Schrunk Intends To Keep CD Equipment

Portland — (UPI) — Portland Mayor Terry Schrunk has stated he hopes to keep as much civil defense equipment as possible despite the city council's recent decision to do away with the CD program.

Schrunk made the statement during a meeting of city officials and Oregon and regional Civil Defense representatives to discuss the phasing out of Portland's program.

"It is my hope and desire to keep every bit of equipment possible in the community for use in disasters, natural or otherwise," the mayor said. "I'm not the least bit interested in turning back any equipment to the federal government."

Portland State College Graduates Number 625
