NATIONALIST CHINESE OFFICIAL TO TAKE LEAVE
Taipei, Formosa - (AP) - Nationalist Chinese Vice President Premier Chen Cheng will take a one-month leave of absence starting Monday because of illness, it was announced Thursday.

The 62-year-old Chen, often regarded as heir-apparent to President Chiang Kai-shek, was hospitalized for one month last year.

CANADA'S PEARSON UNDERGOES SURGERY
Ottawa - (AP) - Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson, who last saw the inside of a hospital after crashing on his first and last solo flight in the Royal Flying Corps in 1918, today undergoes surgery to remove a cyst from the right side of his neck.

RUSSIA CONTRACTS TO SELL SCRAP TO JAPAN
Tokyo - (AP) - The Yomiuri newspaper today said the Soviet Union has contracted its first postwar sale of scrap iron to Japan, undercutting American prices by $2-$3 per ton. The newspaper said the firm of Tokyo Booki Ltd. has agreed to purchase 30,000 tons of scrap from the Soviets at $39 per ton and that the Russians were sounding out Japanese traders on the possibility of selling them as much as 800,000 tons next year.

Big-City Machine Said Needed by Demo Candidate

San Francisco - (AP) - It had all the flavor and color of a Republican presidential nominating convention.

"The man who" was there. Delegates roared their approval of him. They brandished "ners, buttons and books during repeated interruptions of a speech by the nation's conservative standard bearer, Sen. Barry Goldwater.

Lashes at Liberals
Goldwater, addressing the national Young Republican convention, Thursday lashed out at liberals and President Kennedy.

"It is the moral bankruptcy of the liberal politicians which is causing the young people to move toward the Republican party," the Arizona Republican senator said.

"They are the reactionaries. They haven't had a new idea for 30 years."

He said the liberals are obsessed with economic solutions for all problems and have entered into a "cynical alliance" with big city political bosses. He said city machines were a "national disgrace" and any politicians who accepted their support were "phony liberals" without the ideals of true liberals who pioneered the movement.

Pandemonium Reigns

The convention delegates, 75 per cent of whom voted support for Goldwater as the 1964 GOP presidential nominee in an informal poll, were prompted to pandemonium by the Arizona delegation which arrived here with 2,000 pounds of signs, campaign buttons and books to extol their state's senator.

The 55-minute speech was hailed with demonstrations of delegates waving Goldwater banners, the Stars and Stripes and Confederate flags.

Observers compared it with old-time nominating conventions with all the elements of a holly contested fight for the coveted prize.

Goldwater, taking an indirect poke at President Kennedy, said "the stern cold fact is that no Democrat can be elected to national office today who is not under deep and unbreakable obligation to the corrupt big-city machines."

Jibes at European Trip

Goldwater also aimed a jibe at the President's trip to Europe. He noted that "the leader of the Frontier is in Ireland. I don't know what troubles they have there, but we have a lot of 'em here and he ought to be home taking care of them."

He told the crowd between cheers that America's military chieftains should be asked for their opinions on the U. S. nuclear test ban proposals.

Goldwater's speech followed a prediction by former California GOP Sen. William F. Knowland that the Republicans could carry the South in the next election and did not need to win either New York or California to elect a president. Knowland, editor and assistant publisher of the Oakland (Calif.) Tribune, told the convention that "there is no Southern state we need to concede to the New Frontier."

To Elect Chairman

The Young Republican convention, now in its final day, was scheduled later today to elect a new national chairman to succeed Len Nadasdny of Minneapolis, Minn. The two principal candidates were Charles McDevitt of Boise, Idaho, and Donald Lukens of Washington, D. C.

Hearing Is Today On Fire District

A hearing is scheduled this afternoon in Jackson county court room on proposed formation of the Prospect Rural Fire Protection district.

Formation of the district was spurred by a fire March 13 which destroyed the home of a family with four children. The fire was reported at 3 p.m., but when volunteer firemen arrived the fire was beyond control. No one was home at the time.

A public meeting was held on March 29 to discuss the formation of the fire district. Interested citizens consulted with Gordon Barker, Medford fire chief; L. C. Lisenbee, Central Point Rural Fire Protection district chief; and William P. Robie, Grants Pass, deputy state fire marshal.

The flower market in Mexico City is half a block long. Philadelphia was founded in 1682 by William Penn.

Thant Pessimistic on Outcome of High-Level Conference on Nuclear Disarmament

United Nations, N.Y. - (AP) - Secretary General Thant said today the big powers have "missed the bus" on a nuclear test ban treaty and predicted that Communist China will explode an atomic weapon this year or next.

Thant told a news conference he is "not very hopeful" about the outcome of next month's projected high-level conference on disarmament at Moscow.

"From the present attitudes," he said, "I very much doubt that a nuclear test treaty will be concluded this year. . . . My feeling is that the big powers have, in a way, missed the bus in the Geneva negotiations."

Thant said Communist China's nuclear potentialities must be reckoned with in any disarmament negotiations.

"It will be very difficult, if not impossible, to prevent China from exploding an atomic bomb, possibly this year and probably next year," he said.

Thant said that modern history indicated that after the domination of Britain in the 1920s, Hitlerite Germany in the 1930s, and the United States and Russia in the 1950s and 1960s, there are now "unmistakable trends toward new alignments."

"In the '70s - if there are any '70s - the world will witness four big powers: The United States of America, Europe, Russia and China. It would be part of wisdom for the world leaders to take these considerations into account in formulating their policies."

Thant indicated that by the 1970s, he expected that Communist China, Germany and other major powers all would be members of the United Nations.

Thant said he is "gratified" by the stop-gap financial plan adopted by the General Assembly Thursday which cleared the way for him to carry on UN peacekeeping operations in the Congo and the Middle East for at least the next six months. It will be up to the regular assembly session in September to deal with the announced refusal of Russia, France and other powers to pay their share and to take steps to meet the shortage that will result. He said he "hopes very much" that a financial formula can be worked out before too long that will satisfy Russia and France.

Hatfield Expected To Make Defense Decision Next Week

Sandstrom said the final decision on whether the state would supervise the county programs would be made by Hatfield "sometime next week."

He said he would call the five counties "to determine what it means to them if we do not administer the program for them."

Matching funds were approved for Benton, Linn, Umatilla, Polk and Washington counties, with the condition that the state provide supervision.

Aid May Be Denied

In addition, Polk and Washington counties were told "if their performance . . . is not improved" before the next year, they would be denied further federal aid.

Sandstrom said he talked to Benton county authorities, and was told loss of federal matching funds would amount to about $2,900.

No mention was made in Ralls' report of any funds for Multnomah county, or the city of Portland. They are dropping civil defense July 1.

Sandstrom said some counties would not make a decision on whether to drop civil defense until today, the last business day of the current fiscal year. He said in addition to Portland and Multnomah county, Klamath, Lincoln, Deschutes and Lane counties have already decided to drop or reduce civil defense budgets.

In the meantime, the agency was preparing to move into its giant new $36,000 offices in the basement of the capitol.

The move was to be made today, but was postponed one day because movers couldn't get to the job before Saturday.

In addition to the big new 50-by-90 foot offices, there is a nearby communications center with teletypes, radio equipment, and underground telephone lines to key points.

Couldn't Stop Work

The legislature was unable to stop work on the project because funds had been appropriated before the CD cut-back was ordered.

"The loss of federal matching funds to the budget means that the state will not be able to coordinate the priority shelter program and other supporting activities," Sandstrom said.

Also in doubt was the future of 37 emergency field hospital units stored in Oregon.
