Prime Minister Fights Demands For Resignation

London—(UPI)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, aroused by an angry exchange with opposition leader Harold Wilson, marshaled his defenses today against charges his government fumbled its way into a series of security scandals.

The harried Conservative party leader planned to wind up a two-day foreign policy debate in the House of Commons with a speech expected to mention British security, which has been widely criticized for alleged laxness.

In the latest British spy case, Italian nuclear physicist Giuseppe Martelli went into the second day of a trial on charges of attempted espionage for the Soviet Union. He pleaded innocent Tuesday.

Macmillan was plagued by a series of sex-and-security scandals centering on former British diplomat Harold (Kim) Philby, resigned War Minister John Profumo, society osteopath-artist Stephen Ward and convicted spy William John Vassall. The scandals have brought demands for his resignation.

Battle in Commons
 The 69-year-old prime minister battled Wilson in Commons Tuesday over the government's disclosure that Philby had been a Soviet agent and the "third man" who tipped off suspected British diplomats Guy Burgess and Donald MacLean in 1951, permitting them to defect to Russia.

Macmillan—then foreign minister—defended Philby against such allegations in 1955. London newspapers have asked why it took British security officials 12 years to come up with this information—and then to permit Philby, working as a journalist, to vanish early this year from Beirut, Lebanon, possibly fleeing behind the Iron Curtain.

The labor party leader proposed that Macmillan name a minister for security and asked in biting sarcasm whether the prime minister was planning a one-man judicial investigation of the Philby affair similar to the one ordered into the Profumo scandal, "assuming you have enough judges to go around."

The Profumo scandal was kept before the public today by the resumption of the pre-trial hearing of Ward, who introduced Profumo to call girl Christine Keeler and is accused of living off the earnings of prostitutes.

Unionists Urged Not To Sign Referral
 Portland—(UPI)—Executive officers of the Oregon AFL-CIO are urging union members not to sign petitions to refer the 1963 legislature's $60 million tax increase package will not be made before Friday.

Atty. Gen. Robert Y. Thornton is out of state, and not slated to return to his office until then, his office advised. Thornton has until July 8 to assign the title.

A referral petition for the tax measure has been filed by J. Francis Howard, editor of weekly newspapers in Albany and Corvallis.

Circulation of petitions cannot begin until the title is assigned, and a 20-day period for appeal of the title has passed.

Pickett's Charge Marks Gettysburg Observance

Gettysburg, Pa.—(UPI)—A rebel yell and a puff of smoke heralded the reenactment of Pickett's Charge here today in the climax to the 100th anniversary observance of the Battle of Gettysburg.

Confederate "troops" stormed down Seminary Ridge and began the assault on Union positions less than a mile away to recreate the massive assault that marked the turning point of the War Between the States.

The dramatization began precisely at 3 p.m.—the hour Gen. George Pickett chose to send his force against Gen. George McClellan's Army of the Potomac.

The Gettysburg Centennial Commission estimated 40,000 persons attended the colorful finale to the three-day observance.

The historic assault was Gen. Robert E. Lee's last-ditch effort to win the crucial battle. About 15,000 sons of the South charged into the center of the well-entrenched Union troops on Cemetery Ridge and casualties were heavy.

"Our men fell like ten-pins in a ten-strike," said one of the few Confederate survivors after the clash.

The thump and explosion of artillery shells, staccato rifle fire and blaring battle bugles accompanied the mock assault.

However, since live ammunition is prohibited on the battlefield by the National Park Service, the sounds of battle were piped through an elaborate stereophonic loudspeaker network.

The recreation ended with soldiers from both sides joining in a gesture of national unity—a pledge of allegiance to the Stars and Stripes.

Actor Walter Abel assumed the character of Samuel Wilkenson, the war correspondent who reported the action despite the death of his son in the first day of the battle. George F. Elliot, a military analyst, narrated the events as Wilkenson reported them 100 years ago.

The dramatization concluded the commemoration of the historic battle. The state of Pennsylvania expended $128,000 on the event. No admission was charged for any activities during the three days.

A parade of the nation's military prowess during the last century highlighted Tuesday's centennial festivities. Some 6,500 marchers, 20 bands and 20 floats passed through the streets of Gettysburg in the two-hour parade.

The Pennsylvania National Guard's 28th Infantry Division led the modern military section of the pageant. Another 1,500 "soldiers"—actually civilians dressed in Civil War uniforms—also marched.

Boardman Park Officially Leased To Boeing Company
 Salem—(UPI)—The 100,000-acre Boardman Space Age Industrial Park was leased to Boeing Co. at a 10-minute special State Land Board meeting today.

The agreement culminated a three-year drive to open the north-central Oregon area for industrial expansion.

Oregon State Bar Protests Discharge of Seaside Judge

McMinnville—(UPI)—The Oregon State Bar Tuesday protested the city of Seaside's recent discharge of a municipal judge. The bar said it would urge legislation to guarantee the independence of municipal judges.

The Bar's Board of Governors expressed the protest in a statement issued by Eugene E. Marsh, McMinnville, bar president.

Maurice Pysker, mayor of Seaside, confirmed the resignation of Frank Walters had been received. He said John Black has been appointed in his place.

Marsh said the city officials apparently thought Walters "was not imposing stiff enough penalties."

Legislation Planned
 The statement issued by the bar said "The Board of Governors of the Oregon State Bar has referred to its Committee on Minor Courts for study and preparation a measure to be presented to the next Oregon Legislature under which the State of Oregon would guarantee the independence of municipal judges in Oregon from improper pressure from other officials, such as that which apparently occurred at Seaside, Oregon."

The bar termed the action "grossly improper interference" with the judge's duties.

Pysker said the police department was "demoralized" by the low fines and lenient sentences handed down by Walters, a 70-year-old retired Washington attorney who moved to Seaside June 1, 1961.

Anti-Semitic Mail Claimed Increasing
 San Francisco—(UPI)—The amount of anti-Semitic mail flowing through the nation's post offices is at an all-time high, according to J. Harold Saks of the Anti-Defamation League.

Saks, of Washington, D.C., is administrative director of the league. He told a B'nai B'rith meeting here Tuesday that the volume of hate mail is growing even though the number of overtly anti-Jewish organizations is low.

He said he had just learned of a typical case in which mail was sent from Amarillo, Tex., to northern California motel operators.

"The motel owners were told that since American wars were fought by white Christians, all Jewish males should be recruited and forcibly sent to the Middle East to fight the Arabs in event of an Israeli-U.A.R. war."

Newsday Publisher Dies in Hospital
 New York—(UPI)—Alicia Patterson, 56, editor and publisher of the Long Island tabloid newspaper Newsday and a member of the Patterson-Medill-McCormack publishing dynasty, died at Doctor's Hospital here late Tuesday.

She had entered the hospital June 20 with an ulcer condition, and in the 24 hours preceding her death at 11:25 p.m. (EDT) she underwent three emergency stomach operations.

Miss Patterson, who founded Newsday in 1940, was a member of the family group which directs the New York Daily News and the Chicago Tribune. Her brother, James J. Patterson, now is assistant managing editor of the News.

Tax Referral To Be Given Ballot Title

Salem—(UPI)—Assignment of a ballot title for referendum of the 1963 legislature's $60 million tax increase package will not be made before Friday.

Atty. Gen. Robert Y. Thornton is out of state, and not slated to return to his office until then, his office advised. Thornton has until July 8 to assign the title.

A referral petition for the tax measure has been filed by J. Francis Howard, editor of weekly newspapers in Albany and Corvallis.

Circulation of petitions cannot begin until the title is assigned, and a 20-day period for appeal of the title has passed.

They said they liked the tax credit which replaces the former personal dependency deductions, and favor the narrow range of progress in the rate structure as a step forward.

Both said they felt the new law was "far more advantageous to families" than either a sales tax or a gross income tax.

Variety of Events To Mark Oregon's 104th 4th of July

By United Press International
 An Indian battle will be reenacted, a replica of the Liberty Bell will be rung and loggers, cowboys and athletes will perform Thursday as Oregon observes its 104th Fourth of July as a state. The weather man said there was a chance of a few scattered showers, but indications were the weather would be mild with temperatures in the 70s and 80s in most sections.

Beach and mountain park areas will be jammed, as usual, for the summer holiday and warnings to motorists were re-emphasized because of the heavy toll on the highways this year. So far, the State Traffic Safety Division reports, 252 persons have died compared with 197 on the same date in 1962.

At Port Orford, on the south Oregon coast, the celebration will include reenactment of the Indian battle at Battle Rock.

Portland will ring its new Liberty Bell replica at high noon. There also is a parade preceding the bell ringing.

The world championship Timber Carnival is under way in Albany. A $1,000 fireworks display will end the event Thursday night.

Rodeos will kick up their usual amount of Fourth of July dust, including the 40th annual Molalla Buckaroo and the 28th annual St. Paul Rodeo. Rodeos also are scheduled at Baker, Klamath Falls and Yoncalla.

Some of the nation's top track and field stars are in Eugene for the annual Oregon AAU Track and Field Meet at Hayward Field Thursday.
