SHORTHORN STEER — Kay Stephenson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delton T. Stephenson, Eagle Point, a 4-H club member, shows off her Shorthorn steer which she exhibited at the recent Jackson County 4-H and FFA fair. Her 14 months old steer was one of eight Shorthorn steers displayed. Fifteen female Shorthorns were also exhibited. This breed is gaining popularity in Jackson county.

Hogs Bring Lower Prices; Beef Steers About Average

Rabbits continued to bring the highest price per pound at the Jackson county 4-H and FFA stock auction this year when a pen of 4-H California champions owned by Cathy Carlson, West Side, brought $2 a pound from Tom Thumb Market.

A pen of 4-H White Rocks brought $1.12 a pound from the same buyer.

Winnie Barker's 4-H champion top grade Duroc earned $1 a pound from Rogue Valley Livestock. Rick Anderson's FFA champion Hampshire brought 60 cents a pound from Tom Thumb market.

Experiment Farm Sets Crop Tour

Farmers, ranchers, vegetable growers, and other persons interested in Jackson county agriculture, are invited to tour the Hanley experimental farm of the Southern Oregon Branch Experiment station, Wednesday morning, Aug. 21, according to Gene Winters, county extension agent.

Persons attending the tour will see research under way on forage crops, vegetable crops, and irrigation, weed control, and fertilizer trials.

Several new crops in the initial stages of investigation will be shown and discussed. Two of these are Crambe and Indian Ironweed. Crambe seed contains erucic acid which is used primarily in rubber manufacture. Indian Ironweed seed is high in epoxy fatty acids used in plastics, paints, and many new products.

The tour is scheduled to start from the turf plots in front of the office at 9:30 a.m. It will be completed by noon. John Yungen, station agronomist, and Porter Lombard, station superintendent, will conduct the tour.

The Hanley Experimental farm is on Hanley rd. between the Jacksonville highway and Ross lane.

Equestrian Signs, Crossings Okayed by County Horsemen

By MARY ALICE BRUSHA

The Jackson County Horseman's association approved the proposal for equestrian signs and crossings presented by Jack Brown, vice president and chairman of the trail committee.

It was made after much extensive investigation and consideration of the many hazards now encountered by the riders enroute to the fairgrounds.

According to Brown, the committee feels that the three main areas from which the majority of horse riders come are: Griffin Creek, West Side School and the Lone Pine areas. As of yet no safe route has been found for the riders from the Howard district to the fairgrounds.

The committee decided signs and crossings are needed at the following places: Lone Pine district, Roberts rd., Delta Waters rd., and Grand View, plus crossing marks and caution signs at McAndrews and Childress, Spring and Childress, East Jackson sts. and Berkley Way, and Berkley Way and East Main st., Highland Drive and Barnett rd. Riders would then turn east on Barnett to Ellendale Dr., and pass Redi-Mix concrete plant, under the freeway and onto the fairgrounds without crossing the overpass on Barnett rd.

Further Routing

Northwest and Griffin Creek area – main objective for riders in these two areas would be to get to Stewart ave. Riders from the West Side School district would be able to get to Stewart ave. Riders from the West Side School area should come in on North Ross lane to Jacksonville highway. It was suggested a crossing and caution sign be placed at Lozier Lane and Jacksonville highway. Riders should then continue from Lozier Lane and Stewart ave., where another crossing and caution sign is needed. On Stewart, two signs are needed, Piggly Wiggly, Stewart and Oakdale, Stewart and Holly, and Stewart and Pacific Highway.

Members of the JCHA also feel that if crosswalks and caution signs were provided on definite routes that the riders would use them. It would also benefit drivers in these areas if the streets were posted. The horsemen believe when this is done all leaders of the 4-H horse groups should instruct the riders to follow these routes.

Volunteers from the horsemen to serve as judges at the Aug. 24-25 4-H Horse Show are: Ralph Keen, Jack Wells, Ted Christensen, Jan Hasler, Wilma Nixon and C. E. Smith. All needed equipment will be supplied by John Belknap, president.

Reports Given

John Belknap and Ted Christensen gave reports on the recent meeting with the parks and recreation committee. They expressed disappointment at the lack of interest shown by other civic and activity groups in the county.

All persons planning to participate in the Sept. 8 trail ride, conducted by George McUne, Pioneer Village at Jacksonville, are asked to call Christensen, for reservations, 772-2431. The ride will begin at 7 a.m. A picnic will follow.

Arrangements for riders planning to participate in the homecoming parade, Nov. 2, at Southern Oregon college can be made by calling Jack Brown, 772-8125.

Cal-Ore Group Meets Tonight

The annual fall Cal-Ore Hereford and Angus bull sale will be discussed at the Cal-Ore Hereford Breeders' meeting at 7:30 o'clock tonight at North's Chuck Wagon restaurant in Medford.

The difference in the operations of the breeder and commercial cattlemen will be the topic for discussion, according to President Eddie Meeker, Phoenix.

Fall Weed Control Given By County Weed Expert

By M. R. HUBBELL
Weed Control Supervisor

Usually we think of controlling perennial broadleaved weeds with late spring applications of chemicals.

Tests have proven highly effective control can be had with fall treatments if weather conditions are such for these plants to have good growing conditions and are still green. This being the case such plants as sheep sorrel, dock and morning glory will make considerable growth in the fall, building up reserves for even greater growth in the spring. Fall treatments kill many of these plants and weaken the growth of any of the remaining plants the next spring.

Two chemicals effective in fall treatments are 2,4-D's and a relatively new one Banvel-D. Where spot treatments are to be made it is suggested that heavier rates of applications be used than when selective sprays were used in pasture, grass, or grain fields.

Morning Glory

Where 2,4-D is to be used in the fall, say on morning glory control, two to six pounds of the chemical should be applied per acre in sufficient water to give thorough coverage of all foliage. This should be done at least 30 days before the first expected frost and while the foliage is green.

Sheep sorrel and dock control can be achieved with application of one pound of Banvel-D chemical per acre. Again, sufficient water should be used to assure wetting all foliage.

Fence rows and ditch banks are a constant source of weed seeds if not controlled and should be considered if work is to be done within the field.

Read the labels on the containers of the chemicals and follow these directions for the best results.

Washington Park Director Resigns

Westport, Wash. —(UPI)— The Washington State Parks and Recreation commission unanimously accepted the resignation of State Parks Director Clayton E. Anderson at a meeting here Monday.

Anderson, who resigned Friday, had been under fire from Gov. Albert D. Rosellini after reports during morale and dissension in his department.

James Hovis, commission chairman, told Anderson "we appreciate the fine things you did with us."

The commissioners asked Anderson to remain with the department an additional 60 days until a new director can be selected and so that projects already underway will not be jeopardized. Anderson said he would stay.

Nut Growers Set Tour For Oregon Orchards

Corvallis — New walnut varieties, re-set filbert orchards, and filbert research work will be features of the annual orchard tour of the Nut Growers Society of Oregon and Washington Aug. 21, according to Robert L. Stebbins, Oregon State university extension horticulturist and society secretary.

BLUE TAG

The blue tag on certified seed bags is the same as the pedigree of a purebred animal —the parentage is known.

Burning Time Due For Grass Seed Fields

Corvallis — Smoke billowing from Willamette Valley grass seed fields during the next few weeks may alarm—and sometimes annoy—city people and Oregon tourists.

But like the smoke from sawmills and industry smokestacks, it signals progress hard at work bringing new dollar into Oregon's economy. Farmers burn seed fields for a number of reasons—all of them aimed at improving quality and quantity of the state's $20 million annual seed production for U.S. and world markets.

U. S. DIET

The U. S. diet averages 20 per cent above the minimum recommended calorie level compared with diets 1 per cent above in Japan and 11 per cent below in India, according to a recent USDA publication.
