Oklahoma Closes Up Gap in PCL

By DAVE ROWE
UPI Sports Writer
Rainsouts and Oklahoma City's recent spurge are giving southern division leader Dallas-Ft. Worth some uneasy moments in the Pacific Coast League.

Oklahoma City pulled within one-half game of the Rangers yesterday by tripping Portland 5-1 in a single game while Dallas-Ft. Worth was rained out of its double header with Spokane.

The rains also hampered Spokane's chances of moving up on northern division leader Tacoma. The Giants split with Hawaii, winning the first game 5-1 but falling 4-1 in the second.

Salt Lake City and Denver won doubleheaders. The Bees edged San Diego 6-4 and 4-0 while the Bears squeezed past Seattle 5-4 and 8-7.

Four Straight Wins
Jerry Nelson led Oklahoma City to victory with a five-hit pitching performance. It was the fourth straight win for the 89ers. Nelson had held the Beavers to two hits going into the ninth.

Offensive weapons for the 89ers were outfielder Carroll Hardy and first baseman Dave Roberts. They drove in two runs each and Roberts banged a home run with one man aboard in the third.

Ted Newman hurled Hawaii to a 4-1 verdict in the second game after the Islanders lost to the Giants in the opener 5-1. Tim Hunt slashed a 350-foot home run for the Islanders in the second inning and then the Hawaiians moved in front for keeps in the fifth when they tallied a single run, adding two more in the next frame for insurance.

Herbel Wins Eighth
Ron Herbel gained his eighth decision against seven reversals in the opener.

Wayne Carlander of Salt Lake City fired a shutout against San Diego while Gordon Seyfried gave the Bees a 6-4 victory in the first game. It was Seyfried's fifth straight win, although he needed help from Fred Brudette in the eighth.

Salt Lake City now is 1 1/2 games away from third place San Diego.

Denver won its sixth and seventh straight games, coming from the first to win 5-4 and having to hang on for dear life in the nightcap, winning 8-7.

Demeter Wins II
Ethan Blackaby scored the tying tally in the seven-inning first game and Steve Demeter singled in the winning run moments later.

Noel Mickelson collected his first victory in relief while starter Jerry Stephenson was nipped for his ninth loss against two wins.

In the second game the Bears blew an eight run lead and only fine relief work by Johnnie Seale put the damper on the Rainiers. Dennis Ribant had held Seattle scoreless for six innings but then the visitors exploded for three runs in the seventh and four in the eighth.

Ribant got his sixth victory against three losses and Bill Spanswick was the loser and now has a 6-5 mark.

Chinese Girl Is Financially 'Adopted' by Woman

Miss Carolyn Kerr, 3761 South Pacific highway, Medford, has financially "adopted" Choy Shiu Kum, 7, a Chinese girl in Hong Kong, through Foster Parents' Plan, New York City.

Shiu Kum has a little sister, Sui Lan, 3, and two brothers, Sui Shuen, 5, and Sui Wai, 1. Their father, a coolie in a metal factory, who earned just enough to keep his family from hunger, died last year.

Shiu Kum's mother, who can neither read nor write, fled to Hong Kong from a village in China to escape communism in 1953. She has learned to work in the metal factory and makes about 70 cents a working day. The father's mother lives with them and watches the small children while their mother is at work.

Live in Cubicles
Their old wooden hut was demolished by the government, and they were resettled in one of the vast buildings which houses thousands. The buildings consist of cubicles, in one of which lives the Kum family. It is ten by nine feet and in it are two bunks, a table, cupboard, a chair, three stools, and some battered suitcases. Rent costs $1.75 a month.

It has been noted that free schooling is almost non-existent in Hong Kong, but Shiu Kum and Sui Shuen both go to school, although their mother pays 88 cents a month for tuition for each. Books and supplies are extra, in addition to school clothes.

Shiu Kum is a first grader. Of the $15 monthly that the Foster parent agrees to contribute for at least a year, the child receives $8 a month. The rest is spent for food and new clothing, medical care, school fees and equipment, and translations of letters.

Eligibility is determined by need and the ability to benefit. This means that every child supported by the program must go to school.

Institute Held In Humanities

Eugene - Sixty-four high school teachers and administrators from all over the country will participate in the John Hay Summer Fellowship program on the University of Oregon campus until July 27. The program started Saturday.

The university is one of four institutions in the country that participates in these summer institutes in the humanities. Last year it was the first state university to take part in the program.

Each year 75 fellowships are granted to high school teachers and administrators for a year's study in designated colleges and universities, and each summer the John Hay Fellows program sponsors and operates one-month summer sessions at four institutions.

Each one-year fellow receives a stipend equal to his salary, plus tuition and travel expenses. Participants in the summer institutes receive $300 for the four-week period, plus $60 for each dependent and travel expenses up to $100.

The summer institute participants will read and discuss five books of significance in modern intellectual thought by William James, Carl L. Becker, Sinclair Lewis, Joseph Conrad and William Golding.

They will have their choice of attending one or two classes that will discuss such topics as logic and learning, Russian social thought, studies in American social thought, and society versus the individual.

In addition to planned lectures and discussions, the institute group will travel to Ashland within the month to see a dress rehearsal of "Henry V," one of the plays planned by the Oregon Shakespearean Festival.
