

Former Commissioner To Be League Speaker

Mrs. A. V. (Emily) Logan, Eugene, former state industrial accident commissioner, and for two terms president of the Oregon League of Women Voters, will be guest speaker for a meeting to be held at the Public Library, of Medford and Jackson County, Monday, September 9, beginning at 8 o'clock. The public is invited to attend and a question and answer period will follow the talk.

Mrs. Ira McDonald, vice president of the league, is handling arrangements for the meeting. She is being assisted by Mrs. George A. Watson, Mrs. Lewis Ulrich, Mrs. W. G. Werner and other members of the organization.

Mrs. Logan, appointed first on December 7, 1959, to fill an unexpired term on the State Industrial Accident commission, was reappointed to a full four year term in January 1961 by Governor Mark Hatfield. Later that year Mrs. Logan is said to have been warmly commended by letter from the governor, on her services and performances on the commission.

Early this year Mrs. Logan suddenly became a controversial storm center when, during the absence of the governor from the state, Mrs. Logan was informed by one of the chief executive's official family that the governor wished her to resign. This she firmly refused to do. She maintained this stand even after the governor returned and repeated this demand personally.

Sidney B. Lewis, one of the Republican members of the commission, had also been asked to resign, leaving only William A. Callaghan, representing Labor on the commission, still in Governor Hatfield's favor.

After an impasse of several weeks, Mrs. Logan agreed to resign with the provision that a full hearing on her services and the present status of the State Industrial Accident commission agency be held in Salem. This was arranged and Mrs. Logan stepped down.

The wife of a professor of chemistry at the Oregon State university, Mrs. Logan has followed a career as teacher, social worker and civic leader. Mother of two married daughters and two grandchildren, she has for years actively concerned herself with the social and humanitarian problems of men and women in the industrial field. She was recently selected as one of the guest speakers at President Kennedy's Status of Women conference for Oregon, held at Salem and attended by 300 women civic leaders and state officials.

Several years ago Mrs. Logan spent two years in Thailand, acting as an unofficial goodwill ambassador and social worker. She accompanied her husband to that country under a contract exchange program.

Want Student To Fail? Follow These Resolutions

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK
United Press International
Homefront, U.S.A. — (UPI) — Resolutions for parents determined to help the offspring fail in academic circles during the new school term:

— Indicate early and often that you lack faith in the school system, its teachers, the new math, the cafeteria refrigerator, the heating plant, the lighting, the school bus driver and all else in local academic circles.

— Remind them it's the bunk to believe education pays. Pepper the barb with the case history of someone you heard of who succeeded in sanitation, plumbing or ditch-digging — with just a sixth grade education. After all, your great-grandfather told your grandfather it was "gospel."

— Criticize every new approach in things educational. When you call the teacher to remind her how good the old teaching methods were — circa your school days — do it in front of the children.

— Never get suspicious when your genius comes home sans books week after week. Believe your bright one when he reports only dumb pupils get homework.

— Turn up the television, hi-fi and other noise-makers when junior asks for quiet while he practices his assigned oration about the war in insects.

— Skip all parent-teacher meetings, evil that interfere with your bridge club.

— When you get a note from the teacher, read it and get indignant. The tutor obviously doesn't dig your child's modus operandi.

— Rush to school and take your poor, persecuted child's part the instant he complains that teacher's picking on him.

— Tell the child you think it's cute the way he wears boatnik clothes to class. After all, studies showing that sloppy dress and sloppy behavior go together are a lotta booney.

— Smile approvingly when child tells you the chemistry teacher never notices when he listens to his transistor radio — during class. A child that clever's bound to get ahead where it doesn't count.

— Grab every chance to keep your student out of school when his going to class involuntarily — say when you have a cold and want meals in bed or if you need someone to babysit when you want to go downtown to take advantage of a sale.

— Don't expect your darling to account for time spent aimlessly away from home when not in school. Ditto for an accounting of his friends.

— When you get the report card full of failing grades and junior gets gloomy, cheer him up. Tell him it's obvious the teacher's a dunce. Help him shop for a new school — one where he'll get loving treatment instead of mistreatment. You help him escape reality that way.

P.S. — Following these resolutions guarantees you'll succeed at helping your youngsters fail in school — and probably in life.

Pocahontas Plan Session Tonight

Weatoka council, Degree of Pocahontas, will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at Redman hall on Apple street. The refreshment committee will be Mrs. Roy Thompson and Mrs. Noel Erskine. On the social committee for the month are Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Tompson and Mrs. Ralph White.

At the last meeting delegates who attended the great Council session of California in Long Beach August 19-22 gave their reports. Delegates were Mrs. Jack Thomas and Mrs. Norma Pittman, elected by the council, and Mrs. Charley Wicker and Mrs. Charles Stelle, who were approved as delegates at the great council when others elected could not attend.

Mrs. O. V. Hayes was appointed deputy Pocahontas for the coming year.

Members of the Improved Order of Redman attending were Roland Wicker, who was elected senior Sagamore of California; Jack Thomas, appointed great third warrior, and Charles Stelle, Mr. Thomas and Mr. Stelle were the delegates.

Hornbrook Residents Have Guests

Hornbrook — The last long holiday of the summer season saw a number of visitors enjoying their vacation in this area. Making their headquarters in Ashland and visiting friends there as well as in Hornbrook, were Mr and Mrs. Chalmers (Bill) Williams of Oakland, Calif. Mrs. Williams was the former Harriet Hobson, and Mr. Williams was a Southern Pacific operator here many years ago.

Former residents, Mr. and Mrs. James Dickson and children Irene, Karen and Billy, now of Marysville, Calif., spent the week end as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Skeehan and family.

Li Col and Mrs. James M. Bailey and their five children visited his aunt, Mrs. Mary Kurt, and his cousins, Carl Johnson and Mrs. W. A. Rutledge, and the Rutledge family. The Baileys were en route from Mahimstrom Air Force base near Great Falls, Mont., to his new assignment at Vandenberg Air Force base near Lompoc, Calif.

Visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Farmer and Steve, Dale, Gene and Mickey Allen were Mrs. Farmer's father, Theo Wenaus of Glendale, Calif., and her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Surber and three children of Ashland.

Ustin Noodle

Noodles cook along with other ingredients in noodle beef skillet. Melt 3 tablespoons of butter or margarine in a large, heavy skillet. Add 1 cup each of thinly sliced onions and chopped celery. Saute 5 minutes. Add 1 pound of ground beef. Stir occasionally, until meat is brown.

Add 2 cups of diced raw carrots, 1 (11 pound 13 ounce) can of tomatoes, 1 cup of water, 1 tablespoon each of salt and Worcestershire sauce, ½ teaspoon of chili powder and 2 ounces (about 4 cups) of uncooked egg noodles. Mix well. Cover. Cook over low heat 40 minutes, stirring occasionally, until noodles are tender. Serves 4 to 6.

Attendance at Gallery Shows Growing Interest

An indication of growing interest in the visual arts by the people of southern Oregon is attested to by attendance figures at the Rogue Gallery for the first part of this year and released by the board of Rogue Valley Art association.

Visitors dwelling in Jackson county totaled 1,972. Incomplete figures covering attendance during the period starting January 5 of this year through August, and excluding the month of July when the gallery was closed for remodeling, show a minimum of at least 2,175 persons who have come to view and enjoy the varied Rogue Gallery exhibits.

Of especial interest is the discovery that of these 2,175 viewers, 119 have been visitors from out of the state, and that six of the 119 were from foreign countries — two from Canada, two from Italy, one from Athens, Greece, and one from Mexico. Many States

States represented in the USA outside of Oregon numbered 19. Of these, California had the highest visitor ratio with 72 visitors, Washington was second with 11 visitors, Alaska, Arizona, Iowa, Minnesota and Tennessee had two each, and Colorado, Connecticut, Florida, Hawaii, Idaho, Indiana, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Utah were represented by one each. Viewers from all parts of Oregon, not including Jackson county, numbered 84 persons.

Showing at Rogue Gallery during August were sculptures and drawings by Ruby Raiston, local sculptress, plus a small and select exhibition of pottery by Robert Sperry, a young ceramist who heads the University of "Good Eating From Beef" shows how to take a choice grade bladehuck roast, that often retails between 45 and 60 cents a pound, and cut it so you get both steaks and stew meat. A copy of the bulletin may be obtained from any county extension office or from the OSU Bulletin Clerk.

Families considering a quarter or side of beef for the freezer are given some pointers to help decide if they're really making a good buy. For those who buy carcass beef, suggestions are given for possible cuts to use as a guide in planning with the meat cutter.

Miss Hutchinson states that it is not necessary to be eligible for AAUW membership to join one or more of the interest groups.

Mrs. Anderson serves as publicity chairman for organization.

See? No springs.

Volkswagens have torsion bars instead of springs. They run horizontally between the wheels. This is how they work.

Take a 3-foot steel ruler. Hold one end in each hand and twist. Let one end go. It bounces right back to shape, without going being, being, being.

The same thing happens when you drive a VW over a bump. You sit and wait for the next bounce, only it never comes.

The Volkswagen has separate torsion bars on all 4 wheels. So each wheel feels its own separate way over the road (and spends more time in touch with the road).

You get a firm, solid ride, with exceptionally accurate control. Torsion bars alone aren't unique. Nor is 4-wheel independent suspension. But the combination of both systems is extremely rare.

You can count all the sedans that have it on one finger.
