

Nearly All Groups Register Decline in Stock Market

New York—Stocks went into reverse early today and fell ranging from fractions to more than a point were registered in most groups.

Youngstown led a soft steel section with a drop of nearly 1. Chrysler gave up a point in the motors where American Motors was the only gainer, adding a small fraction.

Eastman Kodak continued to hold a small gain in a lower chemical section which featured a loss of 1 1/2 in Du Pont. Price movements in the oils were mostly fractional and mixed but Wilcox stood out with a jump of nearly 2. Minneapolis-Honeywell gained more than 1 in electronics while IBM held unchanged and Beckman, Litton, Control Data and Texas Instruments eased.

Amalgamated Sugar, American Crystal and Holly were point sized losers in their group. Xerox and Polaroid lost more than 2 each and Bristol Myers slipped 1.

Kennedy Seeking Support on Rights

Washington—President Kennedy sought today to enlist the support of prominent businessmen for the civil rights program he plans to send Congress next week.

The President scheduled a meeting at the White House with 100 executives whose firms operate widely through the South.

Kennedy had hoped to get his special civil rights message to Congress today, but administration sources said he had postponed the legislation to await conferences—such as today's—which he and Atty Gen. Robert F. Kennedy feel are vital to success of the program.

One of the proposals under consideration is reported to permit the attorney general to file suits on behalf of Negroes excluded from public schools and other facilities. Another would forbid racial discrimination in businesses dealing in interstate commerce—presumably hotels, motels, some stores, theaters, restaurants and such.

Varsity Theater in Ashland To Open

Ashland—The Varsity theater, closed since former operator Russell Osborn was found dead April 27, has been purchased by Harry Arnold of Dunsmuir, Calif., and will reopen Friday, it was learned here today.

Arnold operates the California theater in Dunsmuir and will remain a resident of that community, however, he has named Mike Shirar, former operator of the Sparks theater in Sparks, Nev., to manage the Varsity.

NASSER CONFERS WITH RUSSIAN EDITOR
Cairo, U.A.R.—President Gamal Abdel Nasser conferred with Russian editor Alexei Adzhubei Monday, according to a government announcement here.

The announcement did not disclose the substance of the talks. Adzhubei is Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's son-in-law and editor of the Soviet government newspaper, Izvestia.

SOVIET UNION REVISES DEVELOPMENT PLAN
Moscow—The Soviet Union announced Monday it has revised its national seven-year economic development plan to emphasize the production of synthetic fibers and consumer goods.

The announcement said the changes will go into effect in the Soviet Union's 15 republics in 1964 and 1965. It said the council of ministers decided on the change to help satisfy needs, increase shoe production and replace strategic metals with chemically produced materials.

U.S. BOOKS ON EXHIBIT IN YUGOSLAVIA
Belgrade, Yugoslavia—An exhibition of 1,400 books printed in the United States opened Monday in Skopje, 210 miles southwest of here, according to the official Yugoslav news agency Tanjug.

It said the exhibition was sponsored jointly by the U.S. Embassy, the Yugoslav Commission for Cultural Relations and the Yugoslav Publisher's association. Most of the books displayed are copies of the classics, Tanjug said.

Gas Tax Increase Near in California

Sacramento—Gov. Edmund G. Brown today was only one vote away from being asked to put his signature on what he considers an increased consumer tax.

But he'll have at least a week before the problem is presented.

On a 60-13 roll call vote, the assembly Monday overwhelmingly approved a bill to raise California's 6-cents-a-gallon gasoline tax to 7 cents.

The bill, by Sen. Randolph Collier (D-Yreka) already has passed the senate, but must return to the upper chamber to gain approval of a major assembly amendment.

The amendment, sponsored by Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, allows California's counties to levy an additional 25 per cent automobile tax and use the money for rapid transit. The money would be collected by the state but distributed back to the counties.

In addition, the bill contains a 19 per cent across-the-board increase in truck weight taxes.

Among them, the provisions of the bill would raise more than $100 million—at least $70 million of which would be for use to improve deficiencies in city streets and county roads. The rapid transit feature, if fully utilized, could raise $38 million.

Although the senate could act today to agree to the assembly amendments, Collier said he would not press for approval until early next week.

Collier predicted that the measure would clear the senate in its modified form and reach the governor's desk.

Man Fined in Court For Leaving Scene
Charlie Mull, 56, of 2984 East McAndrews rd., was fined $100 in Medford municipal court this morning for failure to leave information at the scene of an accident.

The fine was imposed by Judge Pro Tem Donald Denman after Mull pleaded guilty to the charge.

Mull was arrested by city police earlier this morning on a bench warrant after he had failed to appear at a previously scheduled court hearing.

The charge was an outgrowth of a vehicle accident last week.

Angry Squabbling Marks Final Hour As Legislature Adjourns

Salem—The 1963 legislature ended, sadly and humorously, in a parody of its life.

Hurts of the session had cut deeper than anyone could remember.

Angry squabbling and choked recriminations dominated the final hour in the House.

The 60 representatives were so busy venting their rancor for the final time they did not realize until 11:55 p.m. they were about to go into their 142nd day.

The last fight came when the Senate decided to take a final dig at House Speaker Clarence Barton and Majority Leader Richard Eymann by amending a resolution so that a senator would be chairman of a Barton-Eymann panel.

Grants Pass Men Held for Burglary

Grants Pass—Two Grants Pass men, William Spencer Best, 27, and James Larry Williams, 22, were arrested early Tuesday morning on a charge of burglary and are in custody, city police reported.

The two men, according to police, were returning from a tavern when they noticed a cracked window in the Shelton Sporting Goods store and decided to break in and remove guns and a rifle. The guns were taken to Best's home, but the two men returned to the store to retrieve a tire iron left there.

They were reportedly seen about 1:50 a.m. by Arthur Missener, who was working late on books at the Shelton Auto Parts next door. He called police.

Best, who had cut his hand in the broken window, was apprehended, and taken to the hospital for treatment. Williams was later arrested at his home. Both were jailed by city police.

Area Teen-Agers Cited by Officers

Four area teen-age youths were cited by Medford police officers last night for violation of the city curfew ordinance.

About 12:20 a.m., a 17-year-old Prospect boy and a 17-year-old Eagle Point boy were cited. At 3:05 a.m., two Jacksonville youths, aged 16 and 17, were cited.

Appearances for the youths will be arranged in Medford municipal court.

The Interim Tax committee. The Senate also slashed the committee's funds.

Choice Faced
The House faced the choice of accepting the changes, or losing the committee altogether.

Eymann, who has taken a beating in recent days, pleaded for acceptance.

Then Barton took to the floor with a promise to throw the session—long House-Senate feud into the interim—between now and the next legislature.

"There's more than one way to skin a cat," he declared. Since there are more House members than senators on interim committees, he said he would seek a pledge from every House member he appoints to retaliate against the Senate on other committees.

Only an hour earlier, in a symbolic gesture, Barton had smoked a peace pipe with Senate President Ben Muss on the floor of the Senate, to the applause of senators, representatives and onlookers.

After Barton spoke in the House, several members, mostly Republicans, tried to object that his remarks did not reflect the thinking of the whole House. They were rapped out of order.

Demos Back Committee
The House approved the committee, with mainly Democratic support.

Rep. Katherine Muss, wife of the Senate president, stood and in a choked voice called the behavior of the House "a spectacle."

Then, while the recriminations continued, a few members suddenly realized the time.

Eymann hurriedly conferred with Barton, then galloped to his seat at the rear of the chamber.

With rapid whacks of the gavel, and with Barton speaking so fast he almost stuttered, the resolution for sine die adjournment was set at 11:59.

The Senate had waited patiently. Many senators had crossed to the House to hear themselves termed "vindictive," "willful" and "petulant men." Most of them chuckled.

But deeper down, the legislators were strained near the verge of collapse. The bitterness and bad taste of their feuding would remain for some time.

At 12:09, senators on one side of the capitol and representatives on the other heard the gavel banged for the final time. They sang "Auld Lang Syne" a little weakly, smiled, shook hands, and adjourned.

You clean Charlie, we'll clean the windows.

Chocolate, strawberry or vanilla windows come clean at the sign of the Chevron. It's part of our bumper-to-bumper service... along with a choice of 3 Chevron gasolines. Why three? So you can choose a gasoline made to fit the requirements of your car—without paying for extra power you can't use.

All three gasolines have Methyl* power—a research breakthrough in antiknock compounds that stands up under the extreme temperatures of high compression engines.

Unlike others, Methyl spreads evenly to all cylinders, giving uniform antiknock performance. And it combines with all the other ingredients required for the best performance a car can deliver.

For the very highest-powered cars, use Custom, highest-powered gasoline in the West. For other high-compression cars, fill up with Supreme. For cars that run on regular, choose Chevron.

You'll get on-the-road proof that we take better care of your car.
