

Mrs. Janet Schmitz, teacher of the children's art classes being sponsored this summer by Rogue Valley Art association, is shown here with two of her pupils during a party held yesterday morning at Rogue gallery, 220 West Main street. The students are Robin Pluck, 9, Gold Hill, and Judy Uhrine, 11; Judy did the charcoal drawing of trees which the teacher exhibited yesterday with other work produced in the class. The drawing was done after the class had taken a walk through the park near the Public Library of Medford and Jackson County, where the classes are held. A new series opens Thursday morning.

Art Classes For Children To Continue

A second series of art classes for children under the sponsorship of Rogue Valley Art association will open tomorrow, July 25. The first series closed yesterday with a party held at Rogue gallery. Mrs. Janet Schmitz, instructor of the class, states that the first class will be devoted primarily to an explanation of the program and preparation of a portfolio. Sessions will be held at the Public Library of Medford and Jackson County in Medford on Tuesdays and Thursdays. A fee is charged. Children between 6 and 9 8:30 until 10 a.m. Enrollment may still be made at the first class meeting. Because the library room used by the class will be occupied by another group Tuesday, July 30, the classes will meet Monday, July 29. Remaining classes will be August 1, 6, 8, 13 and 15.

Material packets are on sale at the Colorama Paint center, 315 East Main street. Children who were enrolled in the first session need not purchase extra materials, Mrs. Schmitz states. The instructor says that aim of the class is to stimulate the child's creative growth through enriching art experiences in the use of paint. Emphasis is on what the child gets from the experience, rather than on the final art product. Mrs. Schmitz is a graduate of the University of Nebraska with a degree in fine arts and has considerable teaching experience. She may be contacted at 772-4754.

Chapter Gives Dinner Sunday

Members of Delta Omega chapter, Epsilon Sigma Alpha sorority, entertained their husbands Saturday evening, July 20, with a steak dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leland Carpenter, 547 Windsor avenue. Guests spent the evening playing volleyball, badminton and cards. The next social function for members and husbands will be a swim party the latter part of August.

Annual Tea Is Planned

Westminster Presbyterian Women's association invites all women of the Rogue valley to a friendship tea. It will be held at the home of Mrs. Garner T. Haupt, 222 Valley View drive, Tuesday, July 30. Hours are from 2 until 4 o'clock. Mrs. Richard Pedley, general chairman, states that the event is planned to provide an opportunity for women of the valley to become better acquainted. In addition, an offering will be taken and the money added to the medical funds which the Presbyterian women support to care for special needs both nationally and abroad.

Shower Honors Miss Welburn

Talent - Miss Earlene Welburn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Welburn, Old Pacific highway, Talent, was honored recently at a bridal shower given for her by Mrs. Allan Higinbotham at her home, 597 Head road, Central Point, and Mrs. Lester Higinbotham.

Miss Welburn and her fiancée, Gary W. DeGarmo, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. DeGarmo, 217 South Barneburg road, Medford, are planning a September wedding.

The table was decorated with a bouquet of red dahlias and white baby breath, flanked by white candles.

Guests included Mrs. E. H. DeGarmo, Mrs. Jim Quinn, Mrs. Stanley Horton, Mrs. Robert Pieri, Mrs. Wendell Bateman, Mrs. Murry Powell, Mrs. Lee Garrett, Mrs. Loren Pryor, Mrs. Frank Worrell and Mrs. Harold Melsted.

Calendar

Wednesday
7:30 p.m. - Southern Oregon Society of Artists, Girls' Community club.
Thursday
12:30 p.m. - LWV picnic. Mrs. Curtice Hopkins, 3775 Old Military rd.

Mrs. Zola Russell Radey, Old Stage road, Central Point, (left above) and Mrs. Juanita Guille, 824 East Ninth street, Medford, departed July 20 for a two-week trip to Canada. From Seattle, they will make the ferry trip to Victoria, B.C., and after several days there will continue to Vancouver, B.C. Their itinerary next will take them to Banff and Lake Louise, and from there the two will go to Calgary, Alberta. Enroute back the women will visit Waterton National park, the Canadian portion of Glacier National park, which they also will tour. Mrs. Radey, valley organist and teacher of organ music, recently returned from a 10-day trip to the Hawaiian islands, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Roy Daggett, Portland. Mrs. Guille is a member of the staff of the Medford branch, United States National Bank of Portland. The picture above was taken on the patio of Mrs. Radey's home, while the two inspected a muu muu which Mrs. Radey had purchased in Hawaii.

Balmain's Lines Are Quiet Style

By ALINE MOSSY
United Press International
Paris-UPI-Designer Pierre Balmain presented his fall-winter line in the Paris style parade Tuesday with a collection in his usual quiet style. No matter what other designers do, Balmain continues to make elegant clothes that could be worn by queens or rich housewives in any city for 15 years and always be in perfect taste.

One of his few changes was to banish bare arms instead, his cocktail dresses and some afternoon dresses had cap sleeves.

Many of the dresses were in a "princess style"—gently flaring skirt, waist only slightly indicated, with a bow or tiny half-belt placed under the bustline.

Balmain quickly abandoned the puffed-up shoulder he tried last season. The suit and coats had a natural shoulder.

Wide Sleeves
Some of his coats had a wide sleeve. Most were cut fuller in the back, pointing up the fact that Paris has virtually abolished the fitted, redingote coat this season. His coats usually had tiny, stand-up collars.

Some suit jackets were to the hipline, others were nipped off at the waist, and all hung loose. Suit sleeves were narrow and to the wrist and skirts narrow and just covering the knees.

The tall Balmain models who casually dragged their mink coats down the runway all wore large pearl choker necklaces and large pearl button earrings.

Even cocktail and evening outfits were complimented by mink tams with a wind-swept look.

Balmain's favorite color appeared to be a red the color of strawberry ice cream. For evening he used many Oriental brocades for coats. Many evening gowns were of champagne or pale silver brocaded silks. Earlier American buyers greeted designer Jacques Heim's long-skirt line with little enthusiasm.

Meeting Planned For Sewing Club
Disabled American Veterans auxiliary sewing club will meet Thursday, July 25, at 11 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Lavina James, 5223 Gebhard road, Central Point. A potluck luncheon will be served at noon.

Punch and Players' Receptions are Slated

Ashland - "Punch & Players" actors and audience meeting informally to discuss theatre and performances of the Oregon Shakespearean festival - is the newest addition to the list of events under the banner of the Tudor guild. With the Festival's continued expansion, audience members frequently have not had an opportunity to meet personally with the actors, technicians, and staff of the festival company. To reestablish a closer rapport, the Tudor guild and the festival have launched "Punch & Players" on a weekly basis throughout the festival season. The initial gathering will be Friday, July 26, and subsequent receptions will be held each Friday during the Festival season, concluding September 6. Scheduled from 5 to 6 p.m. at the Stump Art gallery next to the Carousel restaurant on the Ashland Plaza, "Punch & Players" admission is free; donations for the Tudor guild scholarship fund will be accepted. Several members of Tudor guild as well as members of the festival company will be present to greet and chat with theatregoers; light refreshments will be served.

Party Sunday Honors Visitors

Mr. and Mrs. Tom G. Staley were hosts for a cocktail party Sunday afternoon, inviting friends to their home, Genelec lodge, on the Rogue river near Eagle Point. The event honored their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Staley, who are spending this month at the lodge. About 40 guests attended.

July 13 Mrs. Alice Wylie, sister of the hostess, entertained at a family dinner at her home in Phoenix which celebrated the 13th birthday anniversary of the Tom Staley's son, Michael. The visitors have also been the guests of Col. and Mrs. Fred W. Greene, Long Mountain road, Eagle Point, and of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lewis, 65 Fair Oaks drive, Medford. Other recent guests at Genelec lodge were Mr. and Mrs. Don Staley, San Francisco, another son and daughter-in-law of the elder Staleys. The Tom Staleys and their two sons, who came here from New York City, will leave in early August for Hollywood. Mr. Staley is a movie and television actor.

Hornbrook Guests Depart for Home

Hornbrook - Mr. and Mrs. Ardis Clyburn and daughters, Ardis and Lori, left Sunday to return to their home in Spokane, Wash. The children had been here for several weeks with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James Clyburn, while their mother visited in Berkeley, Calif., with her mother and sister and family. Mr. Clyburn arrived last week and accompanied by his daughters continued to Berkeley. The family returned to Hornbrook before leaving for home.
