police car struck the abutment. Weld escaped injury.
