

Tribute Paid E. H. Hedrick By Historical Society

Members of the Southern Oregon Historical Society, with whom he worked for many years, paid tribute to the late E. H. Hedrick at the annual meeting in Jacksonville.

A resolution, passed at an earlier meeting of the society, was read, following the announcement that the office of vice president, held by Mr. Hedrick until his death, would have to be filled at the election.

The resolution stated in part: "With the passing of E. H. Hedrick, vice president and longtime member of our society, we have lost a loyal friend and valuable person. To those of us who worked with Mr. Hedrick through the years the loss is almost irreparable. He was an able historian. Inasmuch as he was born and reared in Southern Oregon, he sensed the spirit of our community better than many of his associates.

"Wise, human, tolerant and charitable, all those qualities were a part of E. H. Hedrick. We shall miss him and cherish his memory."

Dr. Arthur S. Taylor was elected to succeed Hedrick. Re-elected to office were Miss Claire Hanley, president, and Mrs. Edith Gifford, secretary-treasurer. Named to the board of directors were: Verli G. Barnhouse, L. G. Morthland, Robert D. Hefferman Jr., and W. E. Thomas. Announced as hold over members of the board were: Raymond Reter, Frank Ross, Harry Barnburg, Glenn Simpson, Herb Grey, and R. J. Tetreault.

Miss Mary Hanley, curator of the Jacksonville Museum, gave her annual report, showing that the museum is continuing to grow both in attendance and in the exhibits entered. Visitation at the museum since Jan. 1 of this year totaled 17,634, an increase of 1,942 over the same period for 1962.

Miss Claire Hanley, presiding officer at the meeting, invited all members and guests to visit the museum following the program and announced that cataloging of newspapers and documents is the new museum project.

Dinner for the annual meeting was served by the Jacksonville Order of Eastern Star.

Local Hospital In Bishop's Will

Portland - (UPI) - The estate of the late Bishop Benjamin Dagwell, retired head of the Episcopal Diocese of Oregon who died last week, was estimated at more than $225,000 by executors of his will.

Most of the estate was left to charitable institutions, parishes and clergymen.

Among those named in the will was the Rogue Valley hospital of which Bishop Dagwell served as president of the board of directors for more than ten years. The hospital is to receive $5,000.

Uncle Sam To Pay Portion of Higher State Income Tax

Salem - (UPI) - The $48 million state income tax increase adopted by the 1963 legislature ups the state tax 28 per cent.

The federal deduction has been eliminated, but you can deduct the full amount of your higher state tax from your federal income tax return. This means a slightly lower federal tax, hence in effect Uncle Sam will be paying part of your higher state tax bill.

Wage earners who have their state income tax withheld from their pay checks won't notice the difference until their first pay check in October. That's when the new rates are expected to go into effect.

The new state income tax measure will become law Sept. 2 - unless it is referred by the voters.

If it is referred, the legislature has set aside $300,000 and a date in October for a special election.

Under the new tax measure, the familiar $600 exemption is gone. It has been replaced with a $22 credit for each dependent.

The bill provides a minimum tax of $5, or 1 per cent of adjusted gross income, whichever is greater.

The bill also includes "fractional rates" ranging from 2 to 7 1/2 per cent, and designed to put taxpayers in the next highest bracket after each moderate increase in income.

The rates start at 2 per cent, then increase in quarters a percentage points to 7 1/2 per cent. Most steps are graduated up for each $500 increase in taxable income.

The new bill gives unlimited medical deduction in excess of 5 per cent of income, adds a student exemption, and allows heads of households to file joint returns. The measure also allows a 5 per cent standard deduction.

The capital gains tax is liberalized, and corporate excise taxes were increased.

If the tax bill doesn't raise enough money, a one-shot spurt-up of withholding taxes can be used to bring in about $14 million at the end of the biennium.

If the bill raises too much money, provision has been made for all surplus in excess of $10 million to be applied as an offset against property taxes.

The original title of the tax measure, "relating to personal income and corporation excise taxes," was changed by the conference committee to include "and local property tax relief."
