

KIMMY SAYS—

Editor's note: This column is written by a Medford teen-ager who has chosen the non-de plume of "Kimmy." Other teen-agers in the area—and, who knows, perhaps even parents baffled at their offspring's behavior—are invited to write to "Kimmy," in care of the Mail Tribune, for suggestions or advice on manners, dress, behavior and similar subjects.

Dear Kimmy: I have a boyfriend and we are going steady. I haven't seen him in about two weeks. Yesterday I saw him and he was stuck up and real snooty. Should I break up or what?

Wondering: Stop wondering. If he hasn't broken up, YOU should!

Dear Kimmy: I like this boy but I don't know if he likes me. How will I find out if he likes me?

Want to find out: Dear Want to find out: You may never find out, but for heaven's sake, don't ASK him!

Ask YOURSELF: "How likeable am I?" Then try to be more so.

Dear Kimmy: My hair this summer has really been bleached out by the sun. Everyone says I peroxidized it and say peroxide is cheap. I don't want to be known in this category, when it is natural. Please help!

Natural: Dear Natural: Tell the truth or die!

Dear Kimmy: What is the best way to get a boy to really like you?

A girl: Dear Girl: Be yourself!

Dear Kimmy: How can I discourage a too-persistent girl friend from chasing me without being rude?

Handsome: Dear Handsome: Stop running!

Dear Kimmy: I like this boy and he just became a Christian. How can I get him to like me?

Me: Dear You: What difference does that make? No matter what religion he is, if YOU appeal to him he'll like you.

Dear Kimmy: Because of decayed teeth, I am forced to wear false teeth. This is very embarrassing. Once they came out at the Pizza Parlor. I think I would look better without them. My mother doesn't agree. I am 16.

Wonderous: Dear Wonderous: Don't you think it would be MORE embarrassing without ANY teeth?

Dear Kimmy: I have a girl friend who insists on goofing off when it is time to study. I love to study and I want to go to college.

Studying: Dear Studying: First of all, I praise you very much and want to wish you all the luck in the world towards college. Just give her a big smile and a proud wave as YOU enter Stanford, and SHE is sweeping the sidewalk.

Remember she is hurting you!

Dear Kimmy: Last week you advised me to drop Lou (age 51). We are eloping tomorrow. What do you think is proper apparel for the occasion?

Ponderous: Dear Ponderous: Wear a black shift. Incidentally, does your Mommy know about this?

Dear Kimmy: The reason I go out with boys is because I enjoy their companionship, and that is all I want from them. But it seems that most boys want romance instead. How can I explain the way I feel without offending the boys?

Just Friendly: Dear Friendly: Keep active and don't give them a chance for romance. For example, NO PARKING. Most boys will understand, if you just tell them nicely. You know they aren't ALL bad.

Dear Kimmy: Would you please have an article telling what clothes are good for a Freshman in High School?

Big Need: Dear Big Need: At this time of year, this is a question that is asked many times, I'm sure.

The style that is still tops are A-Skirts and Wrap-arounds. Plan ahead what you are going to buy. Buy a skirt that will go with many blouses and sweaters. Jumpers are ALWAYS nice. You can get them in every style and color now. Again, plan ahead to have many different accessories, such as blouses, sweaters, and belts. If you start with basic clothes and planning, you can widen your wardrobe tremendously with little cost.

Jewelry: for a Junior High girl, should not be excessive. A simple charm bracelet or occasionally a very simple necklace.

With good planning, you can be the best dressed girl in school, and it DOESN'T have to be expensive!
