President Seems To Favor Soviet Pact Proposal

Washington - (UPI) - President Kennedy today held a final strategy conference with Secretary of State Dean Rusk on the East-West security talks set with Russian leaders in Moscow next week.

Kennedy, who appears to favor Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's proposed non-aggression pact if it includes increased security guarantees for Berlin, met for almost an hour with Rusk, disarmament chief William C. Foster, Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman and Llewellyn Thompson, Rusk's adviser.

Confident of Approval

The President, who said he was confident the Senate would approve the limited test ban treaty, declared that a non-aggression pact might also be a good idea if it contained provisions giving stronger guarantees on Berlin.

Kennedy told a news conference he thought it "advisable" for the NATO powers to discuss Khrushchev's proposal to see whether it would serve the interests of the West.

Rusk Leaves Tonight

Rusk leaves tonight for Moscow where on Monday he will formally sign the limited test ban treaty which was initiated there last week by Harriman.

While this is the formal reason for the trip, on which Rusk will be accompanied by a six-man congressional group, greater importance is attached to the talks he will have later next week with Khrushchev and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

In these talks Rusk hopes to get a clearer idea of just what Khrushchev has in mind in the way of a non-aggression pact and related measures to make it work. High officials said the secretary will do no "negotiating," since the United States first must come to terms with its NATO allies, but is authorized to undertake far-ranging discussions in an effort to determine just what is on Khrushchev's mind.

Kennedy also said he was ready to give France nuclear weapons and know-how if President Charles de Gaulle reversed his field and agreed to sign the limited test ban treaty and cooperate in "integration" of NATO forces - possibilities generally considered dim.

Kennedy said signing of the treaty by Communist East Germany would not, under international practice, constitute recognition of the Soviet-occupied state by the United States or any of the other countries which have refused to establish relations with the Red regime.

There seems to be no "useful purpose" to be served by holding a summit conference with Khrushchev within the foreseeable future, Kennedy said.

The President said skilled negotiation such as that which resulted in the test ban agreement "is really the best way unless there is an overwhelming crisis or unless there is some new fact introduced into the international situation which is not now visible which would make such a summit meeting desirable."

Brown Satisfied With California's Special Session

Sacramento - (UPI) - Republicans cried "bossism" and Democrats claimed "partisanship" today from the 1963 legislature's special session, which ended Thursday in a flurry of debate.

But Gov. Edmund G. Brown termed the results of the four-week session "eminently satisfactory" and said the lawmakers "met every basic need" he had asked in calling the legislature back to Sacramento.

He particularly mentioned a bill, passed in the final minutes, to boost state aid to education by $25 million a year, $5 million less per year than Brown originally asked the lawmakers to appropriate.

"The school support measure... provides substantial immediate assistance," Brown said. "Just as important it commits a great deal more state money to schools when badly needed reforms in distribution have been achieved."

The governor promised to seek more reforms, particularly a countywide equalization plan, at next year's budget session, convening in February.

The lawmakers also gave a state budget augmentation of $126 million to boost the state's total budget for the current fiscal year to $3.27 billion. But $20 million of the total was Junior College construction money only technically involved in the spending program.

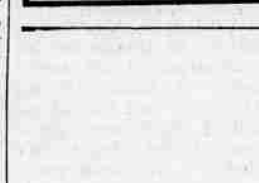

Each of the 5,200 employees of the Timber Industry with their families will average a 1 1/2 lb. loaf of bread per family per day. (from National Bakers Association - national average)

This considers the biscuits, rolls, other types of bread all converted to the standard 1 1/2 lb. loaf.

These loaves of bread would make 20,878,000 sandwiches as each loaf has 22 slices and will make 11 sandwiches. Now if each sandwich is 1 1/4 inch thick (2 slices of 1/2 inch each plus other ingredients) that would make a pile of sandwiches 411.89 miles high!

THIS TAKES A LOT OF PEANUT BUTTER AND JELLY! ... and it takes a lot of payroll in the Timber Industry to provide this buying power adding to the economy of Jackson County.

SOUTHERN OREGON CONSERVATION & TREE FARM ASSOCIATION

Dr. Elmo N. Stevenson, SOC president, attributed much of the burgeoning enrollment to expanded course offerings, science and recreational resources, outstanding teaching personnel, and to the widening reputation achieved by the college for the general excellence of its summer session programming.

President Stevenson gave much credit to Dr. Bill Sampson, summer session director, for the selection of outstanding, nationally-known educators to conduct classes and workshops, stating that in this area particularly, the college had been conducting the finest session in its history.

August workshops remaining include: Southern Oregon Choral Institute, Aug. 4-9; Shakespeare Seminar and Science in the Elementary and Junior High Schools, Aug. 12-23. Those interested in attending should contact the registrar's office.

Is it proper to call for Gordon's by name in English Pubs?

It's not a matter of being proper. It's unnecessary. For when most Englishmen ask for gin, they expect to get Gordon's. After all, its distinctive dryness and delicate flavour have been a part of English life for 194 years. Americans, however, have been enjoying Gordon's for a somewhat shorter span of time. So it is wise (and proper) to specify Gordon's by name. Your first sip of a Gordon's martini will tell you why it's the biggest selling gin over here as well as in England and the rest of the world.

Wheel Spinning Promotion Illegal

Salem - (UPI) - A proposed promotion scheme where customers could spin a wheel of fortune and win the amount of money indicated by their purchase receipt would be a lottery, Atty. Gen. Robert Y. Thornton said Thursday.

His opinion was in answer to a request from Malheur County Dist. Atty. John N. Hutchens.

The Oregon Supreme Court ruled recently that a drawing for a prize in a store wasn't a lottery.

But Thornton said the scheme about which Hutchens asked was different because the customer's purchase determined the amount he would win.

No purchase was required in the case on which the high court had ruled.
