Mystery Blast Fatal To Six

Sudbury, Ont. — Six — The bodies of six persons have been recovered from the ruins of a service station-restaurant near here that was demolished by an explosion of unknown origin late Thursday.

Another person was critically injured and five others were in fair condition in hospitals following the explosion at Hammer, 17 miles north of here.

Two others suffered minor injuries but were treated and later released from a hospital. The names of the six dead were not released. Ontario provincial police still were searching for the body of a seventh person who was believed to have been in the building.

Woman Continues Hiccups Siege

Atlanta — Mrs. Lucy McDonald has been hiccupping since July 8. Sometimes she hiccups at a fast rate. Sometimes it slows down a bit.

"Right now I'm hiccupping about 13 times a minute," she said Thursday. "The only time I get any rest from it is at night when I take sleeping pills."

Mrs. McDonald, 38, is a soda fountain clerk. She started hiccupping when she paid a visit to a sister in a hospital.

Doctors said the hiccupping was caused by an attack on the nerves which control diaphragm muscles, possibly a virus.
