

FUN IN BOATS—Down to the sea in ships, or dinghies, cruisers, sailboats or powerboats—yes, boating is the number one recreational activity on inland streams and rivers, the Gulf area, the Great Lakes, and on the Atlantic and Pacific seaboard. From aboard a streamlined cabin cruiser, a pretty sailerette waves greeting to the countless recrea-

Forgotten Articles Make Unhappy Trip

Little things sometimes turn an anxiously awaited vacation trip into a big disappointment. Misplaced swimsuits, fretful children or searching for a place to stop overnight can take the fun out of traveling.

But most petty annoyances can be avoided, according to Anne Whitfield, home economist for Dial Soap research laboratories, if you plan for them ahead of time:

- Make a list of everything you will need. After packing, tuck the list into the suitcase for use when homeward bound. That way, you won't leave anything behind. Items to be used, while on the road, should be packed separately.
- Children become bored quickly on long drives, so stop occasionally for snacks, souvenir-hunting or just plain sight-seeing. If you must drive for a long time, have a few distractions up your sleeve. Identification and number games are fun. But when the shouting becomes unbearable, bring out one of their favorite quiet games.
- Roadside clean-ups, a must while motoring, will be no problem with a small case containing washcloth, towel and an antibacterial soap. It's a good idea, too, to include some first-aid items.

TOUGH TIMEPIECE—Rod and Reel Fans will enjoy the rugged endurance of a waterproof, shock-resistant electric watch. It's powered by a tiny energy cell that can be replaced as easily as changing the hook on a fishing line.—By Timex.

Allstate Receives State Contract

Salem—Allstate Insurance Co. was awarded the 1963-64 contract on state-owned motor vehicles.

Freeman Holmer, director of the department of finance and administration, said Allstate's bid was $147,385, down $7,000 from last year's bid. It marked the fourth successive year of lower auto insurance premiums for the state, Holmer said.

The contract, providing personal injury and property damage liability, is awarded annually on a competitive bid basis.

Keep Summer Garb Plain and Simple

Whether you travel by plane or car, train or ship—or even plan a long hike to your vacation destination, advice for your wardrobe probably remains the same: Keep it simple, neat, practical-to-a-point, understated, unpretentious.

If you are planning a trip, whether an extended itinerary or a week end, there are a few basic ideas that should go into deciding what clothes to take with you.

Know the type of climate to expect; if a resort, is it formal or informal; learn about the terrain, the proper shoes are all important.

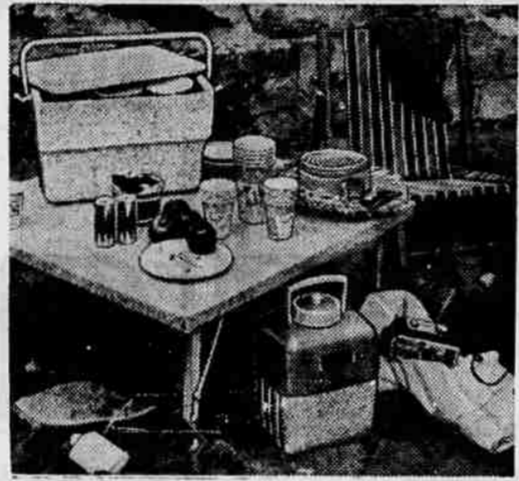

Check baggage allowances, if flying. The maximum weight allowed will limit your clothes to a well-planned minimum.

Make use of the many lovely, easy-care miracle fabrics: nylon lingerie, dacron shirts, knits, jerseys, etc.

Take as many straight-lined things as possible. Sheaths, for instance, pack away into nothing, with little creasing problem. Full skirts are cumbersome and usually need ironing every time you unpack.

Take roomy handbags, small hats, a folding travel iron, an electric coffee-maker-for-two which comes in a leather shoulder bag like a camera, a good supply of your favorite cosmetics, extra pair of prescription glasses, if you need them; a good pair of sunglasses and remember to pack an ample supply of whatever prescriptions you may need.

GETS ALLIANCE LOAN
Managua, Nicaragua—(UPI)—The U.S. Embassy announced approval Tuesday of a $1 million Alliance for Progress loan to Nicaragua for lengthening Las Mercedes Airport to accommodate jets.

CHORE SAVERS—It's picnic time and time to cut down on everyday chores such as dish washing. Here modern insulated ice chests and jugs hold all the good things to eat and drink. Insulated cups and fine paper plates help impart full flavor to the food yet can be discarded into the nearest trash barrel when the picnic meal is consumed.—Photo courtesy of Lily Products.
