

Abandoned Mine Shaft Searched for Three Missing Youths

Police Checking Possibility Boys Fled From Homes

Pittsburgh—UPI—A search for three teen-aged boys feared lost in the depths of the No. 2 shaft of the old Castle Shannon Coal Co. mine near here was "temporarily suspended" early today by Thomas MacDonald of the Pittsburgh office of the U. S. Bureau of Mines.

"We have temporarily suspended the search until 2 p. m.," MacDonald said. "If nothing is heard from the boys by that time we will attempt to push further into the mine."

Meanwhile, Castle Shannon Police Chief Andrew Orr said a nationwide alert was out for Daniel O'Kane and Billy Burke, both 13, of nearby Baldwin Borough and Robert Abbott, 14, of Pittsburgh.

May Have Struck Out

Orr said authorities were checking the possibility that the youngsters, reported missing Thursday after their bicycles were discovered near the mine entrance, "may have struck out on their own." He said the Abbott boy had moved here recently from Florida.

MacDonald said after the last rescue units surfaced early today that the searchers had "examined every inch that was humanly possible to examine." His later statement that the volunteers may press further into the mine this afternoon indicated the rescue teams could encounter physical dangers if they continue the search.

Barricade Torn Down

Authorities found that a brick and concrete seal placed over the auxiliary entrance to the mine for safety purposes years ago had been torn down sometime in the past. Nearby residents said they saw the Burke and O'Kane boys playing near the shaft entrance several days ago.

Mrs. Florence Burke, Billy's mother, reported the boys missing Thursday evening. She said they had been missing all day.

At the head of the shaft, last worked about 25 years ago, rescue workers said they found a firecracker which had been set off and some twigs, apparently set to indicate a path. But Everett Turner, a mine inspector from the U. S. Bureau of Mines, said the rescue units, who went nearly 2,000 feet into the mine, failed to find any trace of the boys.

Turner said the searchers discovered several minor rockfalls.

Mrs. Lois O'Kane, mother of Danny, said her missing son and his younger brother, Kenny, told her about two months ago they had gone into the shaft.

"I told them, I told them, I told them not to go near that mine," she said.

Mother Breaks Down

Mrs. Burke, a widow, was led away from the mine entrance when she broke down after leading Billy's pet mongrel dog, Nellie Bell, up the hillside to the shaft. The dog whined continuously.

About 200 persons gathered on a hillside across from the shaft to watch the rescue work under the glare of floodlights.

NEW COMPUTER

St. Louis—UPI—In a new system for locating trains in transit demonstrated here recently, an electronic computer and a teletype network were linked to permit railroads to inquire about the location of individual cars or shipments. A single inquiry into the computer (Honeywell 400) takes about four seconds to process, according to railroad officials.

California Assembly Not 'Rubber Stamp'

Sacramento—UPI—California assembly speaker Jesse M. Unruh served notice today that the lower chamber was not going to be a "rubber stamp" for the senate during the current special legislative session.

But he declined to say precisely what course the Assembly might take.

"We'll take a look at what the Senate passes," said Unruh, one of the state's most powerful political figures. He apparently was not entirely happy with the first four days of action on Gov. Edmund G. Brown's tax reform and budget augmentation programs.

For example, leaders of the 40-member upper chamber indicated after a special secret caucus Wednesday that Brown's plan to adopt a state withholding plan for personal

'Quiet Revolution' Under Way in State Forests, Book Notes

Portland—A "quiet revolution" is taking place in Oregon's forests as the Beaver State shifts into an age of tree farming, according to a new Oregon forest facts book released this week by the Oregon Committee of American Forest Products Industries.

"Oregon is in the midst of a vast transition from an economy based on logging old-growth forests to one based on growing, harvesting and re-growing continuous crops of timber," the book notes.

The booklet cites preliminary figures from new government surveys which indicate that the state's "storehouse"

Goldwater Sees Kennedy as Determined To Live With International Communism

GOP Possibility Says Nation Sent 'Too Far To Left'

Washington—UPI—Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.) said today that President Kennedy appears "determined to co-exist with international communism wherever it thrives—even in the Western Hemisphere."

The 1964 GOP presidential possibility coupled his attack on Kennedy with a charge that the nation's liberals suffer a "craven fear" of the future and have taken the country "too far to the left."

Goldwater said that U.S. Communist party leader Gus Hall was urging defeat of GOP candidates next year and support of "people's political movements" that Hall said operated within the orbit of the Democratic party.

However, Goldwater added that he was not suggesting that Democrats or New Frontiersmen were Communists or that the Communists had captured control of the Democratic party.

Addresses Conference

In a speech prepared for delivery before the Human Events Conference, Goldwater said today's conservative was "standing where history once placed the true liberal."

He said the conservative stands for freedom, individual rights, justice, order and honor.

"I believe today's liberal is so frightened of the future that he is incapable of acting in the present," Goldwater said. "Why else are we confronted today with a virtual paralysis of policy? Why else does Cuba remain a festering, Soviet power base on our very doorstep? Why else are we trying to pretend that international communism is mellowing and not out to enslave the entire world?"

Deep-Rooted Fear

Goldwater said that the "cause for our indecision and inaction is a deep-rooted fear on the part of the liberal establishment which forecloses the possibility of any action at all that may contain a slight element of risk."

"Such craven fear is completely out of character with the American spirit," he declared.

Goldwater said "liberals have taken us too far to the left for the good of the nation, particularly when we find ourselves in a worldwide struggle with the forces of the extreme left."

His Kennedy Speech

His criticism of Kennedy was based on the President's recent speech at American University in which he referred to a Soviet interest in a "just and genuine peace" and urged an effort to "make the world safe for diversity."

Goldwater said Soviet diversity means "slavery and oppression and tyranny and bigotry" as well as "Godless, mass murder and aggression."

"I suggest that the President's plea is just another way of saying that the New Frontier is determined to co-exist with international communism wherever it thrives—even in the Western Hemisphere," he said.

"This is merely an extension of the liberal fallacy which can never seem to realize that there can be a serious threat to the security of the United States and the freedom of the world coming from the left of the political spectrum."

Powder Puff Derby To Start Saturday

Bakersfield—UPI—Eighty women pilots and copilots from across the nation made final preparations today for the 17th annual Powder Puff Derby which starts at 8 a. m. Saturday when the first of 43 planes takes off on a 2,400-mile flight to Atlantic City, N. J.

The race ends officially at noon, July 17, but most of the planes are expected to cross the ocean front at Atlantic City and land at the National Aviation Facilities Experimental Center well before the deadline.

The planes have been impounded since Tuesday when derby and Federal Aviation Agency officials went over each plane carefully to make sure each met all race qualifications.

'Seeds of Hate and Violence' Sown In Civil Rights Field, Barnett Says

Washington—UPI—Mississippi Gov. Ross R. Barnett told Congress today that President Kennedy and Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy are "sowing seeds of hate and violence" in the civil rights field which could lead to a "bloody harvest."

Barnett, who is under a contempt of court charge for defying a federal court order, testified before the Senate Commerce Committee in opposition to the administration's civil rights bill to ban discrimination in hotels, restaurants, theaters, and other businesses.

About 400 persons, predominantly white youths, packed the hearing room to hear the first of a series of opposition witnesses called by Sen. J. Strom Thurmond (D-S.C.), the only Deep South senator on the committee.

Thurmond repeatedly called for order as the audience moaned or tittered in obvious sympathy with the proposed legislation.

Barnett, almost an hour late for his appearance, slowly picked his way through the crowd to the witness table. He told the committee passage of the bill would "put hundreds of thousands of white businessmen in the streets."

Barnett said the President and his brother "are sowing the seeds of hate and violence."

"A nation could reap a bloody harvest,"

Barnett, who defied a federal court order to integrate the University of Mississippi last September, said it was all a Communist plot.

"It's the same old Communist offensive of attack with a hammer and then withdraw," he declared.

Barnett warned the committee that it was about to hear from "that great, silent, substantial white majority back home."

"If you think 500,000 Negroes marching on Washington is something, pass this legislation and you'll find what 100 million angry white Americans will do."

Barnett's reference was to a planned mass demonstration in Washington Aug. 28 by Negroes and other civil rights advocates from all parts of the nation. A leader of the demonstration said Thursday that about 100,000 demonstrators were expected, rather than 500,000 as mentioned by Barnett.

Barnett repeatedly blamed the President and the attorney general for the racial violence which has raked the nation in recent weeks.

"The attorney general has been personally responsible for helping to put mobs in the street," he said.

INSURANCE SAVINGS

New York—UPI—Americans added $1.45 to their accumulated long-term savings last year for every dollar of increase in their personal debt, one of the best such showings on record, says the Institute of Life Insurance. Savings in life insurance and other long-term thrift media rose by $31.5 billion, nearly a third more than the year before.

Danger! Fire Alert! The woods are tinder dry!

This summer warm weather and fast-drying fallen timber have created an extreme fire hazard throughout Pacific Northwest forest lands. Right now the danger is greater than ever before.

Columbus Day windstorms left some 11 billion board feet of blow-down stacked like kindling on the forest floor. That's almost enough wood to supply our nation with new homes for a whole year. By now this windfall has reached the tinder-dry condition foresters call "red slash"—with needles and branches powder dry and red in appearance, ready to explode into flame with the touch of a spark.

longer if necessary. Please respect them.

Whenever possible, access corridors will be kept open to lakes and other recreation areas, but only if they are reasonably clear of slash and blowdown.

Your Responsibility

Whenever you go into the woods, you are responsible for fire prevention in the areas you use. The fire that never starts is the fire that's easiest to control.

When building fires, stick to established camping areas. Build fires only in facilities provided for them or where there is no chance they can spread. Make doubly sure this year that your fires are never left unattended, that they are completely extinguished when you leave them, and bury the embers with several shovelfuls of earth. Watch matches and cigarettes carefully and make sure they are out—really out.

If you observe all the rules of fire prevention, you can help prevent a major fire disaster this year and continue to enjoy the benefits of our natural forest resources—wood, water, wildlife, recreation benefits and payrolls.
