

Nothing New in Lumber Talks

Portland — (UPI) — An employer spokesman reported "little or no progress" today following talks between the lumber industry's Big Six and the striking Lumber and Sawmill Workers Union.

The meeting was held Monday with a federal mediator present. No more talks are on schedule at present.

The LSW and the International Woodworkers of America went on strike June 5 against two members of the Big Six, St. Regis Paper Co. and U.S. Plywood. The four other members — Weyerhaeuser, International Paper, Rayonier and Crown Zellerbach — then shut down plants where union members are employed, saying a strike against one was a strike against all.

The employer spokesman said employers had no change in their previous offer of about 22 cents an hour over three years and that the LSW still asked 60 cents an hour over the same period.

The talks were recessed subject to call by the Federal Mediation Service and either one of the parties.

The unions last week indicated they may spread the strike.

Accountants Meet To Form Unit of National Group

A meeting to launch formation here of a unit of the National Association of Accountants was held Monday night at the Colony restaurant.

Rawn Brinkley, secretary of the National association, with headquarters in New York City, addressed the southern Oregon group. He stopped in Medford on his return east from attending the annual conference of the association in San Francisco.

W. F. Wehrly, controller at Harry and David, Medford, presided as chairman of the organizing committee. He also attended the San Francisco conference.

Plans call for a southern Oregon group composed of accountants from Grants Pass, Klamath Falls, Ashland and Medford. The National Association of Accountants board has approved a survey conducted here preparatory to formation of a unit. It is necessary to have a membership of at least 25 to qualify, Brinkley explained.

Include All Accountants

The association has been functioning since 1919, being known originally as the Association of Cost Accountants. It now includes accountants in all fields, industrial, commercial and certified public accountants.

An accountant does not have to be a CPA to qualify for membership but CPAs are included in the association. There are 200 chapters and accounting groups with 53,000 members in many countries of the world. Most of the members, however, are in the United States, Brinkley said. There are 2,500 members in 60 foreign countries.

The association's purpose is broad but directed chiefly into educational channels, Brinkley stated. Its first responsibility is to keep the members informed of new accounting techniques through the flow of published information and through an exchange of ideas at meetings of the group.

Wehrly, who is directing the organization work here, is a former president of chapters in Omaha and Portland and has been a member since 1949. Chapters in the association have larger memberships than the groups. The closest accounting group is located in the Eugene-Springfield area.

Another meeting will be held in Medford in the near future, Wehrly said, to continue organization of the southern Oregon group.

Timberland Values Topic of Hearings

Salem — (UPI) — The State Tax commission announced today it has granted a request from the Oregon tax committee of the Industrial Forestry association for informal hearings on timberland values in five counties before the commission makes a final determination of the values to be used in the 1963-64 tax rolls.

The law gives the commission the responsibility for setting these values, and this year the land values were increased in Linn, Lane, Benton, Columbia and Washington counties. Numerous appeals were filed.

The hearings will give forest land owners an opportunity to present information which may aid the commission in determining whether the proposed new values should be re-examined.

The commission has called the first hearing for 9 a.m. Monday. The sessions are expected to last from three days to a week.

Both the commission and industry representatives have agreed to use timberlands in Linn county as representative of the valuation problem.

Drive Against Mafia Demanded

Rome — (UPI) — The dynamite killing of seven policemen and soldiers spurred fresh demands today for a government onslaught against the Mafia, the notorious Sicilian criminal society.

Five policemen and two army bomb disposal experts were slain Sunday by a charge of TNT planted in an abandoned car in a suburb of Palermo, Sicily. It was the worst such massacre in 14 years.

Indications that the policemen had been lured into the deadly trap by the Mafia raised a nation-wide outcry against the dread organization.

Minister of the Interior Mariano Rumor pledged in Parliament Monday that the government would fight the Mafia "with all available means and judicial instruments."

Rumor went to Sicily today to attend the victims' funerals. He said the government was looking forward to the results of a proposed parliamentary investigation of the Mafia.
