Subdivision Plat Approved By Irrigation District Board

Medford Irrigation district's board of directors solved one subdivision problem, appeared near to solving another, but gained one more.

Siskiyou plat No. 1 of the Leever-Whalin subdivision on Murphy rd. near the golf course was approved by the directors subject to an attorney's legal approval. Frank Van Dyke, Medford lawyer, was asked to examine the plat. The new plat is not subject to irrigation assessments although it is within the district's boundaries.

The board had puzzled over the Leever-Whalin subdivision during four previous meetings. Main questions were who would maintain the ditch and be liable in case the ditch should leak or overflow.

Cost of Water Meter

Assistant Secretary Mrs. Jack Petterson was instructed to write the manufacturers to get the cost of a water meter. Subdivider Edward Stevens and his attorney will be informed of the cost. The district will install the meter at its own cost in the Hacienda subdivision in Phoenix but will not pay any of the purchase cost, the directors stated.

A letter from Manville Heisel, stevens' attorney, stated the subdivider would pay $200 of the originally estimated $400 meter purchase cost. An earlier board resolution called for the subdivider to pay both purchase and installation cost. A check on a 1957 brochure revealed the meter price might be closer to $300.

G. A. Cottingham, 1329 Queen Anne ave., asked the board to compromise on seven restrictions on property he and Glen Harrison, 1382 Kings highway, hope to purchase. The Springbrook rd. property is now owned by Richard Padgham, 1517 South Ivy st. and would be used for a subdivision, it was indicated.

MID Board Member Paul Culbertson noted that the 28 acres is on one of the major spillway accesses of the district. Property near it is subject to flooding during storms like the one last fall, it was pointed out.

The matter was tabled until an attorney could examine the property and plat. MID is without an attorney since Philip B. Lowry's resignation Tuesday.

The board considered a complaint that the bank of an irrigation ditch is sluffing off into the water. Board members said water illegally siphoned out of the ditch may be causing the sluffing.

The board rejected the request of A. L. (Tex) Nash, sand and gravel contractor, to purchase the district's Ellendale property.

Requested inclusion of properties belonging to Maysel E. and June Hoefft, off Orchard Home dr. and Cascade Ranches in the Lake Creek area owned by Glenn Jackson were tabled pending inspection by board members.

The water storage report noted that total MID storage is 19,383 acre feet and total TID storage 113,639 acre feet. MID's share of that is 7,898 acre feet.

Fish Lake has 6,321 acre feet and Four Mile lake 13,062 acre feet in the MID system.

Water In Lakes

TID's Howard Prairie lake has 60,637 acre feet, Hyatt 15,476 acre feet and Emigrant 37,526 acre feet.

The board decided nothing further could be done about requesting the state highway department to carry out its part of an oral agreement between Secretary-Manager Jack Hoffbuhr and a department official over an exchange of right-of-way property.

The small triangular piece of property is on the Bear creek siphon south of Phoenix. The highway department official earlier had agreed to ask the department to buy the property and give it to MID in exchange for access to irrigation district facilities it had taken for the freeway right-of-way. However, the necessary arrangements apparently were never made with the highway department's legal section, it was explained.

The Legislature—III

Excess Baggage Deleted From Constitution

The proposed constitution, less than half the length of the present one, did many things.

It dropped the excess baggage gathered in a century, it moved many details to the laws, it provided new flexibility, it cleaned up language, it kept most of Oregon's time-tested traditions, and it made some substantive changes.

The commission's draft was the most severe. The legislative committees moved back nearer Oregon's present constitution in many respects, too far back some thought. Even the legislators, however, insisted the executive branch must be strengthened.

This stopped the document near the end of its course through the legislature.

But it was clear the tide for revision was still flowing, and the legislative action, as far as it went, mirrored the strength of the tide.

Meanwhile, in case the new one didn't make it, the legislators didn't forget Oregon's present constitution, already amended 111 times.

Three more amendments were sent to the people for a vote next year.

The first, to go on the May ballot, is of crucial significance to higher education. It will ask voters to approve $30 million in bonds for college construction. Only $12.5 million would be used for classrooms and other instructional buildings in 1963-65, and the rest later.

The other two amendments will go to the voters in November, 1964.

One of these would abolish the death penalty.

Would Change Penalty

The amendment would take the matter out of the constitution and put it in the laws. There the bill would change the penalty for first degree murder to life imprisonment, with a mandatory 10 years in prison and lifetime parole after release.

Four persons now face execution in Oregon, but none would be affected if voters approve the change.

The third amendment would lift a restriction on the state's "lending its credit." The intent is to make it possible for the state to do such things as lease building space on a long-term basis.

Finally, the legislature also gave its share of attention to the United States Constitution. A proposal to ask the federal government to keep out of the legislative apportionment field died, but the legislature voted to ratify the amendment prohibiting the poll tax.

Local Man Injured In Vehicle Mishap

Charles Rupe Adamison, 51, of 839 East Jackson st., was slightly injured Wednesday when the car he was driving struck a parked vehicle about 11:10 a.m. near Hawthorne and East Main sts., according to Medford police.

Adamison was cited for violation of basic rule. He told officers he was forced to swerve his car to avoid an oncoming vehicle. The parked vehicle was registered to Nu-Way Cleaners, 601 East Main st.

Bessie Myers, 73, of 10 East Clark st., was cited Wednesday for failure to leave information at the scene of an accident. Officers said she was the driver of a car which struck a parked vehicle registered to Lanse Pitts, 1920 Cherry st., about 4:37 p.m. on Holly st. between Fifth and Sixth sts.
