

Defective Fuse Causes Outages

Portland—Central Oregon coastal areas suffered power outages around noon Thursday when a defective fuse on a transformer bank at the Bonneville Power Administration substation at Florence arced to the ground. The outages ranged from 27 to 38 minutes.

The fuse failure disrupted service to the coast from the Eugene-Reedsport 115,000 volt transmission line, cutting off power to Fern Ridge, Walton, Mapleton and Florence. Rural areas serviced from these points of delivery were also without power.
