

Most Area Farmers Boost Their Gross Receipts in 1962

For most Jackson county farmers, 1962 proved to be a more successful year than the previous one.

In contrast to farmers in some sections of the country, the majority in the local area were able to boost their gross receipts above the former level, a survey shows.

The chief factor in this increase was a record yield per acre. Farmers were able to produce more than ever before, despite the cutback in the amount of land under cultivation.

The results were achieved by pouring on more fertilizer, by improved tillage practices and by planting better seeds.

Changes in Income
The farm statistics, from all parts of the United States, were compiled by the Standard Rate and Data Service. They reveal the changes in farm income on a county-by-county basis.

In Jackson county, according to the report, gross farm income in the year amounted to $14,446,000, compared to the prior year's $14,067,000.

The bulk of it represents money received from the sale of farm products. Other items making up the total include government payments and "income in kind," which is the value of products grown and consumed on the farm.

Of the cash returns locally from the sale of farm commodities, some 49 per cent of it came from crop marketings and the other 51 per cent from livestock, poultry and dairy products. The breakdown is based on Department of Agriculture figures.

Total Farm Income
The total farm income in Jackson county, in terms of the number of people living on the land, came to $2,725 per capita.

This compares with $2,654 per capita the previous year. The outlook is getting brighter for the nation's farmers, the official figures indicate. They point to an average increase in net income of 4 per cent in the past year. The gain is attributed, in part, to a decline in the number of farms and, in part, to larger government payments.

This year, the curve is again moving upward. According to preliminary reports, a bumper yield may be expected as the nation's farmers, more highly mechanized than ever, are able to operate more efficiently.

Association Sets Nevada Event

According to William Fullan, Crescent City, Calif., president, items on the agenda will be billboard advertising, wayside memberships and a review of the group's recently published brochure featuring the motto "America's best from East to West."

While the trip to Salem was uneventful, it was not without worries for the workmen involved. A special low-bed trailer was used, and the huge statue made its way under freeway overpasses with little more than an inch to spare.

About 50 tourists and state employees were on hand to watch the statue being replaced.

Job done, and at 3:30 p.m. the statue was again hoisted atop the pedestal and quickly bolted in place.

But the job didn't exactly go according to schedule.

Driver License Code in California Is Changed

New driver license regulations for non-resident minors in California will become effective Sept. 20, according to Lou Cranston of Goldy-Cranston - Henselman Insurance company. This should be of particular importance to students going to California schools, he pointed out.

The California motor vehicle code has been amended to provide that any non-resident over 16 years old but under 21, who is a resident of another state which requires the licensing of drivers, may continue to operate a motor vehicle in California after 10 days from the entry into the state, provided he has a valid driver's license from his home state in his possession, and he has been issued by the California Motor Vehicle department a certification of compliance, which also is in his immediate possession.

Trucks Involved in Two Area Accidents

One logging truck and trailer combination was extensively damaged and a truck demolished, but the drivers escaped serious injury in two accidents yesterday, state police reported.

A truck and trailer loaded with 10 logs driven by Floyd Wesley Crownover, 22, of Eagle Point, was making a right turn from Grater Lake highway onto Antelope rd. yesterday when the trailer tipped over on its left side spilling the logs. This caused the truck to tip. The driver was not hurt, state police said.

Thomas Jason Ward, 47, Ashland, suffered bruises when he jumped from his loaded truck and trailer as it careened down the Dead Indian rd. yesterday after the air line broke.

The truck hit a bank and was demolished, state police said.

Circuit Rider Back Atop Park Pedestal After Storm Repair

Salem—(UPI)—The circuit rider statue was back atop its pedestal in the Capitol Park today.

But the job didn't exactly go according to schedule.

Leading the discussion will be Dr. Leon P. Minear, state superintendent of public instruction, and Dr. Willard Bear, assistant superintendent in charge of the division of instruction.

His condition was reported as satisfactory.

Osterhout told the Washington State Patrol he had the two pins in his mouth to mend his coat when the Greyhound bus made a sudden stop six miles west of Wallace, Idaho, about 3:30 a.m.

Idaho State Police rushed him to the Idaho-Washington border and Washington trooper Jack Brazington took him from there to the hospital.
