Corpus Christi Feast Scheduled

Corpus Christi, the feast commemorating "the institution of the sacrament of the Eucharist," will be celebrated in Sacred Heart church Sunday. At 11:30 a.m. a high mass will be sung by the Very Rev. Carl Mai, assisted by servers from the Knights of the Altar. Music will be furnished by the Marian choir.

Following the mass a solemn public procession will proceed around the outside of the church, then reenter for the celebration of Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

According to Father Mai, the actual institution of the sacrament is commemorated on Thursday of Holy Week, but because of church pre-occupation with the other solemn observances during that time, the feast of Corpus Christi was established in the 13th century to call attention to the sacrament of the Eucharist.

Guest Speaker Is Named for Sunday

Central Point - Dr. Charles Donald Krug, Sacramento, Calif., will be the guest speaker at the Sunday morning service of the Presbyterian church, Central Point, Dr. and Mrs. Krug and family will be honored at the coffee hour directly after the service.

Youth fellowship will meet at the church at 7 p.m. David Christie will lead the worship service and Miss Sharon Ek-dahl will be hostess for the fireside at her home, 49 1/2 South Second st.

Gold Hill Pastor Is Reappointed

Gold Hill—The Rev. Lochlen L. Gregory has been reappointed to serve as pastor of Gold Hill Community, Methodist church for the conference year. He was among more than 300 Methodist ministers and laymen who attended the annual session of Oregon Annual Conference meetings last week at Salem. He has been pastor here since October, 1960.

The sermon message will be given by Mr. Gregory during the 11 a.m. worship hour Sunday.

Work is under way to erect a church building on the property on Red Blanked rd. near the hall. Church members have been holding work sessions each Tuesday evening.

Child's Interests To Be Considered In Vacation Plans

By DAVID NYDICK UPI Education Specialist Parents and children presently are making plans for the summer vacation. One decision concerns the continuation of academic activities versus relaxation and recreational activities. The answer depends upon the needs of the individual.

The majority of children probably should have a vacation away from educational pressures. They have worked hard during the year meeting the demands of the school program. They will appreciate the opportunity to live without the tight routines of a school schedule. This does not mean complete chaos but does mean a relaxed plan.

Naturally there are many ways to spend a summer away from academic pressures. The choice should involve the child's interests, abilities and age.

Many Situations Although most students will spend their vacation away from rigid routines, there are many special situations to be considered. Careful evaluation should be given to decisions which might involve studies during the summer.

College students sometimes want to attend summer classes in order to graduate early. If this is for monetary reasons, they should think about earning money at a summer job which could help pay winter expenses. Besides the money, they will be gaining valuable experience and a change of pace.

Special seminars in which college students travel and study abroad can be desirable. There is value in activities of this nature where students gain first hand experience and purgify their specific interests.

Very Little Choice Secondary school students who have to make up courses may have very little choice. In such cases the school often requires attendance for part of the summer.

At the elementary level, you will not find very many regular summer school programs. Most plans are for individual or small group tutoring. Some students with psychological or physical problems may benefit from programs of this nature. This matter should be discussed
