

Dellenback Says Government Being Caught in Grindstone

"I think government is close to being caught in a grindstone," John Dellenback, Medford attorney and state representative from Jackson county, said yesterday in a report to Medford Kiwanis club members on the 1963 session of the Oregon Legislature. "I am deeply concerned," he said.

Dellenback pointed out that, as taxes increase they continue to grind down the incentive for profiting more from business and cut down the urge to do better. He also said that as government continues to do more and more for people, it takes away their urge to do something for themselves.

The legislator remarked that the grind on both sides is taking away the drive that has made this country what it is. "The mainspring of what has kept us going is going to run down," he warned.

Dellenback recognized the need of doing something for the people, but not at the expense of breaking down the system in the process.

The attorney opened his talk by reiterating an opinion expressed two years ago after his first session in the Legislature.

He maintained that the first vote cast in the Legislature in each session for presiding officer is the most significant one. The speaker of the House and the president of the Senate, he elaborated, appoint committees and determine which committees bills go to. They have, he said, "a hand for good or evil."

Weld Committees

Dellenback spoke of the need to weld into the Legislature committees the abilities represented in the House or the Senate regardless of politics. He maintained that weakness on the part of the majority part showed in the last days of the Legislature and that there was a breakdown in the leadership of the majority party.

The Jackson county representative said he felt there was much more politics involved in the 1963 Legislature than in the 1961 session. But, he said, this does not mean that politics is involved in everything done in the Legislature. He mentioned the long hours applied in committee work, and said that most of the problems that come up before committees are non-political.

Dellenback reported that legislators had a dedicated interest in keeping expenditures down.

Down to the last week, the Medford man said, the legislators had done everything except make decisions on three most important things, taxes, the budget and the new constitution. Dellenback declared that the new constitution was one of the significant things the Legislature had an opportunity to deal with and did not.

Heavy In Middle

In discussing income tax changes made by the Legislature, the legislator said that the significant increase of $45 million to $50 million will be heavy on the middle bracket of taxpayers. Dellenback brought out that the federal income tax deduction is eliminated. He stated that the increase in corporate tax rates was strictly political, a token increase and not a significant change.

The new law, he said, calls for a minimum tax. There are changes in exemptions and head of house and in capital gains tax rules. Dellenback termed the dropped rates "a loser although it looks good on paper."

Dellenback, who said that he was not a sales tax advocate when he went to the Legislature, maintained, "Unless we are prepared to carry increasing costs in income taxes, we are going to have to start some way in the sales tax direction."

He reported that the bill to refer to the people the issue of a sales tax as income tax offset was rejected in the Legislature on a purely political basis.

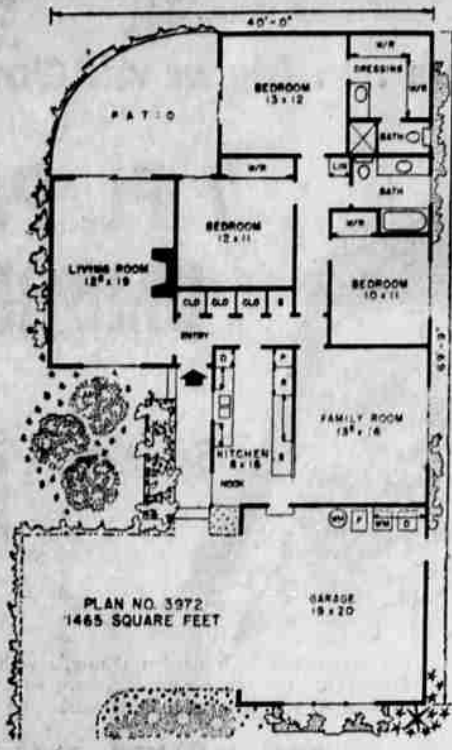

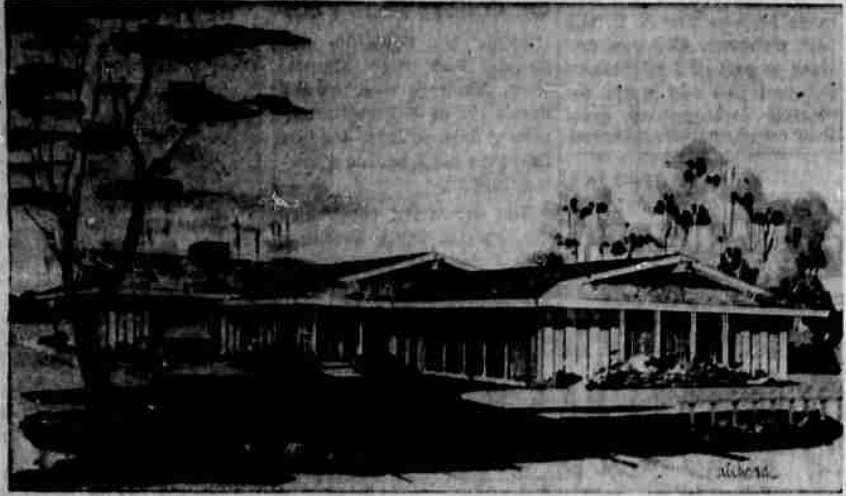

Mistake Being Made

The Medford legislator said that he felt a mistake is being made in the way basic school support is being handled in the Legislature. He said this matter is a key measure from an education and property tax standpoint.

The measure should be handled early in the session and "should not be on the basis of what is left in the kitty," Dellenback stated that leaving to last what ought to be first makes education a "whipping boy."

"Your government is no better than those you send there," Dellenback stated. "Your government is a reflection of you. Put the people there who'll do the things you want."

This Week's Plan for Home Builders

By HIAWATHA ESTES

There's something wonderfully special about the design of this highly appealing home. Although it has been planned for a narrow lot, it has a majority of the features which are only found in much wider and larger homes.

Some home owners prefer a living room which is located at the rear of the house while others like a front living room. This "dead-end" side living room offers all the advantages of both. A picture window provides a wide view of the street while the sliding glass doors at the rear make the living room seem to almost be a part of the patio and vice versa. The partially roofed patio is also accessible from the master bedroom.

The excellent traffic pattern makes it possible to enter and leave and go to and from one area to another without disturbing the activities in any room.

Storage Space

The disadvantage of many compact homes is the lack of storage space. This is certainly not true here. A guest closet, two general storage closets, a broom closet and a linen closet to the hall. In addition, there are wide wardrobes in each bedroom with built-in drawers completely across the bottom of each wardrobe.

One can enjoy a wide view to the front of the house from the lower windows in the nook area which also floods the kitchen with sunlight. The layout of the plan is greatly enhanced by the proximity of the kitchen to the front entrance and the door which opens to the garage. Only a partial wall separates the built-in range from the family. The remaining full wall allows for more storage cabinets in the kitchen and additional wall space for furniture arrangement in the family room.

Kennedy Plans Brief Stop at Camp David

Washington—(AP)—President Kennedy plans to spend Saturday at Camp David, the presidential retreat near Thurmont, Md., before leaving on his European trip Saturday night.

Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said Wednesday Kennedy would fly by helicopter from Camp David to Andrews Air Force Base, Md., and leave for Europe at 8:30 p.m. (edt) Saturday. The 10-day European trip will take the President to Germany, Ireland, England and Italy.

Kennedy will return in time to join his family for the Fourth of July on Squaw Island near Hyannis Port, Mass.

BOY IS REFERRED

Central Point—A 13-year-old Central Point boy has been referred to Jackson county juvenile authorities in connection with the theft of a three horsepower motor from the Grange Co-Op in Central Point. The motor was recovered, police said.

The master bedroom suite is especially exceptional and interesting for a home of this square footage. The pullman lavatory is in the dressing area while the shower and water closet are in a separate compartment. This arrangement allows for more privacy. Both baths are back to back which will save on plumbing installation.

Laundry facilities, with overhead cabinets plus the furnace and water heater, are in the oversized-21' by 20' outside dimensions-garage.

A low planter surrounds the wide windows at the front wall of the garage while another is alongside the front porch. A metal screen has been attached to posts which extend from this planter to support the roof.

Complete working drawings for this plan can be purchased at a cost of $7.50 for the first set and $3 for each additional set when ordered at the same time. This plan will be available at these prices until Oct. 9. Please allow two to three weeks for delivery. The following home plan books are also available: Hallmark Homes, $1; Award Homes, $1; Town and Country Homes, $1; Homes for Living, $1; Homes of Distinction, $1; Ranch and Modern Homes, $2. All books a $7 value, only $3. Send all orders for either plans or books to: Hiawatha Estes, post office box 404-T, Northridge, Calif.

CALL FOR BIDS

Portland—The Portland office of the bureau of land management has announced calls for bids on road construction projects in the Salmon River Recreation area in Clackamas county, and the Scapona Recreation site in Columbia county, Oregon.

Budget Member Named by Board; Officers Elected

The School District 549C board this week appointed a budget committee member, swore in a new board member, elected board officers for the 1963-64 year, and accepted teacher resignations and elected teachers.

Dr. Ralph Thompson was named to the school budget committee, succeeding H. D. Christensen, whose term expires July 1. Dr. Billy Blackstone was elected as an alternate member of the budget committee.

John R. Reid was sworn in as a new board member. He succeeds Keith Hockersmith, present chairman of the board whose term expires July 1. Hockersmith had selected not to seek reelection to the board.

Frank Bash was elected chairman for the 1963-64 year, and Bill Barker was named vice chairman.

Resignation Accepted

Resignations were accepted from Gary C. Frame, vocal music instructor at Medford High; Marjorie Raffaeli, typing teacher at McLoughlin Junior High; and Lanette Vandergraw, fourth grade teacher at Lincoln school.

Eleven teachers were elected. They, and their positions, are:

Miss Margo M. Ahmann, junior high typing; Robert Bork, band director, music; McLoughlin Junior High; Miss Beverly Bullis, homemaking, Medford High; Miss Renee Chausse, English-French, Medford High; Miss Kay Kuhn, art, McLoughlin; Robert A. Gross, English, Medford High; Richard Reum, remedial reading, junior high; Jerry Sanders, English, Medford High; Mrs. Iverne Ann Tiekker, primary; Robert L. Werner, Medford High math; and Elizabeth Sowards, English, social studies, or primary.

In other action, the school board approved signing a petition for paving Pearl st. on the west side of the Hedrick Junior High school property, and reviewed plans for temporary rooms at Medford High school to help handle the number of students expected next year.
