Youngster's Body Found in Reservoir

Stevenson, Wash. (AP)—The body of two-year-old Teresa James was recovered Wednesday from the deep Swift Creek reservoir.

She had drowned along with her brother, Mitchell, when they were trapped in a cabin cruiser that capsized Tuesday night.

Skamania county authorities said the boat apparently tipped when the steering cable broke, causing it to swerve sharply.

The boy's body was found late Tuesday.

Five persons survived the accident.

Radar Signals Said Bounced Off Planet Mercury

Pasadena, Calif. (AP)—Radar signals have been successfully bounced off the planet Mercury—60.5 million miles from earth.

Scientists at the California Institute of Technology Jet Propulsion Laboratory (JPL) said the signals, traveling at the speed of light, took only 11 minutes to make the round-trip to the smallest and hottest planet in the solar system.

Robertson Stevens and Walter K. Victor, co-directors of the experiment, said the first contact was made with Mercury May 6 when the planet was approaching its closest proximity to the earth.

The scientists said a preliminary analysis of the signal patterns indicates Mercury has a rougher surface than either Venus or Mars, but appears to have a surface reflectivity that is about the same as the moon.

JPL has successfully made radar contact with two other planets in the past—Venus in 1961 and 1962 and Mars last February. These radar returns are valuable in learning about the rotation rate, composition and surface characteristics of the planets. They also serve as an astronomical yardstick for the universe and provide invaluable information for future use in space flights.
