Federal Research Money for Oregon Seen Jeopardized by Legislative Act

Corvallis—UPI—Dr. Arthur Fleming, president of the University of Oregon, said Tuesday he believed the legislature had put federal research money in jeopardy by reducing higher education salary requests.

Fleming said federal research money had been increasing of late. "This research money comes to us because of superior professors in the system, and it will certainly decline if our salaries do not permit us to attract and keep superior people," he said.

He said the federal research contribution to higher education amounted to about $18 million during the current biennium compared to $8 million for 1959-61. "That kind of money is definitely good for the economy of Oregon, and it just doesn't seem to be good business to discourage it."

Dr. Branford P. Miller, president of Portland State College, said cutting of financial requests "will not even permit us to maintain the standard of education in Oregon at its present level."

He said "the attitude of the legislature regarding education seems to be one of retrenchment rather than advance."

The college officials attended the State Board of Higher Education meeting.

William Walsh of Coos Bay, board chairman, said the legislature faced its biggest financial problem of any in the past 20 years.

Chancellor Roy E. Lilealton promised that physical transfer of patients from the Portland Tuberculosis Hospital to Salem would be on a timetable based on their health and welfare and promised "nothing less than the best that can be provided."

The Salem TB hospital fell under the board's control in a last-day compromise at the legislature. The board indicated a physician would be named as administrator.

Benefit to Help Heine's Juniors

Medford Moose lodge is sponsoring a fish fry Friday at 7:30 p.m. for the benefit of Blas Heine's Juniors. Proceeds from this will be used to buy more drums.

The group is being enlarged to qualify for entry in the Portland Rose Festival next year. It is planned to enlarge it to a total of 125 with the largest section being majorities.

Blas Heine, violin, and Ralph Etzel, banjo, will furnish the dinner music. Also on the program will be a comedy number by Clifford Rice, governor, and Heine. Other novelty numbers are also being planned for this event.

The group recently participated in the Brookings Azalea festival and will also be seen in parade and program at the Ashland July 4th celebration.

Yemen Mission Approved; Money Still Plagues UN

United Nations, N.Y.—UPI—The Security Council debate on financing a United Nations peace mission to Yemen left the world parliament today as far away as ever from solving its money problems.

The resolution adopted by the 11-nation council Tuesday sanctioned the dispatch of UN observers to Yemen, but it skirted the key question of what UN body is responsible for arranging financial support for such operations.

A last-minute compromise averted a showdown that might have helped shed some light on the protracted UN fiscal crisis. Consequently, the whole problem reverted to private consultations for a formula to meet expenses of future peace-keeping costs.

The Afro-Asian powers, the only non-Communist group still to approve a formula, worked under an appeal to complete their negotiations as a fiscal agreement can be voted in the 11-nation General Assembly.

Jan Paul Bannier of the Netherlands, chairman of the assembly's budgetary committee, called off today's meeting and appealed for an end to all private consultations by Thursday.

The assembly has been meeting in special session for more than four weeks in an attempt to devise means of erasing a $100 million debt and paying future peace-keeping costs on a basis equitable to all members.

The huge deficit is largely the result of the refusal of the Soviet bloc countries, France, South Africa, Portugal and several other states to pay their shares of the peace-keeping costs in the Congo and the Middle East.

Handling of Scandal Given Full Approval

London—UPI—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's cabinet threw its support solidly behind him today with full approval of his handling of the scandal threatening to topple his government.

Well-informed sources said the cabinet members gave Macmillan their complete backing during a two-hour secret session that was one of the most dramatic since the Suez crisis nearly seven years ago. The action put the cabinet squarely behind Macmillan for his confrontation with the Labor opposition at next Monday's parliamentary session on the security aspects of the scandal.

The backing of the cabinet was a key move in Macmillan's fight to retain his leadership of Britain and stave off mounting demands that he resign.

Crisis Reaches Apex

The crisis reached its apex when former Minister of War John Profumo admitted last week he had lied to the House of Commons about his links with London playgirl Christine Keeler. He admitted his statement that there were no "improprieties" in his relationship with her was untrue. Then he resigned.

The possibility of a security compromise arose when it was disclosed that Miss Keeler, a 21-year-old model, also was seeing a Soviet former assistant naval attaché in London at the same time Profumo was seeing her.

Calls It 'Triumph'

However, well-informed observers said Lord Dilhorne, the lord chancellor, is believed to have reported that national security did not suffer in the three-way relationship between Profumo, Christine and Soviet former attaché Evgeny Ivanov.

One government source called the cabinet session a "triumph" for Macmillan. The prime minister needed his cabinet's support in the forthcoming debate on the scandal's security angles, a debate demanded by the opposition Labor party.

Macmillan also had to rally the cabinet's support in the face of grumbling from within his own Conservative ranks, where backbenchers fear the scandal will further hurt the party's already slipping chances in the next general election.

FORMER HITLER AIDE TO MISS REUNION
Wilhelmshaven, Germany—UPI—Karl Doenitz, one-time grand admiral and briefly Adolf Hitler's successor as German Fuehrer, Tuesday cancelled his announced participation in a meeting of World War II navy veterans here in face of mounting public criticism.

City councilmen had made it known they would withdraw their sponsorship of the meeting, expected to draw 10,000 navy veterans, if Doenitz did not stay away.

INSECTICIDE BLAMED IN VENEZUELA DEATHS
Caracas, Venezuela—UPI—Three farmhands were reported dead in northwestern Venezuela today and 26 were seriously ill, apparently as a result of drinking water accidentally contaminated by a chemical insecticide.

RUSSELL REPRESENTATIVES TO VISIT IRAQ
London—UPI—Earl (Bertrand) Russell, British philosopher and a prime mover of world peace organizations, will send three representatives to Iraq to investigate conditions there at that government's request, it was announced today.

Senators also had to rally the cabinet's support in the face of grumbling from within his own Conservative ranks, where backbenchers fear the scandal will further hurt the party's already slipping chances in the next general election.

Senate Receives California Budget
Sacramento—UPI—The Senate's version of California's budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1 was ready for action on the upper chamber floor today.

It totaled $43,382,000 less than the spending program proposed early in the year by Gov. Edmund G. Brown as his blueprint for financing the nation's largest state.

The complete sum was $3,207,019,000 compared with a money bill of $3,249,401,000 originally submitted by the governor's bill.

The Senate bill also was substantially less than the Assembly version totaling $3,248,316,000 which majority Democrats pushed from the lower chamber Tuesday on a 51-28 vote.

Actually, the Senate trimmed $86.9 million from the bill but the administration augmented it by $23.6 million to diminish the size of the ultimate measure.

Russia Preparing To Launch Woman
Moscow—UPI—Communist sources said today the Soviet Union is preparing to send the first woman into space, possibly this week.

There was no official confirmation of the report and the length of the space shot was unknown.

But the sources hinted it might last eight days. The current record is 94 1/2 hours—an hour and one-half short of four days.

Unconfirmed reports of a planned space flight by a woman have been circulating in Moscow for some time. Two candidates were said to be ready, one of them possibly a back-up pilot.

The latest unofficial information circulating the Soviet capital indicated a blastoff could take place anytime between now and the opening of an International Women's Congress on June 24.

Department Seeks Sugar Hoarders
Washington—UPI—The Agriculture Department Tuesday started searching for persons holding abnormally large stocks of sugar.

The department said it had asked cane sugar refiners, beet sugar processors, and importers of refined cane sugar to report by June 30 the names and addresses of all recipients to whom they shipped a carload or more of sugar during April 1-May 31, and the quantities shipped.

The department said the increase in sugar stocks of more than 500,000 tons since the beginning of the year was an important factor in the rise of sugar prices.

The U.S. Navy minesweepers Cove, Pivot and Pluck are due Thursday.

The 17 ships carry nearly 3,000 officers and men.
