FTC Accuses Five Drug Companies Of Price-Fixing

Patent Fraud Is Leveled at Two

Washington - (UPI) - The Federal Trade Commission Saturday accused five leading U. S. drug manufacturers of conspiring to fix prices of tetracycline, a multi-million-dollar antibiotic, in a "quiet smothering of competition."

The wonder drug is used to combat a wide range of bacterial infections.

In an unprecedented move, the five-man commission also claimed the right to take steps to limit or completely halt enforcement of drug patents by two of the firms, Chas. Pfizer and Co., Inc., and American Cyanamid company.

The other three firms charged were Bristol-Myers company and Bristol Laboratories, Inc. Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp. (Squibb), and the Upjohn company.

Pfizer and Bristol-Myers promptly denied the allegations. They and Cyanamid said they would appeal to the federal courts.

The FTC said that Pfizer has held the tetracycline patents for 17 years, reaping potential sales of more than a billion dollars. Sales of the drug, "probably the leading antibiotic on the market today," it said, have run more than $100 million a year.

The FTC, reversing a hearing examiner's findings, ordered the five manufacturers to scrap all price lists for tetracycline and publish new prices independently, based on individual manufacturing and overhead costs, desired margins of profits and "other lawful considerations."

The price-policing agency gave each firm a deadline of 60 days from the date of its final order, which was not specified. An FTC attorney indicated the commission would first study and issue a second order dealing with the Pfizer and Cyanamid patents.

SEN. ESTES KEFAUVER Succumbs Peacefully

Senator Kefauver Dies in Capital Of Heart Attack

Washington - (UPI) - Sen. Estes Kefauver, who came out of Tennessee's farm country to combat big city vice lords and business monopolies and twice seek the Presidency, died Saturday of a heart attack. He was 60.

The tall, amiable Democrat succumbed "quickly and peacefully" at 3:40 a.m. EDT at Bethesda Naval Hospital. He had entered the hospital Thursday for what was believed to be a slight case of indigestion. But this was diagnosed Friday as a mild heart attack.

Aorta Ruptured - Early Saturday, the inner wall of the aorta ruptured and the senator died before his wife could reach his bedside from a Colorado vacation. They have four children - three girls and a boy.

A successor to serve until the elections next year will be named by Democratic Gov. Frank Clement of Tennessee. Funeral services will be held Tuesday at 3 p.m. EDT at the family cemetery at Kefauver's home, Madisonville, Tenn. The body will be on view today at a Washington funeral home. The family requested that in lieu of flowers, contributions be made to the Heart Fund.

President Kennedy, who was attending the funeral of his infant son in Boston, said Kefauver's death "has deprived this nation of one of its most distinguished leaders."

Powerful Influence - The President eulogized the senator as "a public servant of energy, integrity and talent" whose "devotion to the public interest and to the welfare of the people of his state

Kennedy's Baby Son Buried In Simple Service

Boston - (UPI) - President Kennedy, sorrow etched on his face, buried his infant son Patrick Bouvier Saturday after simple funeral services and a moving farewell at the side of the grave.

Only the closest members of the Kennedy family were with the Chief Executive at the Mass of the Angels said for the child and later at the cemetery in suburban Brookline.

The graveside service took just a few minutes and the mourners then moved back to give the President a final moment with the son who died Friday after living just 39 hours.

The President moved close to the little white casket and placed his hand on the cover for a moment, his head bowed in grief.

Then he turned away and followed the other members of the party to the waiting cars.

The President flew immediately back to Otis Air Force base on Cape Cod to be with his sorrowing wife, Jacqueline, who is recuperating at the hospital there from the caesarean section she underwent last Wednesday. The surgery prevented her from attending the funeral services with the President.

Other Children - The Kennedys' two other children, 5-year-old Caroline and 2-year-old John Jr., remained at the summer White House in Hyannis Port.

Only Dr. John W. Walsh, Mrs. Kennedy's obstetrician, was with her while the services were held here. It was understood that Dr. Walsh requested she have no visitors during the trying time.

The President spent about 50 minutes with his wife after returning to Otis. He wore dark glasses and his face was grimly serious as he rushed up the steps of the hospital, followed by Mrs. Kennedy's sister, Princess Lee Radziwill, the First Lady's stepfather and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh D. Auchincloss, and their children, Janet, 18, and Jamie, 15. All except the President remained just a few minutes, leaving him alone with his wife.

Georgia City Said Tense Following Arrest of Negroes

Americus, Ga. - (UPI) - Authorities kept a close watch on this racially tense city Saturday night where more than 50 persons have been arrested during two consecutive nights of demonstrations.

Police Chief Ross Chambliss Saturday confirmed reports from Negro leaders that his officers fired shots over the heads of demonstrators to disperse one of the protests. The method, he said, "was pretty effective."

A 14-year-old Negro girl was killed in a racial disturbance at Jersey City, N. J., by shotgun blasts fired into a group of Negroes by three whites. Police said the whites were angered in an earlier rock and fist fight with Negroes.

Staged Marches - About 40 Negroes were arrested at anti-segregation demonstrations in Dunn, N. C., and civil rights demonstrators staged marches in Jefferson City, Mo., and Farmville, Va.

American Negroes have mounted a concerted drive against the southwest Georgia community's rigid segregation customs. Seven were arrested Thursday evening and the others scattered by police bullets fired into the air.

During a demonstration Friday night by about 250 persons, officers took 47 more persons into custody who refused orders to disperse.

The latest casualty of the nation's racial conflict was Serina Taylor, She was felled in Jersey City before dawn Saturday when two rounds from automatic shotguns were fired into a street crowd. Authorities named Vincent Lanza, 21, as the triggerman, and arrested him along with two other whites.

Key Issues Near Head in Railroad Dispute - Wirtz

Washington - (UPI) - Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz said Saturday that negotiations on two key issues in the snarled railroad rules dispute should come to a head early this week.

He indicated he expects union and management representatives to be near the decision-making point by Wednesday. But he declined to speculate whether an agreement would emerge from bargaining on suggestions he offered Aug. 2 in an effort to reach an accord and prevent a nationwide strike.

Congress has delayed action on anti-strike legislation proposed by President Kennedy, pending outcome of Wirtz's negotiations.

Wirtz told United Press International he had proposed a two or three year contract to dispose of the two most disputed issues - displacement of firemen and reduction in crew sizes.

Discussion Basis - Both sides accepted this as a basis for discussions that have taken place this week under Wirtz's direction.

"Negotiations with respect to these two issues and perhaps with respect to all of them ought to come to a climax in the first part of next week," the secretary said.

Asked if this would be the final stage in the four-year-old bargaining, Wirtz replied: "It will be only if it results in agreement." He has said repeatedly he will not give up his efforts to achieve a voluntary settlement. But union and management officials did not express optimism on prospects for a negotiated pact following last week's mediation sessions.

Wirtz spent Saturday morning discussing the use of firemen on freight and yard diesels with the four-man management team headed by J. E. Wolfe, chief industry negotiator. The railroads' demand for elimination of 37,000 firemen in these jobs has been the main stumbling block to an agreement.

Rusk, who stopped off here enroute home from recently concluded talks with Soviet Premier Khrushchev, assured Adenauer that he had no cause for worry about the three-nation nuclear test ban treaty. The Chancellor had been concerned, reportedly, that East German's signing of the pact would enhance that regime's international standing. (UPI)

Adenauer Agrees to Ink Test Ban Treaty After Rusk Talks

Bonn, Germany - (UPI) - West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer declared Saturday night after a meeting with U. S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk that he is satisfied with U. S. guarantees and will sign the partial nuclear test ban treaty.

The Chancellor's decision to sign the treaty was announced in a statement issued through the West German government press chief.

Adenauer made the statement after Rusk, who flew here fresh from talks in the Soviet Union with Premier Nikita Khrushchev, assured the Chancellor he had no cause to worry that the Moscow test ban treaty might give backdoor recognition to Communist East Germany.

Adenauer made the decision following a two-hour conference with Rusk, a government spokesman said.

The U. S. Secretary of State stopped here on his way home from signing the treaty in Moscow in order to resolve West German fears the Communists would use the treaty to bolster the East German regime and undermine Adenauer's government.

Told Conference - The West German government press chief, State Secretary Karl - Guenther Von Hase, told a news conference: "A way was found today which makes it possible for the West German government to make a positive attitude in the matter of accession to the treaty."

Diplomatic sources said Rusk told Adenauer the United States hopes Communist China also will sign the treaty, but that even if it does the United States will not grant recognition to Peking.

By the same token, Rusk was reported to have told the German leader, neither Washington nor any other western

Lightning Strikes Hit Rogue Forest

Four small lightning strikes were observed in the Rogue River National forest Saturday morning following Friday night's storm, forest service personnel reported.

Most of the fires consisted of smoldering snags, two in the Union creek district and one in the Prospect district. Two smoke jumpers dropped on a bunch grass fire in the Prospect area. They were at the fire within an hour whereas it would have taken a half day to send in a ground crew by trail.

A light plane patrolling forest land all Saturday morning spotted two spot fires in the Winema National forest in the Klamath Falls area. Jumpers went in on one of the fires which was between Long lake and Lost peak and northeast of Four Mile lake. A ground crew manned a spot fire at Deer lake.

Rogue River National forest personnel helped with fire spotting and communications for Winema National forest.

Friday night's rain was spotty. Little was noted at Union creek, Applegate and Siskiyou areas, but an inch of rain was reported from stations in the Butte Falls area.

Saturday morning's forecast was for a 60 per cent chance of lightning strikes in the Rogue River National forest for Saturday night and Sunday.

CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY - Former President Herbert Hoover (shown in this 1960 file photo) celebrated his 89th birthday Saturday in his Manhattan skyscraper apartment with more anniversary cards than he could count. It has been the custom in the past for Hoover to meet with the press on the eve of his birthday. But this year his doctors advised against this as he is still recovering from a bout of "gastro-intestinal bleeding" suffered in June. Hoover still works at his desk each day and is now writing a history of the past 30 years. (UPI)
