Feeding the Family

Timely Tips for Brides Of This and Other Junes

Brides will smartly paste this in their thinking caps; in the front of their favorite cookbook or inside the kitchen cupboard. Many matrons (brides of other years) may find it interesting to take this refresher course.

When it is necessary to keep green vegetables two or three days, store in the vegetables compartment of the refrigerator.

If possible, use fresh fruit juice immediately after squeezing. If it is necessary to let it stand, keep it cold and covered tightly.

Cut fruits and vegetables for salad just before serving. We belong to the school of tearing greens apart rather than cutting them.

Wash greens quickly under running water. Do not soak out all the good nutrients. If leafy, greens should be cooked quickly with no water added because the moisture clinging to the leaves is adequate.

Boil potatoes in their jackets often. Boiling is the best way to conserve potato food value. Paking comes next. If you must peel, keep the peelings thin, as many of the important nutrive elements lie close to the skin.

Start vegetables boiling briskly in salted water; just enough to prevent sticking. Cover to speed cooking and boil gently until tender and no more. Many vegetables are "cooked to death."

Put frozen vegetables on to cook while still frozen; following expert directions on the package for each variety.

Heat canned foods only to steaming point. They're already adequately cooked. And, of course, serve or otherwise use up all those good natural juices that are packed with valuable nutrients.

Unused portions of canned foods may be stored, when properly covered, in the cans in which they come. Refrigerated, of course.

Orange Glazed Bologna Roll

A tangy orange sauce bastes a bologna roll–and that is the newest notion we've encountered in a long time. Why not? Bologna is a great favorite of all ages. Pick out a three to four pound piece. Family likes the taste, so instead of slicing up that bologna roll, leave it whole and bake it or rotisserie it. Serve it with a tossed green salad with crumbled cheese tid-bit crackers. Mighty good cold, too.

Combine half cup brown sugar, quarter cup vinegar, one tablespoon dry mustard and half cup orange juice. Simmer three minutes. Score a three to four pound piece of bologna as you would score a ham. Marinate in sauce overnight. Place on spit over charcoal fire; put it on oven rotisserie–or bake it in the oven at 350 degrees. Baste frequently with the marinade while cooking. Spitted, it should take only 20 minutes or so; in the oven, about 40 minutes.

Sugar Situation Well in Hand

Those who take pleasure in putting up seasonal fruits and berries need have no concern about the cost of sugar. The recent flurry was caused by users and distributors adding even more sugar to their already high inventories. The old story of supply and demand. We almost said hoarders, but resisted temptation.

The per capita consumption of sugar has not varied significantly in recent years, running between 103 and 104 pounds which covers all commercial bases as well as consumer level buying. The Sugar Act which maintains and promotes a healthy, growing domestic industry now producing more than 60 per cent of our needed sugar, preserves stable supplies. Look for normal sugar prices anytime now as you contemplate home canning, freezing and otherwise preserving.

Melon Profusion Predominating Markets

Instead of being preoccupied with best buys this week, we're going to give most of our space to rejoicing in reporting on fresh fruits, berries and melons being harvested and increasing in supply right along. In all the U.S.A., there's no place to compare with our west coast for variety and abundance of many of the good things of life.

We promise few bargains but great pleasure and satisfaction in the savoring of the new season's bounty.

Peach pleasures. Enough peaches are coming in to cause June to be designated as Fresh Peach Month, though record shipments will run through July and August. Several varieties are offered now for enjoying out-of-hand, for slicing and serving with cream, whipped cream, dairy sour cream and soft ice cream as well as the making of peach pies, cobblers and other baked desserts. The kinds for "putting up" come later.

Cherry Jubilee. Cheers for cherries from California orchards now; from northwest orchards later. The season is short so make the most of those available. Most of these delights will be eaten out-of-hand.

Berries Beckon. Strawberries continue in seasonal abundance from several areas. Red raspberries come from Santa Clara Valley of California, Willamette valley of Oregon, Puyallup Valley of Washington as the season advances. Blackberry family is a big one with olallies, loganberries, boysenberries and youngberries leading varieties, peaking in July and August.

Plum Beauties. Earliest plums and they are Beauty variety, are the heart-shaped, medium-size, bright crimson plum with amber sweet-tasting flesh. Other varieties will show up in profusion later and will be with us throughout the summer.

Other Delights. Early apricots are in, lush and golden. Plenty of Fuerte avocados. Figs are surprisingly big and meaty for so early in the season. Early Perlette grapes are of fine quality. Melon variety includes cantaloupes of super quality, Cranshaws, Persians. Watermelons are likely to be on every weekend shopping list.

Liquor License for Golf Course Okayed

Portland -(UPI)- A liquor-by-the-drink license was approved by the Oregon Liquor Control commission Thursday for the McNary Golf Course operation of K&M Enterprises in the Keizer area north of Salem.

The OLCC said the decision came after a long study convinced it the application had substantial community support. It once turned down the application.

Hugh Kirkpatrick, OLCC chairman, said investigations indicated those who favored liquor outnumbered those who opposed.

The dispenser's class B license permits dancing and "other proper forms of entertainment."
