MANOR-ISMS

By ETHELYN EVANS

Tudor guild served its annual dinner for the 1963 Oregon Shakespearean Festival season in Ashland to more than 200. Producer Angus Bowmer and Mrs. Bowmer and General Manager William Patton and Mrs. Patton joined association members, directors, staff, technicians, and all the company of young actors. This is always the first get-acquainted, social affair of each season. The dinner is also by way of being congratulatory for those who received the acting parts they had sought and consolation for those who were disappointed. Mrs. Richard Gray, general dinner chairman, Mrs. Elliott MacCracken, president of the guild, Robertson Collins, son of Rogue Manor's Earl Collins, and Angus Bowmer, himself, offered cordial and interesting greetings. However, the outstanding and absolutely incredible feature of the program was Mrs. Bowmer's notes or lists or help of any kind - introducing the entire staff and company, recognizing each and remembering the correct names, where he or she was from, and the proper college affiliation. She had met most of them about one week before the dinner. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gray, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Windt, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Evans and Mrs. C. Reese Braley served on the welcoming committee. Stage Manager Fred Chapman and family and Miss Cecil Berry from Vancouver, B.C., were at our table. Miss Berry was jubilant as she had been cast in two coveted parts. Mrs. Braley flew back from the East just in time for the dinner. She had spent three weeks visiting a brother in Washington, D.C., another brother in New York City, and had attended her class reunion at Smith College, Northampton, Mass. Mrs. Charles Davis was another Manor guild member who attended and helped with the dinner. A full bus load of our members has returned from a thoroughly enjoyable two-day trip to the Oregon coast, stopping overnight in Coos Bay. The weather was somewhat cooperative, they report, and they saw many, many beautiful flowers, as well as the broad Pacific, which was the principal object of the trip. A full-fledged exodus is in process on this Hill. At our side door each morning there is a small traffic jam of cars loading up for the take-off, while from the front entrance members whiz off in taxicabs for the bus stations and the airport. Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Anderson, having taken a motor trip over the new Rogers highway in Canada, have infected about half of the members with their enthusiasm. Mr. and Mrs. Ted Coates, the Ray Neptunes and Mrs. Charles Davis, who is sharing her Thunderbird with Miss Irma Barnes, Dr. Edith Robb and Mrs. F. M. Murdock, are leaving this week for the selfsame trip. Mrs. Graham Foote is planning to take Mrs. Braley, Mrs. W. W. Howard and Miss Hazel Calbeck in her car at a future date, and my husband has also succumbed and insists upon starting out almost immediately. I, of course, gladly go along for the "buggy ride." After all, it is now vacation time for almost everyone; and for a long time this column will have to be on an irregular Sunday schedule. I plan to take along a few notes and my trusty, rusty, old Betsy (typewriter) and something exciting could come up en route, you know. Whenever I can mail a column back and Ye Editor of the Women's Section of the M. T. can manage to wedge it in, I do hope you find it. Bye now!

Potluck Dinner Ends Activities

A potluck dinner held at the home of Mrs. Herbert Seitz, 2502 Walden place, June 12, concluded the busy year of the Medford Lions auxiliary. Following a brief business meeting and reports of the committee chairmen, Mrs. John Henson, president, presented her officers with gifts. Mrs. Edward Ashton, immediate past president, presented Mrs. Henson with a coin glass bowl in behalf of the group. In a candlelight ceremony conducted by past presidents, Mrs. Joseph Tomjack and Mrs. Alan Jewett, two new members, Mrs. John Hatfield and Mrs. Robert Stokes, were initiated into the club.

RNA Lodge, Club Picnic Planned

Royal Neighbors of America lodge and Mistletoe club members and families plan a joint picnic at Hawthorne park Thursday, June 20 at 6 p.m., unless the weather is inclement. Juvenile lodge members will be honored. Those who attend should take picnic lunches.

Navy Mothers

An all-day meeting has been announced for the Medford Navy Mothers club Tuesday, June 18 in the home of Mrs. James Wicker, 809 Adams lane, Medford. Mothers of Navy, Marine Corps or Coast Guard personnel are invited into the club.

Humorous Initiation Conducted by Lodge

Yreka - A humorous mock initiation highlighted the last meeting of the Pythian Sisters. Kenneth Bley was the candidate initiated into the mysteries of the order. During the business session, presided over by most excellent chief, Mrs. Ernest Johnson, the charter was draped in memory of Mrs. Clara Henderson, who held the office of excellent junior. The June 28th meeting will be held outdoors. The theme will be a "Trip to Reno." Refreshments were served in the banquet room around tables decorated with bouquets of red roses in white containers. The committee was composed of Mrs. Chester Barnett, Mrs. Emma Ahlgren, and Mrs. Althea Smith.

Veni - Vidi

By MARGARET SCHULER

Roma - Almost everyday, at the little kiosk at the corner, I find a new book about Rome; impressions and descriptions by some person or other, each with a different angle, viewpoint and approach. Summing them all up they add to the fact that Rome is tops. Many Chamberlain wrote the one I wish I had thought about writing, and had been as clever as she is, to do it in the same way. Many Chamberlain is an American from Indiana who came to stay in Rome for three months, and has been here ever since - three years. She knew all roads lead to Rome, so that eliminated her boarding the wrong train. She knew that to endure herself to the Romans, socially, she simply had to "do as the Romans do." She had a list of "great eating places," given her by well heeled friends, and a list of "wonderful little restaurants" given her by tightwad, low budget friends. She had stored away in a cellar corner of her mind several Latin declensions and the first line of Julius Caesar to keep her in touch with the language. Faithful to custom, she watched the sunset on her first day from the Villa Borghese on the Pincia. It took Rome exactly 24 hours to reduce her to a state of conviction that anything seemed possible. "Dear Friends and Darling Romans," to those who know Rome, is alive and poignantly real. She writes what all of us see, but cannot quite express, with understanding and love, and sympathy and humor. She says, for example, "The air splits with racket of racing engines, unmuffled exhausts, outlaid horns, whining rubber, the cries of vendors of fish, mops and brooms;" "The pavement groans and trembles beneath the tracks of antiquated trams, of autobuses and automobiles." She was shocked to discover that Rome is full of Italians. The Rome she had had in mind was a solemn museum, maintained by just enough native personnel to keep it functioning for the tourist trade. To her delight and amazement the Rome that is, is a perpetual festival of melodrama and comedy.

Papa, Pa, Paw Now Rarely Used, Survey Indicates

Kansas City, Mo. - (UPI) - It will be "father" or "dad" or "daddy," or even "pop" who will get all the attention on Father's day, but some of his old time titles are disappearing from the American vocabulary. "Papa," the name most youngsters called their fathers 50 years ago, has all but disappeared from American usage, researchers at Hallmark cards report. "Pa" and "paw" also are rare nowadays. The greeting card firm's survey indicates that the modern father is most frequently identified as "daddy" until his children reach the age of 10 or 12. Then it's usually shortened to "dad" or "pop." But if he's identified as "father" when the children are very young, the name usually is retained even after they are grown and have youngsters of their own.

Group To Hold Potluck Dinner

Jacksonville - A meeting of the Royal Arch Widows, preceded by a potluck dinner, will be held Tuesday, June 18 in the Jacksonville Masonic temple. The event will begin at 6:30 p.m. All Royal Arch Masons and guests are invited. Mrs. Roy Picard will be chairman assisted by Mrs. Robert Shores and Mrs. Mabel Robinson.

Visit Parents

Ashland - Guests last week at the home of their parents were Mr. and Mrs. Victor York and son of Corvallis. They visited with Dr. and Mrs. M. E. Woodell, 650 Leonard street, and with Mr. and Mrs. V. J. York, 227 West Hersey street. Mr. York is attending Oregon State university.
