

ST. LOUIS CARDS COLLECT CRUMBS IN DODGER SERIES

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer

Instead of half a loaf, all that the Cardinals got were the crumbs. They won the third and final game of their series with the Dodgers, 3-2, Thursday night and it probably was more in the nature of a consolation victory than anything else.

The disappointed Cards, who lost the first two games of the showdown series, had the satisfaction of snapping the Dodgers' seven-game winning streak. That was mighty small consolation considering that the Dodgers still lead the National League by 6 1/2 games today.

What the sad situation amounts to for the Cardinals is this:

They came into Los Angeles last Tuesday all hepped up about their pennant chances because they had taken three in a row from the Giants and were "only" 5 1/2 games back. But they lost a full game—plus a precious opportunity—by the time they left L.A.

Meet Once Again
The Cardinals have one more shot at the Dodgers when they meet them again for a three-game set in St. Louis starting Sept. 16 but by then it may be too late.

The Cards broke a 2-1 tie Thursday night when Ken Boyer doubled in the sixth inning and came home with the winning run on Julian Javier's single.

Ernie Broglio won his 14th although he departed in favor of Ray Sadecki in the eighth. Don Drysdale suffered his 14th defeat against 16 victories.

Giants Beat Braves
In the only other NL game scheduled, the Giants snapped their five-game losing streak with an 8-6 victory over the Braves and the Pirates beat the Cubs 9-3.

Juan Marichal won his 10th for the Giants even though Milwaukee first baseman Joe Torre nicked him for a grand slam homer in the eighth inning.

Roberto Clemente's grand slam homer was the key blow in a five-run ninth inning rally that cemented the Pirates' victory over the Cubs.

It's interesting to be a witness to and part of the kind of excitement that can be stirred up by a rumor concerning the Rogue river. Those who know the river come to have a feeling of ownership together with others who enjoy this wild stream: be they fishermen, guides, conservationists, hikers, or tourists. This, it has been found, is part of the trouble.

THE RUMOR
The gist of the beginning story was that some outfit from Gold Beach was in the process of blasting a channel up the Rogue in order to ferry sight-seeing tourists to Grants Pass in jet boats. It was using dynamite to despen gravel bars and pulverize bottom-ripping rocks. In effect, it would make the exciting river we all enjoy a profitable highway for tourism, and destroy much of the beauty that is the Rogue river.

THE REACTION
Most reactions were typified by the remark, "They can't do that! They don't own the river!" Those who have lived here a long time felt that they could identify the individual who must be doing the blasting because of his prior accomplishments in this field, and also because of his belief that the river was his to do with as he pleased. Everyone was in agreement that the river was too important to be fooled with by any one person or group just to satisfy personal need or greed.

INVESTIGATION
Investigation of the rumor by interested parties reveals that there is blasting going on, but at two different blasting sites: one at Clay hill, the other at Blossom bar. Two parties are involved, a jet-boat operator from Gold Beach, and the above-mentioned individual from Grants Pass. The jet-boat operator wishes to improve the channel for his boat ride from Gold Beach to Paradise lodge above Clay hill riffle; the individual from Grants Pass has reasons not known at this time, but it is speculated that he intends removing the basis for having to portage at Blossom bar.

Further investigation reveals that jurisdiction over the stream channel of the Rogue is with the U.S. corps of engineers, and with the Oregon fish commission from Agness upstream. Permits for any blasting of the channel must be obtained from the agency with jurisdiction, the area under rumor is within the jurisdiction of the fish commission, and the permit stipulates that all blasting in the Rogue must be under the supervision of the state game commission in order that no damage be done to fish life. The jet-boat operator from Gold Beach has a permit for the blasting at Clay hill, but the individual from Grants Pass has no permit for the blasting at Blossom bar. No agencies involved had no knowledge of the blasting at Blossom bar, but now they do, and we can hope that something will be done to prevent similar occurrences in the future.

WHAT TO DO?
The process of getting excited about a rumor and then trying to find the facts actually causing the rumor can be real and devious, but the result in this case would seem to go far beyond the facts involved. We are left with the knowledge that there is only one law in Oregon that pertains to changing a stream channel, and that the only controlling factor is whether or not the change will affect fish life. This gives rise to a natural question: Are there other values that can be destroyed by indiscriminate blasting?

A WILD RIVER
One reason why we might well be concerned over the possible destruction of values that now define the Rogue river is to its uniqueness is the recent announcement by the secretaries of the interior and agriculture that a wild river study team has the Rogue under consideration as one such river. Certainly the Rogue has had a long reputation for the wildness of its waters in the lower river, and we might expect national recognition as a matter of course. But this will not be if we allow anyone who dares to blast the essential nature of the river out of existence.

PROTECTION
At the present time there is no legal protection for the wildness of the Rogue river. Only one law guides state agencies in this regard and they cannot deny a person the right to change the course of the river unless it would interfere with fish life. The wild river study team is considering the Rogue and the Deschutes rivers in Oregon for study that they may be preserved in their free flowing condition because their natural scenic, scientific, esthetic, and recreational values outweigh their value for water development and control purposes now and in the future. If the above values have any meaning to those of us here, we ought to begin looking for the means of protecting those values before they are taken from us by a few individuals who do not have that right.

THE ANGLER'S LOG
Reports from the coast regarding salmon fishing indicate that there is a very little activity at this time. After a few slow days the mouth of the Klamath river is showing signs of life.

Klamath River The steelhead are reported to have been coming in for over three weeks and are as high as Happy Camp. The river is clear and there is no moss as in past years.

Rogue River No steelhead of any significant number have started up as yet. The salmon are holding out several miles offshore. Fishing should turn hot any day for both salmon and steelhead.

THE OPTIMIST'S CORNER
It's been a long wait, but the nights have that feeling of good fishing coming soon. This winter may be that year when a twenty-pounder will be beached.

GOOD LUCK!

Granada Hills, Stratford Gain Series Final
Williamsport, Pa., 470 - Granada Hills, Calif., and Stratford, Conn., enjoyed a day off today before tangling Saturday for the championship of the 17th annual Little League World Series.

The California team romped into the finals with a 14-0 victory over Ismire, Turkey, Thursday. Stratford, white-washed Duluth, Minn., 5-0. Tom Berry pitched one-hit ball in Granada Hills' triumph. The Californians got off to a resounding start when they scored eight runs in the opening inning on five walks, three hits and three error.

Ex-Georgia Athletes Say School's Sport Program Has Been Deteriorating

By CHARLES E. WEBB
Atlanta, Ga. —(AP)—A group of former athletes at the University of Georgia, caught in the wash of a bitter court litigation, claimed Thursday the school's sports program is falling apart.

The group asked for a conference with Georgia president Dr. O. C. Aderhold to help stop the slide.

Rich Knight Has 232 in Jaycee Golf

Midland, Tex. —(AP)—Steady Don Iverson of LaCrosse, Wis., picked up three birdies in a four-hole back nine stretch Thursday to pull even with Panama's Jeff Riley at the three-quarter mark of the International Jaycee Junior golf meet. Both were at 213, one under par.

Iverson, the 17-year-old pre-torney favorite, actually forged to the front at one stage of his head to head battle with the 15-year-old unknown from Balboa in the Canal Zone, but couldn't shake loose from his cocky little adversary.

Oregon's two entries were far back going into the final 18 holes today. Rich Knight of Medford shot a 37-41-78 for a three-round total of 232, while Scott Smith, Lake Oswego, turned in a 40-40-80 for 239.

Dinner Honors Tom DeSylvia

Portland —(AP)—Tom DeSylvia's pupils and other football notables will turn out tonight at a farewell banquet for the former Jefferson High school and Portland State college grid coach.

DeSylvia resigned at PSC earlier this year in a dispute with school officials. He is leaving the state to accept a job as an assistant coach at a San Mateo, Calif., high school.

Two of his greatest players at Jefferson — Heisman Trophy winner Terry Baker and Oregon's Mel Renfro — are scheduled to share the speaker's platform, Willamette University Coach Ted Ogdahl will be master of ceremonies.

Cocky Dick Stuart Outdoes Ted Williams in Home Runs

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer

Cocky Dick Stuart may be all talk and a yard wide, but he can always say he topped Ted Williams.

And don't worry about the big uninhibited Boston first baseman — he'll say it all right because it happens to be true in one respect, anyway.

When the Pirates traded Stuart to the Red Sox last winter, so the story goes, he was asked whether he felt he would hit more homers than Williams did at Fenway Park.

Stuart promptly inquired: "How many did he hit his first year up?"

Informed that Williams had belted 31 homers his first season with the Red Sox, Stuart said "I oughta' hit more than that."

And he has.

Stuart, the American league home run leader, smashed his 33rd of the year with one on Thursday to help the Red Sox wallop the White Sox, 11-2.

Big Stu also leads the league in runs batted in. Those two he accounted for Thursday upped his total to 93 — 13 ahead of his nearest challenger.

Teammates Help
Stuart, however, didn't quite do the job on the White Sox alone. Ed Bressoud drove in six runs with a grand slam homer and two sacrifice flies while rookie Dave Morehead earned his eighth victory with a seven-hitter. Joe Horlen was the loser.

The Yankees retained their 10-game lead even though they dropped a 7-4 decision to the Indians, the Orioles roughed up the Angels, 5-1, and the Athletics beat the Senators, 6-2, in the only other AL games scheduled.

Cleveland rocker Ralph Terry for three homers in handing him his 13th loss against 14 victories. Tito Francona hit his eighth homer and Fred Whitfield and Willie Kirkland each hit his 15th before Terry was chased in the fourth. Jim (Mudcat) Grant gained his 10th victory although he gave up a grand slam to Johnny Blanchard in the sixth.

Boog Powell tagged Dean Chance for his 21st homer with one aboard in the first inning and that proved enough margin for the Orioles' victory over the Angels.

Norm Siebern drove in three runs for Kansas City with a single and his 14th homer as Ed Rakow and Bill Fischer held Washington to four hits Rakow was the winner.

Pads Could Live Up To Expectation

By DAVE ROWE
UPI Sports Writer

San Diego still could live up to expectations and take the Southern division championship of the Pacific Coast league. Odds favor the Padres if they continued the pace they have been setting.

All but three of their remaining games will be played at home. San Diego meets Tacoma, Spokane, Seattle, Oklahoma City and Hawaii at Westgate Park. They end the current campaign at Salt Lake City.

Prior to the start of the season the consensus was that the Padres would win the Southern Division title. They are 4 1/2 games out of first place and moving fast.

Meanwhile, Oklahoma City and Dallas-Ft. Worth knock heads in six games and could very well maneuver each other out of title contention.

The Padres have won 14 of 20 games since Aug. 1. They have advantage of playing all but three of their remaining games at home and the personnel apparently has finally caught hold and has the winning complex.

Thursday night the Padres whipped Cincinnati 6-2 in an exhibition game and tonight begin the series with Tacoma.

In PCL games Thursday night Denver shocked Oklahoma City 4-2, Salt Lake City took a 16 inning marathon from Dallas-Ft. Worth 6-4; Portland swept both ends of a double header from Seattle 5-3 and 2-1, and in Hawaii, the Islanders made it seven straight over Tacoma and number 12 in a row by dumping the Giants 11-4.

Portland's twin victory over Seattle pulled them to within one-half game of fourth place in the Northern division. Bating star for the Beavers was John Wojcik who homered in the second inning and doubled two more runs home in the fourth. Bob Flynn got the win and Hal Kolstad the loss.

Infielder Chet Boak celebrated a night in his honor at Multnomah Stadium by banging a homer in the third inning of the second game. However, the winning run was scored when Bill Meyer singled and scored on Jim Hughes in the fifth. Lew Krause won his 12th game and Bill Spanwick lost his eighth.

Diamond Lake Fair To Good

Portland —(AP)—The weekly fishing report prepared by the state game commission:

Southwest: Diamond lake fair to good; still fishing with cheese is most popular method; summer steelhead angling on North Umpqua fair to good; salmon fishing in Rogue bay fair to good; off-shore angling out of Gold Beach and Brookings good.

Central: Prineville reservoir improving on deep trolling; Paulina fair; Klamath lake producing a few large rainbow on flies; Odell lake good for kokanee and trout.

PLAY BENEFIT GAME
Monticello, N.Y. —(AP)—All-Star squads from the National Basketball Association's Eastern and Western division clubs will participate in the fifth annual Maurice Stokes benefit game tonight.

Acting athletic director Howell T. Hollis also said there was nothing to the "vicious rumor."

Second To Criticize
The "G" Club was the second organization to offer criticism of the university's sports program.

The Georgia Bulldog Club at Columbus, Ga., called for a housecleaning at Georgia from "top to bottom," presumably including Aderhold and head coach Johnny Griffith.

The developments came within 48 hours after a federal court jury awarded former Georgia coach and athletic director Wallace Butts damages of $3,060,000 against the Saturday Evening Post in a libel suit that split ranks on the witness stand among coaching superordinates and college presidents.

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

by Paul Lea

How's this for an oddity? The most famous double play combination in baseball history was Tinker-to-Evers-to-Chance. Baseball fans have been hearing about them for years. . . . Yet, the fact is that this combination actually made very few double plays. . . . When Franklin P. Adams wrote his famous poem about them in 1908, they made only eight double plays all year. . . . The year before they had made only seven. . . . And, in 15 World Series games in which they played in 1906-07-08, 151 combination made no double plays at all.

What's the lowest score ever made for 18 holes of golf? . . . The lowest accepted score on a regulation course is 55. Several different men have shot 55 in golf history. . . . One who did it last year is regarded as a potential future great — Homero Blancas of the University of Houston. . . . Lowest score ever made in an official pro tournament for 18 holes is 59.

How many hits is it possible for a baseball team to get in 9 innings and still not win? . . . Did you know a team can get as many as six hits in an inning and not score. . . . so, it would be possible for a team to get 54 hits in a 9-inning game, and lose 1-0!
