Timberwolf Division Will Be Airlifted To Training Site

Brig. Gen. William H. Prentice, Medford, senior assistant commander, 104th Division (Trng), has announced that beginning at midnight Friday, and utilizing all types of aircraft, the entire division will be airlifted to Camp Roberts, Calif., for its summer training July 20 to Aug. 3.

He noted that it is seldom a reserve division is airlifted for its summer training, but the 104th Timberwolf has a more important training assignment this year than ever before–it will receive its trainees four days earlier than usual and the division must be completely operational in one day's time.

The mission of the 104th in the event of mobilization would be to train large numbers of basic recruits in the basic combat techniques and advanced individual skills and to make them combat ready in the shortest possible time.

Army evaluators have rated the 104th Division highly and the purpose of the airlift is a further test of the division's state of readiness, according to General Prentice.

Units of the Timberwolf Division are located throughout Oregon and Washington, from the Canadian border to Klamath Falls, with 104th headquarters at Vancouver Barracks, Wash.

Second Battalion Men

Members of the Second battalion, 414th Regiment (BCT), 104th division, composed of men from Jackson, Josephine and Klamath counties will participate in the Timberwolf airlift, leaving Medford at 1:30 p.m. Saturday, according to Lt. Col. John F. Rush, Commanding Officer.

The second battalion is composed of Company E, commanded by Capt. Donald W. Johnson, Grants Pass; Company F, under Capt. Robert D. Murphy, Central Point; Company G, under Capt. Vernon E. Craft, Medford; Company H, under Capt. Jack A. Moebius, Klamath Falls; and H/H Company under Capt. James D. Straus, Central Point.

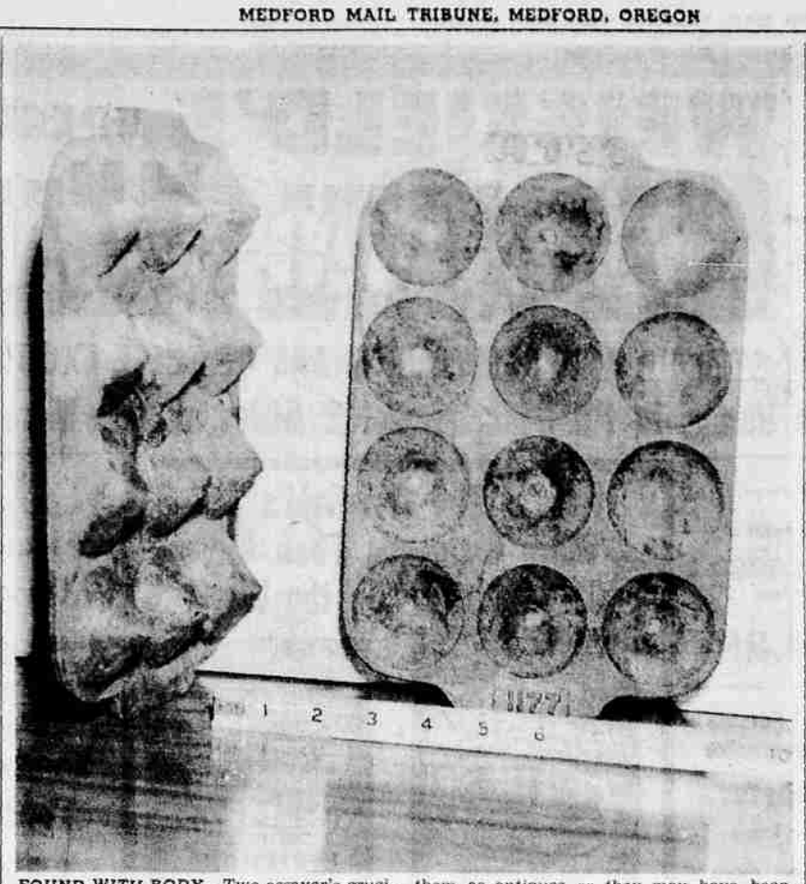
During the two weeks encampment, the 104th division will gain practical experience in the type of work the unit would do if activated–that is operating a post where trainees receive their first six months of basic training. Approximately 2,000, fifth and sixth week trainees from Ft. Ord, Calif., will be assigned to the 104th Division during its summer encampment.

To Handle Phases

The Second battalion, 414th Regiment (BCT) will handle the following phases of the training program: bayonet drill, dismounted drill, marches, ceremonies, troop information and land navigation, according to Captain Straus, Central Point, the unit's operations and training officer.

Maj. Gen. Eugene Cushing, Vancouver, Wash., will be in command of the main body of troops during the training session. He will be assisted by General Prentice, Medford, and Col. Joseph Murray Jr., Seattle. Col. Marion Felt, Vancouver, newly appointed senior regular Army advisor to the 104th division will attend the summer training.

Capt. Donald F. Burrell and Sgt.1C Kenneth D. Olds, Medford, Regular Army advisors will accompany the local unit to the training site.



FOUND WITH BODY – Two assayer's crucible molds, in frequent use in the area more than 30 years ago, were used to weight down the body of the boy found in Keene Creek reservoir last week. Each mold, weighing 4¾ pounds, has 12 cone shaped depressions. They are now considered rare items, according to District Attorney Alan B. Holmes, and the owner might have kept them as antiques or they may have been taken from an abandoned mining operation. The body, wrapped in blankets, was tied with a lead sheath, 14-gauge copper insulated wire in general use about 20 years ago in underground conduit installations. See story on Page 1. Pay for Legislators In Special Session OK'd

Salem–(UPI)–Should a special session of the Oregon Legislature be called, lawmakers would be entitled to $20 a day in expense money, Atty. Gen. Robert Y. Thornton ruled Wednesday.

A legislative pay law passed this year limits expense payments to 120 days during a session. Thornton ruled, however, that a special session would be a new session, not a continuation of the earlier one.

Sourdoughs Will Conduct New Class

Grants Pass–The Josephine County Sourdoughs, overwhelmed with "students" at a pair of gold - panning classes which they sponsored here earlier this month, have scheduled a series of three additional public classes in the art of panning for gold.

First class in the new series will start at 8 o'clock tonight in "Sourdough Gulch" at the Josephine county fairgrounds, with subsequent classes to follow on alternate Thursdays, Aug. 1 and 15. Instructors will be members of Josephine County Sourdoughs.

In addition to teaching the technique of panning for gold, they will also coach the neophytes in the art of knowing where to pan.

Sourdough president Len Schaffer, Grants Pass, said the classes were originally set up to impart to some of the younger generation a knowledge of gold panning.

Fifty persons attended the first class, and 80 were at the second.
