

Southern Oregon Golf Tournament Will Be Held This Week at RVCC

Oregon's biggest in size links tournament, the Southern Oregon Golf championship, will thunder into full swing this week at Rogue Valley Country club with Tuesday and Wednesday qualifying rounds.

Rogue valley area participants trying for championship flights play their 18-hole rounds on Tuesday. Visiting contestants in this tourney of quality golf, fun and sociability make their qualifying tours on Wednesday.

Match play on the 27-hole layout will begin on Thursday. It will continue through Monday, Labor day.

A field of 432 divoters, of whom 99 will come from Portland area courses, will contend in men's, senior men's and women's divisions in the 55th annual event. Five states are represented among contestants - Washington, California, Pennsylvania, Colorado and Oregon.

12 Oregon Towns Entrants will come from 12 communities in Oregon and 26 cities in California. The Crescent City - Eureka area with 22 men and women, will have the largest entry from the Golden State. Twenty-one golfers will come from Seattle and vicinity. Of the total field, 278, or 63.4 per cent, are from outside the Rogue River valley.

Coming the farthest distance for the tourney is David Creason, Harrisburg, Pa. He is the son of Lynn Creason, Tahoe, Calif., Southern Oregon men's champion of 1958. The elder Creason also is entered in the tournament.

Men's division will open with 256 participants. Eighty men will be in the senior tourney and 96 women will contend. Sixty-four will qualify for the men's divisional flight. All other flights will be of 16 players each.

Eleven champions of past years are registered. Defending 1962 champs are Miss Pam Stacey, Medford, in the women's rivalry, and Larry Butler, Ashland, in the senior men's. Tom Shaw, Portland, men's title last year, has turned professional.

Advance Qualifying Advance qualifying by residents of the Rogue valley already is under way. Men and women entered from valley communities who are not aiming for championship flights have through Monday, Aug. 26, to qualify. On Tuesday, Aug. 27, all seniors who wish may play their qualifying rounds along with Rogue area men and women eyeing title flight positions.

The spread of qualifying action alleviates the traffic problem on the links.

The Southern Oregon provided play for golfers of varied skill. Some of the top linksmen in the state, among them players from the home course, will vie for title flight berths.

Among participants will be Eddie Simmons, Medford, Bob Atkinson, Portland, Mrs. Helen Davies, Medford, and Miss June Robinson, Albany, all of whom are past state amateur and Southern Oregon champions.

Men's contenders from out of town include Ed Kovacovich, Eureka; Bill McAllister, Salem, and Mickey Shaw and Gene Maidment, Portland, and ex-champ Dom Provost Jr. Among RVCC men entered are Jim Sheldon, Justin Smith, Allen Holmes, Dr. D. C. Boals, Tim Berg, Dr. Ralph Odell, John Nulch and Ron Mitchell (Chico, Calif.).

Senior participants include Dr. Ralph Swan, Royal Oaks, Vancouver, Wash., and ex-titlists Carl Schmidt, Medford, and Karl Bennett and Marvin Clark, Grants Pass.

Club Manager Jim Dunley reported that the scoreboard will be located in a different spot. It still will be at the east end of the club house but will be nearer the swimming pool. The three trees which have supported the scoreboard were victims of the storm last Columbus day.

The holiday week program will include nightly dining and dancing with a combo band in each of the two dining rooms.

Ann Welts Cops Women's U.S. Golf Crown

Williamstown, Mass. - (UPI) - Anne Quast Welts fought off a valiant last-ditch rally by spunky Peg Conley of Spokane, Wash., Saturday to win the U. S. Golf association women's amateur championship for the third time.

The 25-year-old high school teacher from Mount Vernon, Wash., calmly sank a 15-foot putt on the 35th hole to win, 2 and 1, in the 63th renewal of this golf classic at the Taconic Golf club.

Mrs. Welts' victory dashed 16-year-old Miss Conley's hopes of becoming the youngest person ever to win the event since it started in 1895.

Mrs. Welts, who captured the women's amateur in 1958 and 1961, came back from a two-hole deficit early in the second round. She forged ahead on the 27th hole, went 3 up at the 30th, lost the 32nd but held on to win.

Her victory made Mrs. Welts the seventh player ever to win the women's amateur three times.

Miss Conley was 1 up following the first 18 holes on the par 72 course. She quickly grabbed the first hole of the second round to go 2 up but fired bogeys on the second and eighth holes to drop back even with Mrs. Welts.

Mrs. Welts bogeyed the short ninth but won it, too, when Miss Conley double-bogeyed.

After Mrs. Welts took the 11th with a birdie and the 12th with a bogey, all she had to do was hang on for the victory. Miss Conley closed the gap to two holes by winning the 14th with a birdie two but both players parred the 15th and 16th.

CREASONS TUNE FOR TOURNAY-Lynn Creason, left, of Tahoe, Calif., and son, David, Harrisburg, Pa., who are sharpening their shots for the Southern Oregon Golf tournament, check scorecard in front of pro shop at Rogue Valley Country club. The tourney gets under way Tuesday and Wednesday, qualifying at the Medford links. Lynn Creason won the tourney in 1958 after being runnerup the two previous years.

WILL DEFEND-Laurence Butler, above, of Ashland, director of audio-visual aids at Southern Oregon college, is defending senior men's champion in the Southern Oregon Golf association tourney which is billed this week at Medford's Rogue Valley Country club. Butler won the crown in 1960 as well as last year.

Board to Probe Athletic Policies in Colleges Following Butts' Trial

By CHARLES E. WEBB United Press International Atlanta - (UPI) - The board which oversees the University of Georgia, a school hit by sharp criticism in the Wallace Butts controversy, is expected to look into the athletic policies of all state colleges on Sept. 11, the board chairman said Saturday.

However, James A. Dunlap, chairman of the Georgia university system board of regents, said he had no request "formal or informal" for such a review by alumni groups.

"We should look at the athletic policies and programs at the various institutions," Dunlap said. "I have thought this for a long time."

Two alumni groups (one composed of former athletes at the university at Athens), have called for a shakeup at Georgia following the $3,060,000 federal court award last Tuesday to Butts, former coach and athletic director, in his libel suit against the Saturday Evening Post.

Testimony in the bitter litigation, arising over a report by the Post that Butts rigged last year's Alabama-Georgia game, split ranks among Georgia's coaching staff and former coaches. One assistant coach, John Gregory, claimed he was fired after he testified in behalf of Butts.

Dunlap declined to elaborate on what sort of investigation into policies the 15-man board would make.

Neither would he comment on a demand by Cliff C. Kimsey Jr., a banker from Cornelia, Ga., and head of the Georgia Lettermen's association, that six members of the school's athletic board resign because of what he called animosity they held toward Butts.

"I know Kimsey and he is a good friend," Dunlap said. "I think that's all I want to say."

Kimsey said the handling of the Butts affair, which he said was "thoroughly and completely repudiated by a federal court jury" had caused "untold damage to the prestige of the University of Georgia and to the state of Georgia."

Several of the six members whose resignations he called for testified against Butts in his court suit.

Southpaw Ford Scoops Up 18th Victory; Yanks Down Chisox 3-0

United Press International Southpaw Whitey Ford, closing in on the second 20-victory season of his career just as the New York Yankees are closing in on the pennant, scattered six singles Saturday to give the Yankees a 3-0 triumph over the Chicago White Sox.

It was the 18th victory for Ford, a total he has topped only twice before. He did not walk a single batter and he struck out eight, leaving him only 10 strikeouts short of the Yankee team record of 1,530 held by Red Ruffing.

The Yankees gave Ford two runs in the fifth inning in his duel with Ray Herbert, and Johnny Blanchard closed the scoring by hammering a two-out homer in the eighth inning. It was the 13th homer of the year for Blanchard and the 10th he has hit since July 22.

After being held scoreless for four innings by Herbert, the Yankees scored in the fifth when Phil Linz singled to left, took second as Ford grounded out, and came home on Tony Kubek's double. Kubek then scored on Bobby Richardson's single.

In two other American league afternoon games, the Detroit Tigers edged the Kansas City Athletics, 4-3, in 13 innings and the Cleveland Indians beat the Boston Red Sox, 6-2.

Al Kaline's 13th-inning single off Moe Drabowsky gave the Tigers their win over Kansas City. Kaline hit a two-run homer in the first inning. His game-winning hit scored Bill Bruton, who had beaten out a bunt single and moved to second on Dick McAuliffe's walk.

Cus Triandos also homered for Detroit and Norm Siebern for Kansas City. Don Mossi, who pitched three-hit shut-out relief for 10 innings, was the winner.

Dick Donovan of the Indians gave up a pair of homers to Ed Brossoud of the Red Sox in pitching a five-hit victory. The Indians scored all their runs in the seventh, Jerry Kindall's two-run homer starting the rally.

In a pair of night games, the Minnesota Twins edged the Baltimore Orioles, 1-0, and the Los Angeles clubbed the Washington Senators, 10-2.

Rookie slugger Jimmy Hall clouted an eighth inning home run off his Baltimore namesake, Dick Hall, to move the Twins into a second place deadlock with the White Sox. Hall's homer, his 24th, provided Lee Stange with his seventh victory of the year in 11 decisions and dropped the Orioles into fourth place by one percentage point.

Angel hurler Fred Newman gained his first major league triumph although he needed relief from Julio Navarro in the sixth inning. Felix Torres, Leon Wagner and Jim Fregosi led Los Angeles' 16-hit attack with three safeties each to rattle three Senator hurlers including starter Don Rudolph.

Bonneville Drivers Shatter Six Speed Records at Event

Bonneville Salt Flats, Utah - (UPI) - The 15th annual Bonneville National speed trials ended here Saturday afternoon with six new records set as grease monkeys, drivers, car owners and spectators packed up their gear and returned home.

The auto and motorcycle jockeys called it quits for another year after a hard and hot day on the salt. A total of 32 new records in the 74 classes available were set during the trials.

A record number of 169 cars were participating for the past week in the trials. A total of 1,415 runs were made by the cars and the 18 motorcycles attempting new records.

In the fastest time clocked Saturday, Nolan White of San Diego, Calif., hot-rodded his Class C sports racer to a speed of 210.47 miles per hour - knocking the old record of 188.162 off the books.

The nationals ended with award ceremonies under a blazing sun Saturday afternoon. An estimated 2,000 drivers, mechanics and track officials attended the ceremonies.

During the week-long meet, Butch Summers of Ontario, Calif., rocketed his Class C streamliner to a speed of 316.59 miles per hour for a new record in that division and to the fastest time clocked by any car during this year's running.

The fastest stock-car time set by a driver was achieved by "Grandpappy" Norman Thatcher, a 66-year-old racing bug from Van Nuys, Calif.

Thatcher, a grandfather believed to be the oldest professional racing car driver in the United States, managed to hit the top, two-way speed of 169.62.

The fastest time during the running in the supercharged division was clocked by the Pisano Brothers supercharged B racer, Jim Short of Anglingto, Tex., boosted his racer to a speed of 197.63 miles per hour, bettering the old record by about 7 mph.

Twelve marks fell during Friday's runs. The best time was turned in by Ernie Immerso of Phoenix, Ariz. He took his Class A streamliner across the salt at a speed of $229.25 mph. However, the four-engined vehicle shook so badly crossing the salt that Immerso drove at times with his knees because his hands were so blistered.

There were no serious injuries during the week of time trials, even though one driver flipped and rolled while traveling 225 mph.

Records set Saturday were: Nolan White, San Diego, Calif., C sports racer, 210.74 mph, old record 188.162 mph.

Noel Black, Sacramento, Calif., a gas roadster, 191.561, old record 188.580.

Pete Dean, San Diego, E gas if., E grand touring, 127.795, old record, 121.252 mph.

Pet Dean, San Diego, E gas roadster, 158.786, old record 92.317.

Norman Thatcher, Van Nuys, Calif., B production, 172.610, old record 167.343 mph.
