

Meany Asks End of Job Discrimination Against Negroes

Electronics Continue To Lead Narrow Stock Market

New York—(UPI)—Electronics continued to outperform a narrowly mixed stock market today.

Texas Instruments, RCA, Motorola, Electronic Associates, IBM, and Control Data rose a point or more in the electronic section. Inland and Youngstown Sheet each tacked on a large fraction but Continental lost about a point in the steels.

White Motor and Chrysler rose roughly 1 in a higher auto sector. Eastman Kodak featured the chemicals, up about 1. Singer Co. topped around 2 after announcing it will acquire Friden for $175 million of stock. Friden did not open during the first hour because of an accumulation of buy orders.

Polaroid, which will soon introduce a new camera, rose more than 2. Xerox rose about 3.

Rocky, Goldwater Debate Proposed

New York—(UPI)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.) have been invited by the Columbia Broadcasting System to exchange their views in a television debate.

Richard S. Salant, president of CBS News, sent telegrams to the two Republicans Tuesday, offering them an hour of air time on July 24, Aug. 7 or Aug. 21.

A spokesman said today the network has not received replies from either Rockefeller or Goldwater.

In extending the invitation, Salant suggested the debate center on "appropriate policies and directions for the Republican party in 1964."

Simmering dissension within the GOP burst to the surface last Sunday when Rockefeller warned that the "radical right lunatic branch" might all but destroy the party.

He also expressed the fear that Goldwater, a leading candidate for the 1964 presidential nomination, will become a "captive" candidate of the extreme right wing factions.

The Arizona conservative's supporters promptly retorted that the attack was Rockefeller's way of declaring his own candidacy for the nomination.

Two-Spotted Mites Subject of Report

Logan, Utah—(UPI)—A pair of two-spotted mites, kept in 80-degree temperatures for 30 days, will produce 13 million descendants, a report from Utah State university notes.

Nature keeps a balance, though, because they have natural enemies to thin out the number. Cold weather also kills millions.

Union President Sees Sufficient Jobs as Remedy

Washington—(UPI)—AFL-CIO President George Meany asked Congress today to help the Negro find the same job opportunities on the assembly line that he now enjoys on the baseball field.

In testimony prepared for the House Judiciary Committee, Meany supported the administration's request for statutory authority for the President's Committee on Equal Employment Opportunity.

But, he said, the best way to end job discrimination is to provide enough jobs for everyone.

"Equal opportunity is meaningless without full opportunity," Meany said. "The real remedy is jobs for all."

Meany criticized employers, and some Negroes, for their approach to the civil rights problem.

He said he could not accept some Negro demands for preferential hiring treatment, or "super seniority," as a way of getting more jobs. This, he said, shows "they are not thinking clearly," for more experienced white workers could be punished if job seniority was ignored.

As for employers, Meany said, they "are in most cases responsible for job discrimination in the first place." He accused management of opposing equal job opportunity legislation and union-supported fair employment policies at local plants.

Urges Legislation

The AFL-CIO chief urged legislation that would attack discriminatory hiring practices by unions and management with equal harshness. He criticized the "slap-on-the-wrist" approach to employers in past legislation.

"Surely every American is entitled to be judged on his own, on the basis of his ability," Meany told the committee. "He ought to have the same rights on the assembly line, in apprenticeship training or anywhere else that he now enjoys on the ball field."

"We lost the best of Satchel Paige to ghetto baseball," Meany added. "We need every Willie Mays we can find."

Basball Commissioner Ford Frick told Congress that the major leagues are now almost totally integrated both on the playing field and in the stands. And he said this was done without any of the "tragedies" that had been predicted.

"Paid a Price" Frick said baseball "paid a price" for integration with the loss of several minor league clubs in the South. But overall, it has worked out to the satisfaction of almost everyone concerned, he said.

Frick testified before the Senate Commerce Committee on the Kennedy administration's proposal to ban discrimination in private accommodations open to the public. Some members of the committee said the results achieved in baseball could be achieved without violence in virtually every other area of American society.

The commissioners of the two major professional football leagues told the committee that segregation was no problem in pro football either among players or seating in stadiums.

Saturday Eclipse Of Sun Brings Back Old Superstitions

Washington—(UPI)—There's going to be an eclipse of the sun Saturday, and a lot of honest and decent people are going to blame it on the moon. Inasmuch as these people (they're called astronomers) can foretell an eclipse to a fraction of a second, they may be right about what causes it.

But in times not too far past large bodies of opinion have supported other theories. Mankind has always been aware that now and then something gets to nibbling on the sun.

Sun Disappears Occasionally, in broad daylight, the sun disappears altogether for a brief period as though, like Jonah, it had been swallowed, but not permanently.

The moon theory is not particularly modern. The early Arawak people of British Guiana used to say, whenever an eclipse occurred, that "the sun and moon are fighting."

But other peoples proposed other sun-eating agents—giant frogs, huge cod fish, great black squirrels, enchanted jaguars, werewolves, mammoth serpents, and, of course, dragons.

Still others saw in solar eclipses feuds of the gods, prophetic warnings, the evil workings of witchcraft, and portents of the world's end.

One scandalous notion was that the sun and moon were lovers, under the most illicit of circumstances, who seized the opportunity of an eclipse to do what they shouldn't have. Notions Killed Modern science, of course, has killed all these notions. As far back as 1820 a scholarly textbook was assuring U.S. school children that al-

Special California Session May Continue Indefinitely

Sacramento—(UPI)—A senate deadlock over Gov. Edmund G. Brown's $84.9 million budget augmentation bill threatened today to extend a summer special session of the legislature indefinitely.

No compromise was in sight. Although the deadlock came when Republicans held firmly against the spending program, the budget wasn't even the major issue.

The key problem was Brown's insistence on acceleration of the state bank and corporation tax, starting in June 1965. But the 12 GOP senators, even united, could not hold back that bill, which edged out of the lower chamber Tuesday, 22-14.

By unanimous 37-0 votes, the senate also approved bills to eliminate installment privileges for personal income taxes, accelerate the gross insurance premium tax and transfer revenue from the surplus line brokers tax from the insurance fund to the general fund.

Commercial Banks Report New Accounts

New York—(UPI)—The New York State Bankers association reports that more than 331,000 new accounts were opened in commercial banks in New York state last year. This included 130,000 special checking accounts, 110,000 savings accounts and 90,000 regular checking accounts.

Total savings in commercial banks, savings banks and savings and loan associations reached a record of $34.4 billion.

though eclipses could be foretold, they couldn't foretell anything. Nobody, it was suggested, could dependably base forecasts of flood, famine, war, pestilence, and general doom on eclipses of the sun. There have been a lot of eclipses since 1820, and a lot of floods, famines, wars—but don't let's get superstitious at this late date.

Special California Session May Continue Indefinitely

But the spending program, boosting the cost of running state government during the fiscal year beginning July 1 to $3,229,309,000 needed 27 votes—two thirds of the membership of the senate—to move along to the assembly.

When the vote came, shortly after noon, the senate Republicans voted as a bloc against the budget augmentation, leaving it three votes short of passage. The Republicans said they will continue to block it until the bank and corporation bill is defeated.
