More Entries Expected for Jalopy Auto Racing At Speedway Track Sunday

Jalopy auto racing will be in full swing again this Sunday afternoon, July 21, at the Medford Speedway track in White City. Gates open at noon for action on the one-fourth mile oval raceway.

Some ten new drivers have signed up during the past week, indicating more entries and keener competition than was witnessed at the July 7th race. Officials expect at least forty of the old stock cars to be in the thick of action for the honors.

Track operators noted that this week's races would be longer in length. Heat races will be ten laps, the Semi-Main will be increased to 15 laps, and the Main event will run for 25 laps. The trophy dash, a special feature between the four fastest cars that time in at the track, will remain at four laps around the oval.

Faster times are anticipated as drivers gain experience driving the course and mechanical improvements and adjustments will increase the speed of other entries.

Work was scheduled to begin this week on construction of a concrete guard rail which will make the track wider and provide better facilities for drivers and spectators. Additional seating is being installed as track officials expect a larger crowd out to watch the Rogue valley's top drivers in action in a slambang affair.

Oregon Grapplers Draw With Japan

Tokyo — (UPI) — A team of Oregon's high school wrestling champions fought to a 4-4 draw today with an Knato (Eastern Japan) all-star team. It was the Oregon wrestlers' first of nine meets in this country on a home and home goodwill series.

The competition was held at the Aoyama Wrestling Center in sweltering weather. Strong lights for television cameras increased the heat.

The Oregonians fought to a tie after they had lost the first four bouts in the lighter divisions. None of the competitors scored a fall.

In two exhibition bouts which did not figure in the team scoring, Katsuo Sasaki of Nihon university, 190 pounds, won a decision over Don Kauffman of Lebanon and Masanori Saito, heavyweight, of Meiji university beat Harold Weight of Portland by decision.

Coach Delance Duncan of Klamath Union High school told United Press International after the meet he was satisfied with the results. He added: "We now know what to expect in the other meets. I hope our little boys will pick up some wins. I think they were a bit nervous today just like players are before the kickoff in a football game."

Coach John Dustin of Marshfield High school pointed out that it was very hot for the boys in the arena. He said his boys were used to much cooler weather in Oregon.

The results:
110 pounds: Moto Yasu, Mitt Agricultural High school, defeated Richard Benjoni, Portland.
120 pounds: Haruoki Mizui, defeated Rick Sanders, Portland.
130 pounds: Hidefumi Hiro, Sansho High school, defeated Grant Humphrey, Klamath Falls.

Ti First To Finish

Honolulu — (UPI) — Ticonderoga, a 72-foot ketch under charter to Robert Johnson of Portland, slipped into the beam of a searchlight of Diamond Head early today to become the first to finish the 1963 Trans-Pacific Yacht race.

The vessel crossed the line at 4:46 a.m. PDT covering the 2,225-mile course from San Pedro, Calif., in 11 days, 16 hours, 46 minutes and 33 seconds. Her handicap is 6 hours, 25 minutes and 18 seconds.

Strung out over some 500 miles of ocean behind her were 31 more yachts. Almost any of the smaller ones may beat out the Ticonderoga on corrected time.

The crew of the Ticonderoga reported Monday night that it was "out of whiskey, women, cigarettes and water" but had land in sight. At Monday morning's regular roll call, the vessel was 170 miles from the finish line of the race, which began on July 4.
