

Dodgers Win 8th In Row; Drysdale Sidearms Bullets

United Press International
Don Drysdale and the Los Angeles Dodgers have a two-week reprieve today for National League winners who were hoping the 25-game winner of 1962 would fall victim to the Cy Young Award jinx.
"Forget it," Drysdale backs up his portion of the retort with three straight victories, giving him a 5-4 record, and the Dodgers back up their end with eight consecutive wins, giving them the longest winning streak in the major leagues this season.
The Dodgers and Drysdale extended their strings Wednesday night with a 7-3 triumph over the New York Mets. The win enabled the Dodgers to remain one game behind the first-place San Francisco Giants, with whom they open a three-game series in Los Angeles on Friday night.
Started Slowly
Drysdale started slowly this season and NL rivals hoped he might be victimized by the pitcher of the year award which previously had claimed Don Newcombe, Bob Turley, Vern Law and to a slightly lesser extent Early Wynn in the year after each won the honor.
But Wednesday night Drysdale was sidearming bullets behind an 11-hit attack that included homers by Tommy Davis and Frank Howard. The only hits off him were homers by Duke Snider and Tim Lincecum and he struck out six while walking three.
Hits Grand Slam
The Giants blitzed the Philadelphia Phillies 10-2, the Pittsburgh Pirates nipped the Houston Cubs 4-3, and the Chicago Cubs scored a 7-6 11-inning triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals in other NL action, Cincinnati at Milwaukee was postponed by cold weather.

Hardest Hit Ball Of Mantle's Life Nearly Into Orbit

United Press International
The dateline was New York, May 22—Gordo's day and Mickey's night.
Astronaut Gordon Cooper "o w n e d" the big town Wednesday during a tumultuous ticker-tape parade and dinner, but the night belonged strictly to fellow Oklahoma Mickey Mantle.
Of course, Mantle, or anyone else for that matter, would have to go a long way around the world in a capsule, but Mickey came close to accomplishing what no other major league player ever has done in the 40-year history of Yankee Stadium, and that includes such stars as Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig and Joe DiMaggio.
Mantle almost sent a baseball into orbit when he crashed a homer — "the hardest hit ball of my life" — against the uppermost facade of Yankee Stadium, a liner at least 100 feet in the air and 350 feet from the plate. The drive, which still had "rise" when it bounced off the facade, gave the Yankees an 8-7 victory over the Kansas City A's in 11 innings.
Had the ball cleared the facade atop the third tier it would have been the first fair ball ever hit out of the mammoth stadium. As it was, it topped any of the tape-measure homers the Oklahoma kid has unloaded in a brilliant major league career, even the celebrated 565-foot homer he hit in Washington in 1953.
Orioles Stop Tigers
In the other American league games the Baltimore Orioles defeated the Detroit Tigers 2-1, behind the effective pitching of Steve Barber and Wes Stock; the Chicago White Sox whipped the Washington Senators 9-3, with new Nats' manager Gil Hodges watching from the stands; the Los Angeles Angels nipped the Cleveland Indians 7-6 in 11 innings, and the Minnesota Twins defeated the Boston Red Sox 3-1.
By winning, the Orioles and White Sox remained tied for first place in the American league race, with the Yankees a game behind in third place.
Barber Wins Eighth
Barber gave up four hits and walked eight batters in the six innings he worked and gave way to Stock when he started the seventh inning with another base on balls. Stock promptly set down nine

Gil Hodges Skipper at Washington

By SAM FOGG
Washington — (UPI) — Jimmy Piersall may wind up playing for the New York Mets as payment for Gil Hodges, the surprise new manager of the Washington Senators.
When Hodges was given his unconditional release in order to succeed depressed Mickey Vernon as the Senators' field boss Wednesday, it was announced the Mets would receive nothing in return — except good will.
However, it was reported in Los Angeles Wednesday night that the Senators will offer the Mets a player as part of the deal. Speculation immediately centered on Piersall, a long-time favorite of Mets manager Casey Stengel who has been riding the bench in Washington this season.
Giveaway Unlikely
It seems unlikely that the Mets would allow Hodges, who was so popular with New York fans, to go to Washington without asking something in return. The club paid the 37-year-old first baseman in 1961 and also spent a bundle on Gil for surgery.
Hodges was stricken with kidney stones in mid-July last year and appeared in only 54 games. He underwent knee surgery during the off-season, then appeared in only 11 games this year before being placed on the disabled list with another knee ailment.
The announcement of Vernon's dismissal and the hiring of Hodges was made by George Selkirk, the Senators' general manager, who said Vernon would move into the club's front office as an "administrative assistant."

Experienced Pair Oppose Daltons in Mat Match Tonight

Haystack Calhoun, who at 501 pounds is known as the world's largest wrestler, will appear at the Medford armory on June 27 against an outstanding opponent, it was announced today.
A couple of experienced and top-rated grapplers will test the viciousness of Jack and Jim Dalton in the tag team match featuring tonight's all-star wrestling card at Medford armory.
They are Rocky Colombo, who holds the Pacific coast Junior heavyweight championship, and Andre Drappe, known as the Fabulous Frenchman.
Drappe was a member of the French underground when a youth during the war and was decorated for bravery under fire. He is a handsome and colorful wrestler who knows all of the answers on the mat. His partner, Colombo, is no stranger to local fans, having won his title in the armory ring and successfully defended it on the last card.
George Flanagan Jr., of Gun Fighters, Inc., a local gun club, will challenge Jack Dalton to a fast draw contest just before the main event.
Under tag team rules, only one participant from either team may be in the ring at the same time and the partner must remain outside the ropes until tagged over the top strand. However, the Dalton, who are notorious for rules violations, are expected to give the referee a busy
