Two Couples Married In Double Ceremony

Phoenix - The home of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Whisenant, 175 Hoyt lane, Phoenix, was the setting recently for a double wedding ceremony when their daughter, Miss LaWanda Ann Whisenant, became the bride of Donald George Rock, and Miss Carol Ann Krause, 16 South Columbus avenue, Medford, became the bride of their son, Norman Doyle Whisenant.

Miss Krause's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Esten Krause, South Columbus avenue. Mr. Rock is a son of Mr. and Mrs. David Rock, Detroit, Mich. His parents were unable to attend the ceremony and were represented by Paul Whisenant, a brother of Norman Whisenant, John Whisenant, Sunny Valley, another brother, gave the two brides in marriage.

Dr. P. Malcolm Hammond, minister of Ashland First Methodist church, officiated at the double ring rites held at 7 o'clock in the evening May 4. Fifty relatives and friends attended.

Daffodils, lily of the valley, and tulips decorated the living room for the ceremony.

The bridegrooms, both serving in the U. S. Navy aboard the USS Hancock, are storekeepers third class. The Hancock is scheduled to leave San Francisco for a Western Pacific cruise June 7 and the two brides plan to return to the Rogue valley.

The new Mrs. Norman Whisenant for her wedding wore a ballerina length frock of Alencon lace and rayon organza over taffeta fashioned with fitted bodice and three-quarter length sleeves. The full skirt had a front panel of lace and the cummerbund was accented with a front bow. Her elbow length veil of silk illusion was held by a crown of organza flowers and iridescent crystals.

The new Mrs. Rock chose a blue suit with white accessories. Her white hat held a short veil. Both brides had large purple orchid corsages which had been sent from Hawai. Mrs. Whisenant wore a white dress for the wedding and reception. Mrs. Krause chose a white lace dress over tan taffeta. Both had corsages of peppermint carnations.

At the reception Mrs. Willie Strawn, Medford, cousin of Mrs. T. J. Whisenant, cut and served the two wedding cakes after the brides and bridegrooms had cut the first pieces. Mrs. Lester Harris presided at the punch bowl.

Both couples traveled to Oakland, Calif., on their wedding trips and are making their home there until June 7. For traveling Mrs. Norman Whisenant chose a light blue suit.

Mrs. Norman Whisenant attended Medford High school and her husband, Phoenix High school. Mrs. Rock also attended Phoenix High school and was employed by Van Lee's in Medford. Her husband attended St. Mary's school in Detroit.

Bundy Gallery Names Competition Winners

Waitsfield, Vt. - Roger B. Jomey of Lake Mahopac, N.Y., has won first prize of $1500 in the Bundy Art gallery's sculpture competition. The winning piece, worked in polyurethane, is a non-objective bas-relief 89 inches high called "The Lion Tamer."

Second prize of $1000 was awarded to Abbott Pattison of Chicago for a welded bronze abstraction 84 inches high called "The Lion Tamer."

Third prize, $750, goes to Leo Steppat of the University of Wisconsin for his work in steel called "Dolmen for Thor," which is eight feet high.

Honorable mentions of $150 each were awarded to Peter Chinni and William Tarr of New York City.

The competition was judged by H. H. Arnason, vice president for art administration at the Solomon R. Guggenheim Foundation; Robert Goldwater, director of the Museum of Primitive Art in New York; and Mirko, resident sculptor at the Carpenter Center for the Visual Arts at Harvard University.

The sixty works selected by the jury will be on exhibit during June, July, and August in the sculpture gardens of the Bundy Art Gallery, a contemporary art museum in Waitsfield, Vermont.

The gallery, which opened last fall, was designed by Harlow Carpenter, son of Alfred S. V. Carpenter, Topsides, Old Stage road, Medford, and named for the architect-artist's mother, the late Helen Bundy Carpenter. The gallery, which opened last fall, is said to represent a new concept in the history of art museums. Harlow Carpenter, now director of the gallery-museum, started to collect works for it when he was a student at Harvard university.

Sojourners Entertain; Event Slated

About 50 women attended a recent meeting of the Sojourners club when a dessert luncheon was served and cards were on the program. Mrs. Grace Suttan was a guest, and Mrs. Eloise Faulkner attended as a new member.

Mrs. Ray Norton and Mrs. Mabel Wright won at pinocle; Mrs. I. W. Housechild and Mrs. Lillian Wood won at bridge, and canasta winners were Mrs. Walter Hatch and Mrs. Frank Rider.

A special prize was won by Mrs. Neal McGrady. The committee members in charge were Mrs. Arthur Backlund, Mrs. Don Stevens and Mrs. Elizabeth Shea.

The next meeting will be June 13 when officers will be nominated. An evening card party and potluck dinner is planned for June 15. Husbands or escorts are invited.

When moving heavy furniture, place socks on the furniture legs. This protection helps to prevent marks on bare floors or tile.

Officers Assist in Founding

Mrs. E. L. Bartholomew, Oregon state president of the PEO Sisterhood, returned to Medford last week, after having attended the organization of Chapter DN in Portland. She was accompanied by Mrs. Fletcher Fish, Phoenix, second vice president of the Oregon state chapter, and Mrs. Archie Fries, Ashland, state treasurer. The organization of Chapter DN brings to 117 the number of PEO chapters in the state.

In her talk to the newly organized chapter, Mrs. Bartholomew stressed the importance of the PEO projects: the educational loan fund, a revolving fund of nearly one million dollars; Cotley Junior college at Nevada, Mo., which is owned and operated by the PEO Sisterhood; the Cotley college scholarships and the International Peace scholarships.

Chapter DN was organized by Mrs. Robert Quinn, La Grande, state organizer, at the home of Mrs. Merle Moore, Portland. Several past state presidents were honored guests. They included Mrs. Raymond C. Lindberg, Mrs. W. Kenneth Rauch, Mrs. Fred Nestelle, Mrs. Ralph Day, and Mrs. A. E. Gilmore, all of Portland, and Mrs. Edward Seymour and Mrs. Joseph McCready of Forest Grove.

Chapter DN will be presented its charter at the Oregon State PEO convention to be held at Lewis and Clark college, Portland, June 17 to 19. The presidents of the four Medford PEO chapters will be in attendance: Mrs. William Leever, Chapter AA; Mrs. D. S. Chirgwin, Chapter BE; Mrs. Richard House, Chapter CG, and Mrs. Donald R. Gardner, Chapter CP.
