Ford Collection of Paintings Now on Display in Valley

Ashland — An art "first" in the Rogue valley at Frames, Etc., 1951 Highway 66.

The internationally famous Ford Times collection of bird and animal pictures went on exhibit Saturday.

This particular collection, "The Birds and the Beasts," is one of 12 such groups of 30 each that have been selected from the Ford Times collection.

The collection represents the most extensive gathering of contemporary art in America and includes more than 6,500 published paintings.

Raymond Vandervalle stressed the importance of having the Ford exhibit in Ashland during the early summer season when many artists visit in this area.

New York Pollution Problem Avoided

New York — UP — Pumping water under a river seemingly makes as much sense as carrying coals to Newcastle.

But city officials here are pumping waste liquids under the East River through heavy industrial hose to avoid pollution of the river.
