

Rickover's Drive To Reform Faculty At Academy Pushed

Washington - (AP) - Vice Adm. Hyman G. Rickover has won another victory in his battle to reform the faculty at the U. S. Naval Academy in Annapolis, Md.

But the battle is two years old, and it doesn't appear that anything sudden or sensational will happen at the 118-year-old academy.

Rickover, builder of nuclear submarines who became interested in education, attacked the academy in mid-1961. He asked for a civilian dean and civilian professors in all subjects except naval science. Then Navy Secretary John

B. Connally, who later was elected governor of Texas, fully supported him. So did Connally's successor, Navy

Fribourg Collection Brings High Prices

London - (AP) - The massive Rene Fribourg fine art collection continued to roll up high prices Wednesday in a second of seven separate sales.

Paintings from the collection amassed by the Belgian-born New York grain merchant brought a total of $408,464, considerably higher than had been expected.

The paintings like most things in Fribourg's immense collection, were French from Secretary Fred Korth. But there is a lot of tradition involved and matters have moved slowly.

The latest development was the naming of Dr. Arthur Bernard Drought of Marquette university to be "academic dean, pro temporary" at the academy under a one-year contract.

Korth said Drought's appointment was "one of a series of steps being taken by the academy to strengthen and improve its educational program."

Rear Adm. Charles C. Kirkpatrick, superintendent at Annapolis, described Drought as a "distinguished educator," and said: "We feel that with his experience and background, he will materially assist and guide us to the correct decisions necessary to properly establish the permanent civilian academic dean at the Naval Academy."

Boys Arrested for Damaging Items

Two 13-year-old boys, from Central Point and Eagle Point, were arrested by state police Wednesday in connection with damage to farm equipment in the county earlier this week.

On June 24, about $250 damage was done to a tractor and hay baler on the property

Bus Driver Goes Beyond Duty Call To Help Passenger

Bedford, Pa. - (AP) - Victor Bachor, 36, of Pittsburgh, a Greyhound bus driver, today went a little beyond his company's slogan of "take the bus and leave the driving to us."

Bachor helped deliver a 5-pound 3-ounce girl in his bus at 6:30 a.m. (EDT) while en route to New York City from Cleveland, Ohio.

It all started minutes after Bachor halted his bus at the Howard Johnson Midway Restaurant on the Pennsylvania Turnpike near the Bedford Interchange for a rest stop. He was approached by Mrs. Edward Bachman, 41, of New Castle, Del.

"You better do something," Mrs. Bachman said. "I'm having a baby."

Unbelieving, Bachor did a double take. Mrs. Bachman persisted and Bachor went into action. He summoned a woman passenger, Mrs. Vicki Sterling of Seymour, Ind., and quickly related the circumstances.

In minutes, the interior of the bus was filled with the wails of a new-born child. An ambulance arrived soon and Mrs. Bachman was taken to Bedford County Memorial Hospital. Both mother and child were reported in "good condition."

Bachor, father of a 12-year-old daughter, climbed into the bus and resumed his journey with his somewhat dismayed passengers.

Mrs. Bachman is the mother of five other children. Three of the children, Mildred, 16, Edward, 5, and Laurie, 3, were with her. She and the children had been visiting relatives in Alden, Ill., and were headed home.

As yet, Mrs. Bachman has not decided on a name for her new daughter. She informed her husband by telephone of the event and he was reported en route to Bedford from the family home in New Castle.

China Has Grandma Moses' Counterpart

Tokyo - (AP) - Communist China has come up with its own counterpart of Grandma Moses.

But 62-year-old Kao Miao-Lan is a youngster compared to Anna Mary Robertson Moses, who died last year at 101.

Mrs. Kao, according to the New China News agency, is an "elderly peasant woman" in East China who has "done more than 200 paintings since liberation."

Like Grandma Moses, Mrs. Kao belongs to the "traditional school," according to New China.

Like Grandma Moses' Christmas cards, Mrs. Kao's paintings "breathe a freshness and gaiety characteristic of folk art."

And like Grandma Moses, Mrs. Kao is "bold in using color and her composition is strongly decorative."

Grandma Moses liked to paint down-on-the-farm scenes around her home in Hoosick Falls, N. Y.

Mrs. Kao likes to paint the mountains and brooks of East China.

Both women started to paint late in life.

And now, according to New China, Mrs. Kao is well on her way to acquiring the kind of fame which came to Grandma Moses after her paintings were first discovered in a drug store in 1938.

Last July, Mrs. Kao held her first "one-man exhibition" in Hangchow and is now preparing for two "nation-wide art exhibitions to be held in July and October."

"More than 80 of her works have been reproduced by pictorial journals and newspapers," New China said. "Her 'Exploiting Treasure Mountain' was included in the 'Selection of Modern Chinese Paintings' published by the Shanghai People's Publishing House."

Grandma Moses was inspired by the beautiful New England countryside. Mrs. Kao, according to New China, by the "rapid changes taking place" under communism.

Second Session Of Ecumenical Council Slated

Vatican City - (AP) - Pope Paul VI, continuing the work of the late Pope John XXIII, today set the second session of the Ecumenical Council for Sept. 29.

He ordered the council's preparatory body to resume work next week.

The new date for the beginning of the second session was announced by Papal Secretary of State Amleto Giovanni Cardinal Cicognani. Originally it had been scheduled for Sept. 8 but was delayed because of the illness and death of the late Pope.

Meantime, workers began setting up stands in front of St. Peter's Basilica for dignitaries among the 300,000 who are expected to witness the coronation of Pope Paul VI next Sunday.

On Tuesday, the new leader of the Roman Catholic church will meet President Kennedy in a private audience with a minimum of pomp and ceremony. Kennedy and Pope Paul, who speaks fluent English, are expected to converse without the help of interpreters in the pontiff's library.

Earl Warren, chief justice of the United States, will head the official American delegation to the three-hour coronation ceremony. It will be held outdoors at the request of Pope Paul to accommodate more people.

Central Point Youth Elected

Corvallis - (AP) - District attorneys and other officials from five counties and state policemen for 10 cities were named at Beaver Boys State Wednesday.

Some 500 high school boys are attending the American Legion sponsored event.

The district attorneys are Dave Amato and Jerry Ota of Portland; Mike Brooks of Eugene; Terry Aarmo of Astoria; and Sid Nolen of Cascade Locks.

Named as state policemen were Steve Zakrewski and Joe Hubbel of Astoria; Jim Van Duyn of Baker; Rick Rehwoild of Coos Bay; Bill Gragg of Silverton; John Jackson of Portland; Jim Paist of Albany; Darryl Summerfield of Central Point; Mark Isri of Ontario, and Ron Thornhill of Cave Junction.

Two Portland youths won primary elections in the Nationalist and Federalist parties for youth governor. They are Dick Probasco and Ota.

Fluoridated Water Used by Millions

Chicago - (AP) - The American Dental Association says a recent government report shows that more than 51 million Americans were drinking fluoridated water as of Dec. 31, 1962.

Communities with controlled fluoridation at that date numbered 2,317 with a population of nearly 44 million. More than 4,000 communities had a natural or controlled fluoridation.

Sun Valley Sets Music Festival

Sun Valley, Idaho - (AP) - The travelers' valley of sun and snow will glow with something new to its character Aug. 12-18.

The Alpine-designed resort joins with its neighbor, Ketchum, then to sponsor a folk music festival, including concerts, hootenannies, workshops and demonstrations.

Sun Valley's publicity office bills it as the "First Annual Sun Valley - Ketchum Folk Festival."

Sun Valley has long had a reputation of relaxed weekends among its Alpine construction and superb ski areas, while little Ketchum has most recently made itself a name among a fringe crowd of ski buffs.

In past years, the old mining town dusted off its boardwalks and now has a collection of residents ranging from skiers to artists to beatniks.

A folk festival will fit it fine. The Oinkari Basque dancers, a group of 48 from the Basque settlement in Boise, sign off the festival with something out of style for either Sun Valley or Ketchum.

The group, first to third generation Basques from the Pyrenees mountains of Spain, dance and sing to accompaniment of tambourines, drums, bangles and beads.

Portland Chamber Ponders Sales Tax

Portland - (AP) - Two officials of the Portland Chamber of Commerce indicated Wednesday a sales tax proposal on the state's 1964 general election ballot.

President Donald V. McCallum said the chamber was not satisfied with the 1963 legislature's income tax increase bill, but will not encourage a referendum.

"Instead, the Chamber is commencing immediately to put together a model tax program for the state, with a strong likelihood it will propose a sales tax along with provisions for relief on income and property taxes," he said.

Richard K. Brown, chairman of the Chamber's tax committee, said he could not estimate how soon the work would be completed, but he hoped it would be in time to allow consideration of an initiative for 1964.
