Honolulu—UPI—A parade of boats sailed across the Diamond Head finish line of the 1963 Trans-Pacific Yacht Race today, but only the elapsed time and class A winners were definite.

The expected fleet winner on a handicap basis still appeared to be the Islanders, a 40-foot class D sloop owned by Thomas C. Corkett of Balboa, Calif. However, she wasn't expected to cross the finish line until Thursday.

The 72-foot ketch Ticconderoga, skippered by Robert F. Johnson of Portland, Ore., crossed the finish line early Tuesday as the vanguard of the 32 boats on the 2,225-mile run from San Pedro, Calif.

However, the 64-foot cutter Orient, owned by Tom Moseley of Atherton, Calif., edged the Ticconderoga for the class A title on the basis of handicap.

State Funds Will Reduce School Tax

Grants Pass—Allocation of additional state funds will reduce an anticipated jump in Grants Pass school taxes for the 1963-64 fiscal year, it was noted here at a special school board meeting Monday.

Ralph E. Jones, superintendent of City School District 7, said a previously estimated levy of 64.2 mills will now be lowered to 55.2, an increase of approximately 1 mill over the 1962-63 levy of 54.1.

This was made possible by the allotment of $817,510 under the new basic school support formula instead of the $885,700 previously expected from this source.

The board voted that appropriate corrections be made on the budget document, notices and tax levies.

In other action by the board, the 1963-64 student insurance contract was awarded to Oregon Physician's Service.

Greater Role for Sheriffs Visioned

Portland—UPI—Counties are going to become the most important unit of local government and sheriffs are expected to have a greater role in local law enforcement, an executive director of the National Association of Counties has predicted.

Bernard F. Hillenbrand, speaker at a Tuesday session of the National Sheriffs Association conference here, told delegates the county is in some respects becoming "the city of tomorrow."

He said that in most urban counties the population of the central city is declining as business and civic leaders move to suburban communities.

Urban services are demanded by the suburban residents, and Hillenbrand said he believes the county is the logical government unit to supply those services.

But, he stressed, county government will have to undergo some changes if it is to become the dominant local unit. Long considered a "field office" of the state government, it must be given more local authority to conduct its business, he said.

Demurrer Filed In Freeman Case

Salem—UPI—A demurrer to the appeal of convicted child slayer Jeannette June Freeman was filed Tuesday in Marion County Circuit Court.

The demurrer questions if there is sufficient legal evidence to warrant a post-conviction trial of the murder case. It was filed by Assistant Atty. Gen. Collis Marsden.

Miss Freeman had been scheduled to become the first woman to die in Oregon's gas chamber, but her Aug. 1 execution date was stayed when her attorneys filed the post-conviction suit.

If Marion County Circuit Judge George Jones sustains the demurrer the post-conviction case would be dismissed.

Should the demurrer be turned down, arguments on the post conviction appeal would be heard later.

Post-conviction proceedings were instituted in Oregon to provide a hearing for convicts who claim they haven't been given a fair trial or that their legal rights have been abused.

Local Youth Taken Back Into Custody

A 15-year-old Medford boy, on parole from MacLaren Detention home, was taken into custody by city police yesterday after he was caught prowling the office of the Central Church of Christ, 1440 South Oakdale ave.

Under questioning, the youth admitted he broke into two churches in Medford a total of 10 times since June 23. He also confessed having broken into a private residence on Oakdale ave. and stolen some small items.

The other church that he admitted breaking into was the Church of the Nazarene, 520 North Holly st. He told officers he had taken a total of about $5 from the church over a period of time.

The boy was caught about 9 a.m. yesterday when Joel Edward Smith, minister of the Central Church of Christ, walked into his church office and surprised the youth sitting at the desk.

City police said the youth will be returned to MacLaren today or tomorrow.

Sicilian Police Nab Mafia Members

Palermo, Sicily—UPI—Police have arrested nine more persons in their war against the Mafia, bringing the number held to around 500, it was announced today.

The arrests were made Tuesday night in the vicinity of Corleone, a Mafia stronghold. Police said two known Mafia leaders in this area had escaped their dragnet and apparently fled to some other part of Italy.

The roundup started after a car booby-trapped by the Mafia, blew up and killed seven policemen and soldiers June 30.

Tongue Point Use By Guard Opposed

San Francisco—UPI—A special Coast Guard investigative board has recommended against moving the Coast Guard's Alameda, Calif., training center to Tongue Point, Ore.

However, final decision will be made by Coast Guard headquarters in Washington, D.C. There was no indication when that decision would be made.

A spokesman at the Coast Guard's 12th District headquarters here confirmed Tuesday that a special board of officers investigated the Tongue Point site near Astoria May 16.

The board recommended against acquisition of Tongue Point, a former naval base, primarily because it would be too expensive, the spokesman said. Tongue Point was also found to be "too big" and the general layout "awkward," according to the spokesman.

In addition, the board said the Coast Guard could get more for its money by improving the facilities at Alameda rather than purchasing the Tongue Point property.

Spinning Wheel Tests Hair Waving Potions

Springfield, Mass.—UPI—A spinning wheel like nothing great-grandma ever saw is teaching beauty scientists here what happens to your curls when you're caught in a summer shower—or a fast convertible.

The horizontal wheel in the laboratories of John H. Breck, incorporated, whirrs locks of hair in a wild electrical polka of 1,400 revolutions per minute to determine the "centrifugal G ratio" of various waving preparations.
