The Family Council

Editor's note: The Family Council consists of a judge, a phychiatrist, three clergymen, three editors and a women's editor. Each article is a summary of a family disagreement presented to the Council. The Council deals with problems, major and minor, encountered by guidance counselors and social workers. Mrs. L.D.—How can I make my daughter-in-law see a psychiatrist?

Gilda D. — Talk like that will break up my brother's marriage.

* * *

Mrs. L.D. — My daughter-in-law acts so peculiar that she must be sick. She admits she hates her father, yet she walked down the aisle with him at an elaborate wedding. Three hours after she and my son left on their honeymoon they were back in my home, and for nine weeks she refused to move to their own home. Now she does mean things like dialing numbers and not talking, or smashing my good china. She fools people because when she's nice she's really very nice. My son still can't see his own danger.

Gilda D. — My brother adores his wife, and finds exciting, cute or "just an accident" all the things my mother considers "nutty" about her. They've been married only five months and already they avoid our home because they feel my mother is too hard on Lily. For example, when Lily hammered a hole in the linoleum as she mended a picture frame, Mother accused her of doing it on purpose. All I know is that my brother seems satisfied and Mother must be quiet.

* * *

The Council: An underwater diver, Peter R. Wisher, has worked out a language for use among the coral reefs and octopuses. "We limit our vocabulary," he says, "to useful words. For example, there's no word for mother-in-law!" Well, not yet. But if wishes ever become submarines, how many Mrs. D.'s would be consigned to the bottom of the sea? . . . To answer your big question, Mrs. D., you'll never get Lily to a psychiatrist, not even to a general practitioner. She'll get to a doctor when she has a question, not you. Your best bet would be to communicate your fears to her doctor, without telling anyone. If he agrees with you, he'll have a better chance than you to win your son's and Lily's cooperation. But just suppose Lily feels it's you who needs therapy? Stop worrying about your son's marriage. If he should ask your advice, however, be sure you have a fair and constructive reply lined up.

Americans Die In Indian Crash

New Delhi — (UPI) — An Indian Airlines plane crashed today in northwest India, and an airline official said all 29 aboard were killed, including six Americans.

Among the victims were Prof. James C. Laverty, 40, of the University of Illinois, his wife, and their three children. One other American, identified only as a Miss P. Hardman, was among the passengers.

Ten of the victims were believed to be children.

An airline spokesman, who disclosed the crash, said the plane was flying from Amritsar, in the Punjab, to Srinagar, capital of Kashmir. It crashed near Pathankot.

The U.S. Embassy said the passengers included Laverty, 40, an associate professor of soil studies at the University of Illinois, his wife, Jeanne, 39, and their three sons, Stephen, 16, Michael J., 15, and Gregory J., 13.

Laverty arrived in India last December to teach soil management at the Balwant Rajput College in Agra under and American aid contract.
